Lotus Festival Comes Of Age

In just one short year, the annual Lotus Festival which is sponsored by the Cape Henry Woman's Club has come of age as a well-recognized attraction for Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County.

The second annual Lotus Festival just completed proved to be one of the brightest features of Virginia Beach's Golden Jubilee celebration it is said by many, who attended the Lotus Ball held at the Beach Surf Club as the opening event on the to us program that the Ball was the finest event of its kind ever held here.

The remarkable aspect of the Lotus Festival is its rapid growth during a single year.

Last year was the initial attempt by the ladies of the Cape Henry Club to focus attention on the American Lotus which grows profusely near Sandbridge and is said to be the last known garden of its type in the United States.

The Lotus Festival has truly come of age in a very short time and Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County can feel secure in this projects future because it is a proven attraction among our growing list of annual events. It attracts the visitors as well as the homefolks and its success is directly attributable to the energetic efforts of the members of the Cape Henry Woman's Club.

Paper Farm Relief

While the front pages have been pretty well filled with the soil bank discussion and the price support hassel, a new and highly practical form of farm aid—that costs the taxpayer nothing—has been quietly sweeping America.

Without fanfare or arm-waving in Washington, the nation's free-farmers have been busily turning out pulp-wood to supply those 50-pound multiwall paper feed sacks that are making life simpler and stock and poultry raising more efficient and profitable for all the other farmers.

You might wonder—as we did—what difference it makes whether feed comes in a paper bag, a barrel, or a discarded piano box. But it seems that both the 50 pound size and the paper are imported in these days of farm-labor shortage and rising machinery costs. These bags are not only easier to handle, stack better and store better, but make record-keeping easier and more accurate—in a day when it's vital to know the cost of producing a pound of pork chops or a pound (not a dozen) of eggs.

Protection of the ingredients of today's quality feeds—medicated feeds for preventing or treating disease, new growth stimulants, and de-wormer feeds for parasite control—has become highly important.

These paper bags not only lighten one of the heaviest of farm chores, but, the experts tell us, make the animals happier and thus, fat, easy and succulent. We are assured that if we were a cow or a porker or a chicken, we would appreciate the freshness and full flavor of vittles served this way, just as the farmer appreciates the fact that the farmer empties out of the bags completely and without waste.

Farm wives, who are still the chicken-raisers in some families, like the idea of feed bags they can handle. And one near housekeeper observed: "Sometimes I pick feed when I'm in town and when it's in paper, there is no dust left in the car."

Of course, if you're not a farmer maybe you don't care whether the animals get fed out of paper bags a pipeline or get turned out in the fields to forage for themselves. But you should. That is, if you eat—and have a food budget you're trying to live with—you certainly should.

No Subsidies Wanted

America is engaging this fall in what will be for us the most expensive Olympic Games in the history of this worldwide sport classic. To the US Olympic Committee, faced with the responsibility for fielding a team of more than 300 athletes, two culprits—time and distance—are presenting a king-size headache. It was expensive enough sending the American contestants to the winter games in Europe, but if you've ever shopped for a ticket to Australia, you know the transportation cost is nothing less than monumental. And because Melbourne's summer is our winter, there is the further considerable expense of a six-week training period here at home before setting forth. The total tab is a million-and-a-half—not groschen or leeks or kopeks or trading stamps, but dollars!

Where will this money come from? The long-suffering patriots who serve the Olympic effort without compensation believe the support of the team should be as American, as individual and as voluntary as the athletes' efforts to bring victories home with them. The fact that Russia and other nations subsidize their contestants and pay all cost from the national treasuries has apparently suggested to some of our Congressmen that we should open the Government till a crack and at least underwrite these expenses.... But the Olympic committeemen have steadfastly refused to ask for Government money, or to express approval of bills introduced in Congress to this end. They continue to believe the team should operate independently and on voluntary contributions.

Private individuals, motivated by a love amateur sports an appreciation of their inspiration value to our youth and a commendable patriotism, have traditionally footed the Olympic bills. But this year American industry has entered the picture in a big way. The Gillette Safety Razor Company, for instance, is taxing itself a dime on each razor sold during July and August and contributing the "tax" to the Olympic Committee. The proceeds may exceed $100,000. The company hopes this plan will stimulate others to contribute as well as give its own customers a sense of participation.

Gillette, long identified with sports through its sponsorship on the air of boxing matches, World Series game, the Rose Bowl and Kentucky Derby classics, is only one of several industrial contributors. But the bulk of the US funds must still come from individuals. It is therefore pretty important for any citizen who regards the Olympic Games as beneficial to American youth and productive of international good will to know that he can send his dime or dollar directly to the US Olympic Committee at the Hotel Biltmore, New York, New York.

GOING TO BE A GOOD SCRAP

New School For Expansion Of Consciousness At Va. Beach

Vacationers at Virginia Beach in August might consider a "new" morning session of the New School for the Expansion of Consciousness, to be conducted by the Association for Research and Enlightenment.

Interesting subjects concerning the renewal of man's physical, mental and spiritual being will be offered, tying in with the wholesome recreation offered in the Virginia Beach sand and surf. The classes will be taught by outstanding instructors who are students of philosophy, metaphysics, parapsychology and the physical sciences. They will be based on the readings of Edgar Cayce, and will be presented with the theme "Mind is the builder."

Hugh Lynn Cayce, general manager, has stated that the school "will endeavor to keep foremost in the thoughts and minds of everyone associated with it the purpose to make manifest his love for God and man." The discussion leaders and all of those invited to assist in the direction of the classes are individuals who have endeavored to make a practical application of spiritual laws as they have understood them.

During the school sessions, which will be held from August 5 through August 18, and from August 19 through September 1, there will be a work camp project conducted by Wym Price, an active member of the Association. Those engaged in the work will also be able to take courses. There is need for much such volunteer work on the newly purchased headquarters building, which is located at 67th and Atlantic Ave.

Classes will be held from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the A.R.E. headquarters. They will include: "The Life and Times of Jesus" taught by Neil Clairmonte, of New York. This class is a study of the Edgar Cayce readings dealing with this period, with special emphasis on the Essenes.

"Reincarnation," a study of the Edgar Cayce readings dealing with the laws of rebirth and karma, taught by Jessica Madigan, of Los Angeles.

"Techniques of Meditation" taught by Helen Wenzel, of New York, and Hannah Miller, of Norfolk, and dealing with music, breathing, chants, affirmation, etc., as described in the Edgar Cayce records as aids to meditation.

"The Coming of Man" taught by Eula Allen, of Princess Anne County, who will discuss material in the readings dealing with an interpretation of the book of Genesis as it describes the advent of the soul into the earth and the development of its physical, mental and spiritual life in man, toward God consciousness.

"A Philosophy of Health," from Edgar Cayce data to help understand the relationship between the body, mind and soul of man; and "Divine Guidance" a course concerning various ways in which divine guidance may come to an individual; both of these to be taught by Elise Sechrist, of Los Angeles.

"The Laws of Abundance" taught by Marguerite Briggs, of Norfolk will be a study of the spiritual laws of supply which operate through our attitudes, thinking and emotions about work, money and material things.

"A Study of the Book of Revelation," taught by Esther Wynne, who will teach the interpretation of the Revelation verse by verse as given in Edgar Cayce readings given for that purpose. The discussions will cover: the development of the mental and spiritual bodies and their attributes; the application of the teachings in the life of the individual; the universal language of symbols.

"Your Dreams and How to Use Them," a study of the Edgar Cayce readings combined with a series of experiments based on the work of Floyd Barnes, the leader, with groups from which more than 1,300 dreams have been recorded. One evening class will be conducted, scheduled for Mondays, Wednesday and Friday from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. It will be "The Development of Psychic Power" taught by Robert L. Cox, of Norfolk, an Hugh Lynn Cayce. This course will be a study of the material in the Edgar Cayce readings dealing with the development of psychic power, using as a parallel, ideas from the psychological system presented by Gurdjieff and Ouspensky.

Study in self-control, practice of techniques of prayer and meditation—consideration of the proposition that centers of the physical body are involved in emotions, thought processes, attitudes, and spiritual perception, will be presented.

A work camp project will be conducted by Wym Price, during the two periods, to help refurbish the headquarters building.

The school will be open to the public at nominal charges. For further information, telephone Virginia Beach 954.

DALE CARNEGIE

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND LIVE"

Mrs. Martha B. Fowle, 2013 of her husband who had been threatened several times. Perhaps one of the ex-prisoners he had sent to jail would seek revenge. When her husband was born, she still feared an enemy attack when they went home. The boat might sink—and she—couldn't swim. Or she could see them rolling later down the side of a mountain while driving across country. Her husband tried to laugh her out of her fears but with no success. Finally she heard of living in Day-Tight Compartments, living one day at a time and letting the present day be that day. She decided she was going to make that a happier day for all she contacted. That resolve, she says, revolutionized her life.

Rail oddities

This month the State of Iowa and the railroads commemorate the 75th anniversary of a legendary deed of heroism performed by a girl 15—Kate Shelley, whose father had been a section foreman.

Torrential rains for a week had brought to flood stage all the streams in her neighborhood. Then a cloudburst on the night of July 6, 1881. The railroad had sent out a pilot engine to test the track. Through a flash of lightning, Kate saw the locomotive drop through a bridge into the churning waters of Money Creek.

With a Chicago-bound passenger train due in an hour, this young girl went out into the darkness and the storm. She made her perilous way on hands and knees across the long Des Moines River bridge and finally, bleeding and exhausted, to the first railroad station just in time to warn of the danger and avert disaster.

CARE OF THE OLD DOG

By Bob Bartos
(Manager, Friskies Research Kennels)

Just like man, the life span of a dog is longer today than it was 40 years ago. And like any human, a dog requires special care during the autumn days of life.

Because the older dog is less active, his diet should contain less calorie content. Don't let him get fat. He will live longer and more comfortably if he is on the "sleazier" side. Make certain he receives sufficient vitamins, minerals and proteins, and see that he drinks plenty of water.

Exercise is important, but it should be moderate. His days of running and jumping may be past, but your pet will enjoy leisurely walks. He'll spend more time sleeping than he once did. Make sure that he is out of drafts and has a comfortable place to sleep.

The elderly dog feels heat and cold more than the younger one. Be careful not to leave him too long in the hot sun or in closed cars in the summer. In the winter, a sweater or coat will add to his comfort. If he gets wet, dry him off to avoid chilling.

The aging dog becomes set in his ways. He may favor a certain chair, and he'll want the same food, fed from the same dish at the same time every day. Changes upset him.

Have the veterinarian check him periodically, with particular attention to weight, teeth, heart, and lungs.

Feeding Tip: Better underfeed than overfeed the older dog. He needs a diet which is 20 to 25 percent protein. He can get it by proper feeding of a high-quality, complete dog food.

Sportsmen spent $46,047,781 for hunting licenses and permits during 1955, reports the 1956 Yearbook of The American Peoples Encyclopedia. Michigan led the list, followed by New York and Pennsylvania.

Notes From Your County Agent

BY E. R. "DICK" COCKRELL, JR.

(This is the way prospects for Virginia Farm prices looked to the Virginia Department of Agriculture on Friday, July 27, 1956. The Department offers it to farmers with the warning that no one can predict prices and be right all the time.)

Wheat and steers are on the plus side of the market outlook this week, with good prospects for strengthened prices in both. Hogs and eggs prices will surely hold their own, and have a chance for small improvements. Broilers aren't due for any great change. Barley should start up a little about now, and if it keeps on raining heavily, tomato prices may hold up better than usual provided quality isn't damaged too much.

BROILERS
Broilers are almost sure to feel the impact of big supply this week. Very good demand is the saving factor since we have a total supply of 18% more broilers than last year this time, and the supply line is due to continue up until well into August. Then when it hits a low in October, we're still going to have about 10-15% more than last year.

Prices dropped during last week a couple of cents in general, with the Valley going to 20-21c; Richmond, 21c; Delmarva, 21-21½c; and North Carolina 20c. Georgia was on the bottom with 18½c to 19c.

In September, Virginia's supply will be below last year's level, but we won't feel that much because of larger supplies everywhere else.

EGGS
Don't look for much, if any, increase in your egg prices this week, even though it's time for the pick-up season. Cool weather in some production areas has helped production a little.

Prices held about steady during the past week, 43c at Roanoke, 46c at Richmond; an ad couple of cents strength at Harrisonburg, 45c-46c.

Storage figures are 17% below last year, 23% below the 5 year average, but with leveling-out annual production, storage is becoming less a factor.

In a longer range outlook, the prospect of more eggs in the Fall just about balances with the prospect of little higher consumption.

HOGS
Receipts are declining slowly but gradually, but were still 12% above last year this time. That, plus a whole lot of hot weather and other meat competition will probably put the brakes on any big price increase. Western markets were about steady last week at $18.25 to $18.75, and Virginia markets were 10c lower at $16.85 and Richmond yards steady at $17 to $17.25.

Looking into fall, we'll probably be at least 10% under last year's record supply but there'll still be a lot of hogs. Besides that, the cost of the other meats going to be plentiful.

Iowa reports 12% less June farrowings than a year ago; 14% less in July and August.

Guernsey Cows Make Record

Bayville Farms, Inc., Norfolk, Virginia, is the owner of four registered Guernsey cattle that have recently completed official production records in the Advanced Registry division of the American Guernsey Cattle Club.

Arden Colfax Rose Mary, a seven year-old, produced 16,801 pounds of milk and 748 pounds of fat in 365 days. She was milked three times daily. This production represents approximately 7900 quarts of high-quality milk. Bayville Margaret Honesty, a senior two year-old, produced 11,228 pounds of milk and 717 pounds of fat in 365 days. She was milked three times daily. This production represents approximately 5300 quarts of high-quality milk. She met milking requirements.

Bayville Ray Anthea, a five year-old, produced 15,329 pounds of milk and 798 pounds of fat in 365 days. She was milked three times daily. This production represents approximately 6700 quarts of high-quality milk. These official production records were supervised by Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

Utah's Shipu arch, a natural bridge as long as a city block, takes its name from a Hopi Indian phrase meaning "Entrance to the Underworld."

TURKEYS

We're still in the low slaughter period for turkeys, although some processors are handling about twice as many as last year this time. But you can look for that slaughter line to shoot up fast starting about the middle of August into November.

We're going to have - in the nation - about 26% more heavy than last year, 23% fewer lightweights.

Virginia produces about half the U. S. lightweights. Right now, it looks like about a tenth of the U. S. supply is lights.

LAMBS

Lamb prices will probably hold fairly steady this week. In Virginia, they picked up a little last week, but it was probably a fluctuation. Virginia auctions were 70% higher at $24 to $26 for prime; $22-23 for choice, and $18 to $20 for good grade lambs. Chicago ran $20 to $23.50 for three grades.

National receipts dropped about 10% last week, but the general trend is up until late Fall. Most of Southwest Virginia lambs have gone to market, but there are still a good many in Northern Virginia.

Prospect now is for price decline - usually pretty sharp - to be more gradual than usual.

SOYBEANS:
Getting soybean storage ready may be a good idea. Prospects for a bumper crop of beans this year and there's a six million bushel carryover expected. The large supply could tend to depress prices right at harvest time, and storage may come in handy.

BARLEY:
Barley hasn't risen any yet, but the price might start to climb about any time now. If you have some in good storage, holding for this expected price rise is advisable.

The Virginia price was mostly $1 to $1.05, except Richmond at 90c.

CATTLE

Steer prices have strengthened recently, and more strength is promised.

Chicago prices increased $3 a hundred last week, a new high since mid-May 1955. Virginia prices were up, too, with an overall average of $18.60, 65c more than last week, but 50c lower than last year this time, and they'll probably be at least catch up with the Western price increase. Choice steers were $20.50; Good, $17.50 to 21.

WHEAT

If you have wheat in farm storage and it's insect-free and in good condition, it should pay to keep it for awhile. The cash market has picked up and should improve right along into fall.

Prices last week were Richmond, $2.03; Augusta County, Rapidan, Luray and Rockingham, $2.00, and Pulaski, $1.96. Roanoke was $1.90. It looks now like the new crop will use about equal demand, and while there's the largest carryover stock on record, most of it is in government keeping.

So it looks like leaving it in storage is a good deal for a while, provided you're absolutely sure it's in good keeping condition and free from insect or rodent damage. If there are any doubts, sell it.

VEGETABLES:

Rain will be the big factor in tomato prices. If heavy rains continue enough to shorten the supply, the usual seasonal price decline in August may be slowed down some.

Unless that happens, look for medium fair prices. There won't be any shortage of tomatoes until around Labor Day, and New Jersey and Pennsylvania picking has already begun.

Last week in the Northern Neck, pinkies were bringing 10c a pound to the farmer; canner tomatoes 35c to 50c for a 5/8 bushel basket. On the Eastern Shore, the price was 50c to 75c for 5/8 bushel. And in Richmond, fresh tomatoes were bringing $3.50 to $5 a bushel; Roanoke $6 to $7.

Altogether the vegetable picture this year has been the best in a good many years, with better prices, better yields on some varieties.

Girl Scouts Complete Camp

Girl Scout Day Camp Linkhorn successfully completed its first camping period. In keeping with local interest in early history the leaders decided on "Early Virginia" for the over all camp theme. Camp was made up of three units, set up according to the campers' ages. Each unit had two qualified Girl Scout trained leaders and two program aids, and side being a senior girl scout.

The first unit was called "The Trailblazers" with leader "Big Bear" (Mrs. E. A. Barco) and "Pussmore" (Mrs. C. H. Shand) these were the youngest campers. The second unit was called the "Pawhatan Clan" with an Indian theme. The leaders had Indian names "Omme-pigeon" (Mrs. S. S. Sants) and "Siawasha-swallow" (Mrs. D. Lark) each of the girls also had special Indian names.

The older unit chose early ship and called their camp site "Snug Harbor" with leader Capt. Curry (Mrs. E. T. Buchanan) and Capt. Vi (Mrs. D. J. Rahrer).

With just eight days in a camp period, Linkhorn was a mighty busy place with both unit and complete camp activities. We tried to stress the beauties of nature and the wonders of the out-of-doors. We hope that each camper felt the true camping spirit and came home with happy smiling faces at the end of each day.

Camp Linkhorn girls love to sing and they learned many new songs as well as participated in the writing of three original unit songs.

Whenever possible crafts were worked in with the nature walks and those things that could be utilized became craft material. There were some of the things the girls made: pine needle whisk brooms, match boxes, decorated with green leaves, bark name plates, leaf prints made by arranging leaves attractively on blue print paper and exposing them to the sun. In order to keep the crafts interesting the campers worked with clay also making bowls, paper weights and Indian beads.

We had a wonderful visitors day with the children making interesting invitations to invite the guests. The hundred and forty guests were entertained in each unit and at a big camp sing.

Permanent records of unit activities were kept in the form of log books which the campers made themselves. Not only the activities but also the campers jobs were shown in picture form.

Of course no camp could operate without a nurse of us we say at Linkhorn "Medicine Man" (Mrs. A. Robinson) who kept all our campers in good health for us. Many thanks "Medicine Man" for a job well done.

Now for the "Big House" or administration building where the director and assistant director saw to the details of the running of the camp. Mrs. G. Dill "The Governor" the director and "Pussmore" (Mrs. L. Payne) assistant director. Two both the thanks of all of us for seeing to the details of camp life.

The campers were delighted with the many special surprises arranged for them during the camp period, complete camp cook out, ice cream party and watermelon party added just the right finishing touch to the camp period.

Mrs. Paul Dolgins, "Money Maker" chairman for Camp Linkhorn says "To the parents of the girls. It was a pleasure to have your daughter at camp with us this summer. We hope she learned many good things that will remain with her the rest of her life! None of these things would have been possible, you know, if it had not been for the wonderful cooperative and hard working staff at Linkhorn. My own sincere and personal thanks to each and everyone of you for a job well done. I know the staff joins me in adding a final big thanks to the program aides without whom camp life would not have been much fun."

Church Building To Be Dedicated

At the recent meeting of the official board of Scott Memorial Methodist Church in Oceana, Va., the date of September 16th, 1956 was set as the day for completion of payment of the existing indebtedness on the Religious Education building, and the dedication of the entire new Church edifice. This is to be the fifth anniversary of the opening of the new Church building for worship and Sunday School use. The setting of this objective involves the payment of $5,000.00, the amount of the debt now existing on the Church building. Bishop Paul Neff Garber, who was reassigned to the Richmond area at the recent session of the Southeastern Jurisdictional Conference, held at Lake Junaluska, North Carolina, has been engaged to officiate at the dedication services.

Outstanding in the activities of Scott Memorial this week was the Father - Son picnic sponsored by "The Methodist Men" of the Church. At this outdoor occasion at the recreation area of the Church, the guest speaker was Mr. Frank Cox, Superintendent of Schools of Princess Anne County. Mr. Cox is a member of the Official Board and of the Finance Commission of the Oceana Church, and an outstanding leader in its activities. Guests at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Francis H. Strieby, pastor's family of Scott Memorial this week were the Rev. and Mrs. Harry G. Balthis and their three children. The Rev. Balthis is Executive Secretary of the Conference Board of Education of the Virginia Methodist Conference. The Balthis family are on vacation, including trips to Virginia Beach, the Lost Colony and Langley Field.

THE WORK OF OUR HANDS
God has made it possible for us to work. On every hand the work of our hands is a demonstration of our success. Sometimes success of our hands is failure! That which we have created by our effort becomes a vehicle of our destruction. Someone describes warshipping in City Temple Church in London during the last war, "Going to church yesterday was one of the hardest things I have ever done in my life, and I was nervous wreck for the rest of the day." You see, this man was staying to worship while the work of his hands filled the sky with thunderous noise. Flying overhead were the planes, the result of man's creative genius, disrupting his worship.

The guidance of God is needed in the work of men's hands to provide security. The psalmist put it this way, "The work of our hands, establish Thou it."

Jr. High Education Topic of W&M Course

Problems and recent trends in Junior high school education will be the topic of a three-week course to be offered this summer by the College of William and Mary to teachers and school administrative personnel. The three-week course, offering three semester hours of credit, will begin Monday (July 30) with advance registration under way all this week between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. in the Marshall-Wythe Building. Dr. Carl McGarrah, associate professor of education at William and Mary, will teach the course. A graduate of Newberry College, Dr. McGarrah received his master's degree from the University of North Carolina and his Doctor of Education degree from the University of Florida. Several other special workshops for teachers are also planned for the three-week post-session of the William and Mary summer school, according to Summer Session Director Dr. Donald J. Herrmann. Included will be workshops on materials and methods of teaching art, science, Virginia history and government, and on elementary school administration. In addition, teachers and college students enrolled in the post-session can earn three semester hours of credit in such subjects as business, economics, education, English, fine arts, French, government, Greek, psychology, Spanish and sociology.

UNCHANGING!

How different their transportation from ours! How different their clothing! And yet, their spirit, their motives, their purpose, their God were the same.

In a covered wagon on the open prairie, or in a modern car on a super deluxe highway, God is with his people, his unchanging love giving them strength.

His Church is unchanging too. For it taught the same truths, and proffered the same comforts to those pioneer men and women as it does today.

Yes, God is unchanging. The Church is unchanging. Only people, the hearts of people, are inconsistent.

How about you? Don't you need a power and strength far greater than yourself? God is waiting, the Church is waiting, the people are waiting. Will you add your strength to theirs and help the Church meet the challenges of today?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest building on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy, nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Paulette San Marchi in Leading Role "The Solid Gold Cadillac" Presented On Stage Here

Miss Lesley Savage, producer, is happy to announce that she has secured the right to present "The Solid Gold Cadillac" on the stage of her THEATRE - GO-ROUND Virginia Beach, for one week beginning Tuesday, July 31 and playing thru Sunday night, August 5th.

"Cadillac" is the hilariously funny comedy by Howard Teichmann and George S. Kaufman concerning a little old lady, a former actress, who owns ten shares in a large corporation. By the advice of her horse she attends a stockholders' meeting and the vents that ensue change her whole life. Through her innate curiosity and flair for the dramatic, not to mention her spirit of adventure, she quite innocently gains control of the corporation and captures the heart of the president. Laughs run high throughout the play. Walter Winchell called "Cadillac" a "solid gold click" and the New Yorker rated it as "a very, very funny show".

Miss Savage has assembled an excellent cast for this production with Paulette San Marchi in the lead role. Miss San Marchi has been with Theatre-Go-Round for seven seasons, having started with the original company. She has had her own TV show in Cincinnati and done much off-Broadway work in New York. In private she is married to Jack Russell, popular TV singer.

Other members of the cast are: Romeo Muller, Jay Warren, Robert Whiting, Tony Brando, Martha Howell and Will Deparato. Rica Martens will direct.

Tickets are priced at $1.80, 2.30 and 3.45 and reservations may be made by phoning Virginia Beach 2730. Box office opens at 11 a.m. daily.

The play to be presented after "The Solid Gold Cadillac" will be "The Bad Seed", recent Broadway hit.

Yorktown, Va. Is Feature For Aug. Advertisement

Historic Yorktown Virginia, where Cornwallis surrendered to Washington, is being featured during August in four color, full-page advertisements sponsored by the Sinclair Oil Corporation, it was announced today.

Another in a series of public service messages designed to encourage greater appreciation of historic shrines, the advertisement is illustrated by an impressive photograph of the Yorktown battlefield. Here untrained and ill-equipped Colonial forces were pitted against the might of the British Empire in the Battle of Yorktown in 1781. The battle resulted in a major victory for the American cause.

Readers are told how Yorktown today teaches the tourist "an exciting history lesson." There you can wander through the streets of a town that has changed little in 175 years...see the redoubts and battlements authentically reconstructed...learn first hand how our freedom was won."

Saluted in the advertisement are the Daughters of the American Revolution for the restoration of the Customs House at Yorktown, the oldest in the country, and for their far-reaching program of patriotic education.

Sportsmen spent $46,047,781 for hunting licenses and permits during 1955, reports the 1956 Yearbook of The American People's Encyclopedia, Michigan led the list, followed by New York and Pennsylvania.

One of the first to recognize the potentialities of aluminum was Napoleon III. Visualizing it as lightweight equipment for his soldiers, the French Emperor subsidized the French scientist Henri Sainte-laite Deville in his efforts to find a low-cost method of production.

W&M Graduate Takes A Leading Role In Drama

An experienced Richmond actress will assume Sunday the comic role of the Widow Humitt in "The Common Glory."

Fat Ewell, a graduate of William and Mary, will succeed Anne Helms Irons as the principal comedienne in Paul Green's symphonic drama. Mrs. Irons, who has held the role was forced to leave the production mid-way in its 10th year because of a illness in her family.

Miss Ewell was first cast in the 1956 production as Martha Carr, the sister of Thomas Jefferson. Her role will be taken by Me, James Bray, a member of the original company or "The Common Glory" who will comb out of retirement to play the part.

Miss Ewell has appeared in two previous seasons of "The Common Glory." In 1954 she appeared as Jefferson's cousin Charlotte, and last year she played Martha Carr. While an undergraduate, Miss Ewell appeared in numerous productions of the William and Mary Theatre. She has held roles in "Uncle Henry," "The Circle," "The Stoops to Conquer," "Much Ado About Nothing" and other plays. She was also a member of Colonial Williamsburg's Restoration Players.

She started a program of drama therapy for patients at Eastern State Hospital. The work which she carried on for two years proved successful according to officials at the state mental hospital.

In Richmond she appeared in plays produced by Children's Theatre, the Living Room Players, the Richmond Summer Theatre, and she directed a production of "Seventeen" for the Junior Curran Theatre.

Miss Ewell is a member of Theta Alpha Phi, national honorary drama society, and served as president of the William and Mary chapter. She plans a career in professional theatre.

Mrs. Irons, a resident of Baltimore, Md., also is a graduate of William and Mary where she gained wide theatrical experience. During the past year she appeared in "Gigi" for the Vagabond Theatre in Baltimore.

Her performance as the Widow Humitt has been highly acclaimed by drama critics. One reviewer this year called her interpretation "perfect."

Mrs. Bray, the former Virginia James, appeared in the first seven years of "The Common Glory," holding at various times every major woman's role in the production except the Widow Humitt. She is the wife of James Bray, this year's Robert Gordon, and the marriage in 1946 created nationwide press interest because she, playing the wife of Thomas Jefferson, was marrying the man then portraying Patrick Henry.

"The Common Glory," now in its last summer-long season, is presented nightly except Monday at Matlock Lake Amphitheatre in Williamsburg. The production will be replaced next year by an entirely new drama which will be given as a special feature of the 1957 Jamestown Festival.

Frank W. Cox, Division Superintendent, Princess Anne County Schools, has announced the employment of two Distributive Education coordinators at the Princess Anne High School. Nancy Stuck, Fairmont (W. Va.) State College graduate, and Eugene Lanning a graduate of the Richmond Professional Institute in Richmond are the two new members of the high school staff.

Miss Stuck is currently working in the high school on plans for a community survey, in order to develop training stations for students entering the DE program in September.

Distributive Education, as it is used in the high school, is a program designed to train boys and girls for profitable employment in the field of distribution.

A student in this program goes to school in the morning and takes distributive education along with academic courses required for graduation. In the distributive education class students are trained in such areas as salesmanship, display, advertising, stockkeeping and other various areas.

11 MILLION HOMES

The postwar total of new residences built has reached the 11 million mark. The second largest year in home-building history was 1955, reports the 1956 Yearbook of The American Peoples Encyclopedia. A total of 1,330,000 homes were built during the year.

The demand for the precious metal palladium increased substantially in 1955, with its use extended in several industrial fields, especially for contact points in automatic electrical apparatus.

Long favored for inboard engines aboard pleasure boats, Monel-nickel-copper alloy gasoline tanks are now being made for use with outboard engines. The all-Monel construction of these tanks assures their dependability and long-life.

Reenlistment To Be Discussed

Senior Navy career enlisted personnel will meet next month on the East and West Coasts to discuss the factors that effect Navy reenlistments.

The two meetings will be conducted at the Naval Training Centers Bainbridge, Md., from August 13 to 15 and at San Diego, Calif., from August 20 to 22.

The meeting are being held by the Navy at the request of the Defense Department Advisory Committee on Professional and Technical Compensation (Cordiffer Committee). The knowledge gained through the discussions will go into skills and education, promotion opportunities, housing, pay and civilian jobs.

The career enlisted men slated to attend the meetings have been encouraged to hold preliminary discussions with enlisted personnel of all rates.

Representing the Fifth Naval District at the Bainbridge Symposium will be Chief Radioman C. A. Cozart, a member of the Norfolk Naval Receiving Station Career Appraisal Team. An aviation storekeeper from the Norfolk Naval Air Station and a teleman from the Bainbridge Naval Training Center will also be members of the district delegation.

Making a garment larger? Sew the seams before you take out the original stitching and you'll save a lot of basting or having the materials slip. The old stitching can give you a guide for the new seam.

All manner of things can be stored in plastic bags to enable you to hang them as well as see them. Try dust and cleaning cloths in one, and put cookie cutters in another.

Punch a hole through your shopping list and tie it on the cart while you do the marketing. It won't get lost that way and you don't have to keep handling it either.

When you have to chop a lot of vegetables, the easiest way to do it is with a French chef's knife. Use a board or chopping block and don't let the tip of the knife leave the board while you work.

While you do painting from a ladder, hang a nail or two on the ladder so you can put your bucket of paint on there as well as a cloth for wiping paint stains and hands.

Folk Festival Here This Month

The entire program for one of Virginia Beach's headline Golden Jubilee events was coordinated by the sponsoring clubs at a meeting with Golden Jubilee Chairman, H. E. Halstead.

The Kiwanis Club and New Corners Club co-sponsoring the event termed themselves most enthusiastic that the Golden Jubilee Committee was able to bring to the beach such a nationally famous folk personality as Bacon Lamar Lunsford with his Smoky Mountain dancers, players, and singers.

The three day festival which is scheduled for the middle of August will give the community and vacationers a rare opportunity to see an authentic folk festival such as the one in Asheville, North Carolina which was founded and has been directed by Bacon Lamar Lunsford for the past twenty years. A noted folklore authority, Lunsford and his famous teams, players and singers have conducted similar festival in New York, Chicago, Washington and St. Louis.

Tickets will go on sale this week while posters will be distributed throughout the Tidewater area. The event is slated to attract widespread interest throughout the eastern part of the State.

In the committee set-up for the Folk Festival William Kellam is general chairman from the Kiwanis Club, Mr. Ernest Turnball, general chairman from the New Corners Club; William Baugh, is co-chairman for the Kiwanis Club; Mrs. Paul Berchfeldt for the New Corners Club; Tickets committee heads are T. E. Turner Jr. and Mrs. Donald H. Germaine; Talent chairman for the Kiwanis Club; Mrs. Paul Berchfeldt for the New Corners Club; Charles Callager, Staging will be handled by Sarah Williams and

The MIXING BOWL..

IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food fads and foibles... for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palates and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucile Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

Hunting a new way to please the Man-of-the-House? Get into the habit of setting your table with new, gay paper tableware! We all know the "way to a man's heart" is through his stomach! But has it occurred to you that how you serve that menu is just as important as what you serve?

On hot summer days when meals have to be really tempting, why not make lunch or dinner-time as much fun, as beautiful to look at, and as little work as possible? Serve cool salads on bright-colored paper plates. Use matching paper cups to complete an attractive table-setting.

And of course, banish dish-washing chores!

The Hunt design, shown by the young sportsman above, presents a colorful array of riders and horses chasing foxes around the cups and across the plates.

The colors are sun-tones of blue, green or orange. This set would be appropriate for Sunday "brunch."

The Hunt cups have a practical appeal, too. They are "chink-proof" — an improved plastic thing that makes the cup "all-purpose" — for hot or cold coffee, tea or other refreshing drinks!

These cups, created by Lily, have a rigid, chin-like feel and preserve the true flavor of beverages.

There are many other attractive paperware designs to dress up your summer-living — white gulls flecked across vivid blue, red, green or yellow; individual waded paper cups are perfect for fruit salads or desserts. Jigger cups match the gull pattern in red or blue.

If you add pint- and quart-sized paper buckets with lids to your cupboard you'll have a care-free summer.

And the food that sustained the unconquerables was of the simplest. Each soldier, historian says, received as his daily ration one pound of whole wheat and one pound of rye. This diet, supplemented by foods found enroute, maintained the health and exceptional stamina of the Roman Legion.

It remained for a practicing physician in this country — in Tacoma, Washington — to discover some years ago the centuries-old diet. His inquiry was the quest of an anguished spirit, for you see, Dr. Robert Jackson suffered from persistent ill-health.

The folks who make Roman Meal bread have a diet meal plan, that has been approved by nutrition authorities, and I ask a friend of mine to tell me more about Roman Meal Bread so I could tell you.

THE ROMAN MEAL STORY
You remember from your history books the mighty conquests of the legendary Roman Legions. Those old Roman gladiators were truly invincible.

Some Simple Nutritional Truths Are Reborn
Dr. Jackson particularly re-stated the balance diet and the significance of certain foods, and it was then that he came upon the story of the Roman Legions. He suspected correctly that the diet secret was their intake of whole grains. So Dr. Jackson set about grinding and mixing. He was careful to retain the natural mine-erals, proteins, vitamins and other nutritive properties of whole grain wheat and rye. He added flax for its beneficial effect on the digestive system.

The good doctor, now fully returned to health, began the preparation of Roman Meal which combined the whole grains of wheat and rye with added flax. His friend clamored for samples.

Dr. Jackson found himself unable to meet the demand, and he was obliged to set up commercial manufacturing facilities.

Today Roman Meal Bread is baked and distributed by approximately 170 leading bakeries carefully selected from the nation's finest.

Most people throughout the country can buy Roman Meal Bread right in their own neighborhood — can say that it is "sold around the corner from where I live."

Actually, this most popular of all specialty loaves is now distributed from the West Coast to the East Coast, of the United States, from the Canadian border to Mexico, and in Alaska and Hawaii, too.

Why Roman Meal Bread Is So Popular

Genuine Roman Meal Bread is fully protected from infringement. Bakeries distributing it do so under a franchise, and each loaf is guaranteed to contain the genuine Roman Meal formula, as developed by Dr. Jackson. "Look for the Roman gladiator on the genuine Roman Meal Bread."

Roman Meal Bread is the one different bread. It is baked from not one, but three grains, scientifically blended and vitamin-fortified. There is no other bread like it in formula, nutrition, or taste.

Why Roman Meal Bread Is Important In Your Diet

For this reason, Roman Meal Bread occupies an important place in the new Diet Plan. Roman Meal Bread supplies LOW-CALORIE-ENERGY that helps keep you satisfied throughout the day. Its delicious taste and its nourishing blend of Whole Wheat, White Rye and appetizing yeast to your diet meals. Roman Meal Bread supplies protein, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals to help you keep healthy while reducing.

Once you begin the new Diet Plan, you will be delighted to find that Roman Meal Bread makes it easier to stick to your slimming program. Its marvelous flavor gives you a satisfied feeling of having dined substantially. Its longer-lasting energy helps prevent a craving for rich, high-calorie foods. A slice or two of Roman Meal Bread in your diet menu makes you feel more cheerful, more active, more alert throughout the day. Yet you keep on slimming off pounds!

If you're one of the folks, who likes bread, but have to count calories, I'd suggest you try Roman Meal Bread and see how you like it. It is baked from not one, but three grains — scientifically blended and vitamin, fortified and — its really good.

Bye — Now! I'm off to make some Roman Meal Bread Toast and have a cup of tea.

All-Virginia Cruise To South America, Caribbean Is Scheduled

Itinerary for the seventh All-Virginia Cruise from Norfolk to South America and the Caribbean was announced officially today by J. Rives Worsham, Norfolk industrialist who is president of the Virginia Cruise Corporation.

Sailing is scheduled for next January 25, at 11 P.M. aboard the S.S. Ryndam, and five ports of call will be made before returning to Norfolk at 1 P.M. on February 8.

"The Ryndam is an all air-conditioned cruise vessel of the Holland-America Line," Worsham said, "and is an identical sister ship of the S.S. Maasdam which was sold out completely last winter for our sixth 14-day winter vacation cruise of Virginia to the Caribbean Area."

He said the first port call for the 1957 cruise will be St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands, January 29, and two days later a stop will be made at La Guaira, Venezuela—the seaport of Caracas.

On the return leg of the voyage to Norfolk, Worsham said these three stops would be made: February 2—Bridgetown, Barbados; February 3—Charlestown, Island of Nevis, and February 6—Hamilton, Bermuda.

Worsham pointed out that the first of the All-Virginia cruises was held in 1951, and was the product of thinking civic leaders in the Norfolk Twenty-first Street Business Association.

"From the first, the idea was to focus attention on the unusual geographical advantages of Hampton Roads and other Virginia ports," Worsham said. "This interest led naturally to the formation of the Virginia Cruise Corporation by the Norfolk Port Authority, Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, and the Twenty-first Street Business Association."

"Each year since 1951, with the exception of 1954 when no cruise was held, successful cruise operations have been conducted to South America and the Caribbean. We have found the cruises to be an answer to a popular demand by Virginians for a winter vacation in tropical waters, and we have found our Latin American neighbors interested in our business," Worsham said.

Passenger reservations now are being received at the Cruise Corporation offices, 111 North Fifth Street, Richmond. Notices on the seventh cruise have been mailed to Virginians who booked passages on previous trips, and they will be given priority on booking preferences.

Farm Leader Says Va. Peanut Growers "Grossly Mistreated"

Virginia peanut growers are being "grossly mistreated" by the present administration, a farm leader declared here today.

John B. Vance, president of the Virginia Farmers Union, made the charge in a statement announcing that his organization would oppose a petition before the United States Tariff Commission to increase imports of the large "Virginia-type" peanuts.

A hearing on the question of increasing the imports for next year has been set for July 31 in Washington. The increase was requested by the Peanut and Nut Growers Association.

Vance said he was speaking both for the Virginia and the National Farmers Union in opposing the increase on the grounds that there was "no reason at this time to believe that domestic growers cannot supply this country's demand for Virginia-type peanuts."

He also deplored the timing of the hearings, declaring that raising the possibility of increased imports before the marketing season begins would have an adverse psychological effect on the market.

In support of his charge of mistreatment, the Farmers Union leader said the Eisenhower administration had:

"1. Removed peanut butter from the Federal school lunch program for the next school year;

"2. Virtually excluded peanut growers from participation in the soil bank acreage reserve by figuring payments on 23 percent of the gross value, whereas other crops are figured at 50 to 60 percent;

"3. Refused to raise acreage allotment for 1955 as requested, thus denying Virginia farmers the right to produce enough peanuts to supply their own market;

"4. Opposed inclusion of peanuts in the soil bank acreage reserve program;

"5. Imposed a virtual ceiling on peanut prices last year by approving increased imports."

In addition Vance said, "Certain members of Congress have made two attempts since 1954 to punish farmers by removing peanuts from the list of basic crops."

He concluded:

"This all adds up to gross mistreatment for peanut growers in Virginia and the nation."

A poll taken last year revealed that only 17 percent of the Americans questioned answered "yes" when asked whether they were currently reading a book.

New Navy Mark System Set Up

Beginning this month, the Navy enlisted man and his work will be evaluated by his superiors under a new system established recently by the Bureau of Naval Personnel.

This new system is designed to provide a more direct appraisal of the overall performance of the individual. The new form called the "enlisted performance evaluation worksheet," supersedes the old grading system of quarterly mark cards which have been in effect for many years.

The quarterly mark cards noted only the subject man's proficiency in his, leadership, and conduct.

The new system provides for the grading in ten steps of professional performance, military behavior, leadership, and supervisory ability, military appearance and adaptability of an individual. The leading petty officers and division officers will designate the marks to be given.

The new procedure emphasizes individual performance of duty provide positive means of giving recognition for above average and superior performance. It will also grant proper recognition to the practical sailor of proven reliance and ability.

Under the new system, the results of performance evaluations will be incorporated into advancement multiples, affording increased opportunity for enlisted personnel to advance in rate. The form will also be used by commanding officers for recommending enlisted personnel for promotion to officer rank.

The evaluation sheets will be submitted semi-annually to the Bureau of Naval Personnel.

Fire Leaves Laskin Road Club In Ruin

The old Piney Point Club, lately known as Hickory House, on Laskin Road came to the end of the road last Monday morning when a fire of undetermined origin leveled the night club and dance hall.

The lounge and dance hall part of the club was gutted by the fire that broke out at approximately 3:30 in the morning. The entire front section of the building was destroyed by the fire. It is believed that the fire started in an upstairs apartment.

James Fox, who operated the club, said he had not yet arrived at an estimate of the loss. He said it was only partly covered by insurance.

Pox said that the building was owned by Fox Realty Co. of Virginia Beach.

The Virginia Beach Fire Department received a call on the fire at 3:37 a.m., Assistant Chief M. R. Mathias said. An unidentified motorist turned in the alarm after noticing smoke when he passed by the night club. Firemen brought the blaze under control within about an hour.

The Piney Point Club has been the subject of police raids and confiscation of gambling equipment, grand jury investigations, and a still unsolved robbery involving perhaps as much as $100,000.

The unsolved robbery goes back to Sept. 18, 1948. Seven masked men, some of them armed with sub-machine guns, entered a frame building behind the club about dawn and broke up a high stakes gambling game. The intruders robbed some 40 to 50 persons and fled. They never have been apprehended.

President Eisenhower said the North Atlantic Treaty alliance was "as strong as ever" at its seventh anniversary.

Supervised by The Tidewater Power Squadron, the Parade is being sponsored by the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce as a Golden Jubilee Event.

Yachts from Richmond, Norfolk, Hampton, Matthews, Portsmouth, and Virginia Beach are scheduled to appear in the Parade. Owners desiring to come into the Cavalier Yacht Club will be welcomed. High water at Lynnhaven Inlet will be about 12:00 pm on Saturday and 1:00 pm on Sunday. Boats having draft of more than 3 1/2 feet or overhead clearance of 12 1/2 feet may not enter the Cavalier Yacht Club.

Annex Court Judges To Announce Decision Late This Month

Hearing Outcome is Deferred to Late August By Tribunal
Five County, Two City Attorneys Heard In Week Long Session

After listening to arguments for and against the City of Norfolk annexing a portion of Princess Anne County for an entire week, the special three-judge tribunal decided to defer its decision in the case until later in August. The case was heard last week in the Princess Anne County Court at Princess Anne.

The three judges, Princess Anne Circuit Court Judge Floyd E. Kellam, Judge Lytleton Waddill, of Charlottesville, and Judge Elliott Marshall, of Front Royal, decided late Saturday to defer rendering a decision until later in the month.

Seven attorneys spoke during the week long hearing. The county was represented by William L. Parker, Paul W. Ackles and Commonwealth's Attorney Robert S. Wabab, Jr. Gordon Campbell and H. M. Woodward represented views of county landowners. Joseph L. Kelly, Jr. and James M. Robertson presented the city's side of the case.

In summation the following points were brought before the court by the various attorneys.

Judge Parker pointed out, among other things, that county growth is not attributable to anything that has happened within the boundaries of the city. It is attributable to two main factors:

1. Naval activities.
2. The resort nature of the territory.

In most annexation cases the growth of the annexation area is brought about from within the city. This is not the case here. When civic leaders of Norfolk move outside the city, they move to areas surrounding Virginia Beach, not into the annexation area. "Princess Anne County is in no sense a satellite of the City of Norfolk."

Ackles stated that the revenue for operation of government in Princess Anne County is derived from one source alone, real estate tax.

County leaders for schools would increase drastically. A general fund levy of $1.50 would be needed. Tax rates would rise in every county district. Some examples:

Blackwater: $4.50 to $7.54.
Pungo: $2.50 to $4.14.
Fountain: $1.50 to $2.54.

The city would be taking 75 percent of the assessed valuation of the Kempsville Municipal District. This is almost 80 percent of the assessed valuation of this district and (Continued on Page Four)

C&P To Start On New Building

The ground breaking ceremony for the erection of a new Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company building at 32nd Street and Arden Avenue is scheduled for Friday morning at 11:45 o'clock, according to an announcement made by L. F. Patrick, manager of the Virginia Beach Area office of the utility company.

The ground breaking will mark the initial step in what will ultimately be a $2,000,000 project for the telephone company. The new building will house equipment valued at $1,153,000 and will eventually bring dial telephone service to the Virginia Beach area.

The contract for the erection of the building to house the above equipment has been awarded to the Wm. Contracting Company of Richmond, Virginia.

The completed building will house the very latest in dial telephone equipment and will enable Virginia Beach subscribers to join the national network for customer dialing of long distance calls.

The new facility is expected to enable Virginia Beach to continue its stride of orderly and prosperous development with a communications system second to none in the nation.

Police Raid Local Club

Princess Anne County Police Sunday afternoon staged a raid on the Virginia Beach Moose Lodge and arrested the governor and steward on charges of violating state whiskey and gambling laws.

Raiding officers found two slot machines and a quantity of whiskey and beer in the lodge, which is located on 17th St. extended, just outside the city limits of Virginia Beach. Both men are scheduled to appear in the Princess Anne County Court Aug. 13.

Police Chief J. E. Moore said yesterday the raid was conducted by P. F. Mohr and M. Cox, N. C. Fisher and George Maine. They had acted on a tip. The confiscated "top-armed bandits" were of the dime and quarter variety. Chief Moore said.

Here Next Week

Bacon Lunsford, founder and director of The Asheville Folk Festival, will stage a three day Folk Festival at Virginia Beach Stadium starting August 16 featuring dancers, singers, and players from The Blue Ridge and Smoky Mountains. The festival is being sponsored by The Kiwanis Club and New Corners Club.

Three Day Folk Festival Starts Thursday At Stadium

From the "land of the sky" to the Virginia Seashore, Bacon Lunsford will transport in part his famous folk festival which has just completed its 21st and most successful run in Asheville, North Carolina.

Founder and director of the Asheville festival, this nationally renowned folklorist has staged festivals in New York, Philadelphia, Washington, St. Louis, Chicago, Dallas, Raleigh, and Chapel Hill, North Carolina. With the celebrated Soco Gap dance team accompanied by The Coon Creek Girls from Pritchett, Ky., he appeared before the King and Queen of England and enchanted them with "Shoe Fly Swing" and "The Ocean Wave" . . . he introduced mountain dancing in the Waldorf Astoria, was cheered in Carnegie Hall and has commanded tremendous audiences at all of his folk "does."

In his words, all of his festivals start "long bout sundown" — which specifically means the Folk Festival at the Virginia Beach Stadium will start at 8:15. The two hour program will introduce to the Tidewater area a show such as has never been seen here before for Lunsford is bringing over 100 of his Smoky Mountain dancers, singers and instrumentalists. Many of these performers will have participated in the Asheville festival which took place August 2nd, 3rd, and 4th.

Every bit as colorful as the places they call home, feature participants will be Walter Burman, a harmonica player from Greasy Cove; Miss Freda English, a ballad singer and guitarist of no small note from Laurel River; The Yaldestian Folk Dancers from South Mountain and originally from Northern Italy; Red Rose and his Dixie Mountain Boys, a string band from The Piedmont; Eugene and Fannie Smith, specialty dancers with their team from Duplin; The Snow Hill Dance Team with string band, and recording artists, Mr. & Mrs. Harry West from New York.

Called "Minstrel Man of the Appalachians" in a six page color spread in Saturday Evening Post, Lunsford turned from law to folklore back in 1927 when the festival that he began. Becoming the fact that people didn't get a chance to sing the wild, sweet, lonely tunes and dance as they should, he dedicated himself to preserving the pure mountain music and dance. He talked with his neighbors from South Turkey and Rabbit Ham to see if they too, deplored the dying out of the age old tunes and would assist him in their revival. Their assured support sent him back into the hills and coves to mountain homes where he swapped tunes and ballads so they could live and be enjoyed by future generations. Now, he is reputed to have the largest collection of folk songs in the country, some 3,000, and has recorded from memory 316 songs for The Library of Congress.

Many of the songs were brought from England and Scotland by the mountain settlers and have remained unsullied in the deep reaches of The Blue Ridge and Smokies. Their stories tell of the sea, the old country and the things that are a part of their everyday life, such as "Cacklin' Hen" and "The Fox Chase" — of ill starred lovers in the hauntingly beautiful ballad "Barbara Allen" of unrequited love, of "mountain dew" of birth, death, virtue, sin and the incident and humor that threads in and out of the living of the mountain folk.

With a casual, informal pace the festival is lively, fast moving and delightful to children and adults alike. Its authentic flavor as fascinating to "hillbilly" enthusiasts as to the "long hair" although Lunsford has steadfastly refused to let the festival become corrupted by modern "hillbilly" influences.

So, "Long bout Sundown" next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday night a mountain festival will be featured at the seashore.

A favorite American breakfast... and a satisfying one... is French toast with bacon. A good way to prepare bacon when you have the double duty of cooking out French toast is to bake it. Baked bacon is delicious and requires no watching or turning. The fat drips off while it cooks, leaving the strips crisp or medium crisp according to your preference. Lay bacon strips on a rack in a shallow pan and bake at 400 degrees 12 to 15 minutes.

Historical Drama Would Be Big Asset

An interesting feature of a recent meeting of the Virginia Beach Hotel and Cottage Association was an informal discussion of the behind-the-scenes work that has gone on in an attempt to promote a historical outdoor drama of the Common Glory variety for this area.

The potential of such an understanding from a publicity standpoint is enormous and would add greatly to the overall program of the area.

It was pointed out that for such a project to even have a chance to succeed it must have the cooperation of all localities within the area and most of all the cooperation of the people living in the area.

While a site for such a drama has not been selected the committee working on the project will meet with Author Paul Green of the Common Glory within the next two to three weeks.

The City of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County have already appropriated funds for the undertaking and much preliminary work has been done. The Sun-News heartily endorses the proposal and we trust that a drama of the Common Glory type may be staged in this area. It is a worthwhile project that should receive widespread support.

'Owers' Lead, 2 To 1

Early this year 64 per cent of all American families were in debt, according to the Federal Reserve Board. The fact that 37 per cent of all families were out of debt will be more surprising to most persons, but the FRB is interested in debt, not lack of it.

Most of the debt outstanding is of the installment type, the board said. One of every five families owed money on automobiles, it is disclosed. Thus, conversely, four out of five cars are paid for. No marked changes in the distribution of indebtedness from early 1955 to early 1956 was noted, according to the July bulletin of the FRB. From there on the figures become highly technical, with frequent references to "pending units," occupational levels, etc.

But it will be news to salesmen that 37 per cent of the American people owe no man. Here is a lush and untrapped field.

Paging All Drivers

Those who drive motor cars and have concern for their own lives and the lives of others must have been giving some thought to the increase in the number of traffic fatalities.

At the present rate 40,000 persons will die from such accidents in the nation this year. While the American people are spending millions to combat polio, cancer and other diseases, they continue to leave a trail of dead and dying human beings on their streets and highways.

This situation continues to exist in spite of the best efforts of safety directors, police and highway officials to instruct motorists in the fundamentals of safe driving. Unfit cars are a contributing factor, and a certain number of drivers drive carelessly and thoughtlessly, but the real cause of the high fatality list is speed. Some of the most skillful drivers have that failing.

Speed of 60, 70 and 80 miles an hour are too commonly practiced. Investigating officers have discovered that speed is responsible for a majority of fatal accidents.

Those who drive motor cars and want to do their part in stopping this carnage can do two things: They can see that their car is in safe operating condition, and they can drive conservatively. The time that is gained by speeding could easily be offset by a much longer period in a hospital bed. And every driver should constantly remember that he may be one of the 40,000 who will die this year.

Annex Decision

I say the district can't operate without it."

Walsh said: "If one point is not in controversy it is that Princess Anne County has developed a 'highly flexible, unique system of government for . . . a rural county with suburban settlements.'"

Power of the county's board of supervisors are substantially the same as those of the city council.

The county's system of district taxation enables it to provide services where they are needed, at the expense of the tax payers being served.

"It is an unfortunate aspect of annexation . . . in Virginia, that no provision is made for the democratic action usually so zealously guarded ed . . . that the people of the annexation area have no say as to annexation. Their plight is in your (the court's) hands."

Robertson stated, in part, that it has become obvious that the county's strategy is to limit the city to territory to the west of the Little Creek area. This suggestion "flies in the teeth of the annexation law and the cases decided under the law," the primary purpose of this law is to provide a city the opportunity to grow into an undeveloped area.

Referring to community of interest, "Where do the people of the annexation area go to hear their children? To Norfolk hospitals. Where did the county go to get its attorney, the intervenor? To the City of Norfolk?"

Anyone familiar with the world situation today knows that the armed forces of this nation or any other nation in NATO are not going to be contracted.

The Hampton Roads Sanitation District Commission has said it could serve the Little Creek area with its present sewage disposal facilities. The city gets its water from areas far distant; its supply does not come from "confiscated land now under water . . . as Judge Parker would have the court believe."

The county has used its prospective growth where it suited its case, and failed to use it where it did not suit its case. "You've got to cut off a line somewhere and figure it from there."

The county has means of taxation other than real estate. It already has imposed an automobile tax.

"If the county had one power all cities have, there never would have been the embarrassment there was over the Little Creek School . . . the power to borrow without submitting it to a vote of the people. Mr. Cot did the best he could under the circumstances."

The only reason farmers are not going to farm annexation area land is that that is not the most valuable use for it. "It just isn't farmland . . . it's potential urban land."

"The city is entitled to at least all of the area it has asked for."

Science Does It Again SAVES YOU 20% of your heating costs!

New Fuel Oil Reduces Soot, Saves Money

The idea of "Rocket 303" pre-treatment of household fuel oil to provide less expensive heating and trouble-free operation of heating equipment is the newest advance in oil heating in 30 years. Its development makes possible an average saving of 20% in home heating cost.

"Rocket 303" was developed by one of the country's oldest compounders of fuel oil and boiler room chemicals in the industry. It is designed to very substantially increase the efficiency and economy of fuel oil heating through such factors as more complete combustion, cleaner smoother burning, and soot free furnaces.

With the aid of other petroleum research laboratories, and after years of experimenting, a compound has finally been perfected capable of eliminating four objectionable features prevalent in standard grades of domestic fuel oils:

1. Water condensate that normally forms in fuel oil under normal storage conditions.
2. Rust and electrolytic corrosion in fuel oil tanks.
3. Nozzle clogging sludge and sediment.
4. Soot formation in furnaces.

Atlantic Fuel Oil Co., your reliable TEXACO Distributor, is the exclusive user of "Rocket 303" for pre-treatment of fuel oil in the whole Tidewater area.

Full information on this amazing new development is available by writing or calling

Full Endorsement

L. D. Miller, President of the chemical company who manufactures the additive called "Rocket 303", today described the introduction of treated fuel oil, by Atlantic Fuel Oil Co. into the Tidewater market as a forerunner of a great new advance in the petroleum industry.

"For 30 years fuel oil dealers have sold pretty much the same product. Within the last year, several chemical companies including our own, have developed additives specifically designed to control soot and scale formation, sludge and water condensate and rust and corrosion, but this is the first time that a fuel oil has been pretreated and merchandized with all these features combined, and with scientific accuracy."

"Atlantic Fuel Oil Co. is definitely ahead of the field and I am sure that many new customers will result from this money saving product."

The Pre Treatment of Household Fuel Oil to Provide Less Expensive Trouble Free Heating is now a Reality.

Atlantic Fuel Oil Co., in collaboration with a well known Petroleum Research Firm has perfected "Rocket 303," a compound designed to SUBSTANTIALLY REDUCE HEATING COSTS by increasing the efficiency and economy of Fuel Oil Heating.

"Rocket 303" Eliminates

- RUST AND CORROSION IN TANKS.
- SOOT AND SCALE FORMATION IN FURNACES.
- BOTTOM OF TANK SEDIMENT

IT CAN HAPPEN TO YOU
"Don't be one of those drivers who thinks it can't happen to him," warns our Governor's Highway Safety Committee. Last year in Virginia alone, 878 people went to their deaths in traffic thinking just that. It can happen so quickly and it can happen to anyone. Don't take the slightest risk.

MAKE CHILDREN SIT BACK
Parents, here's a tip from our Governor's Highway Safety Committee. When children are passengers in your car, see that they sit back in the seat and stay that way. Any emergency braking can fling a standing child forward with crippling force. Don't let it happen to one of yours.

Lutherans Honor Baseball Players

Virginia Beach Lutherans and members of the Lutheran churches all over America will be looking to Detroit's Briggs Stadium tomorrow, August 10th. The occasion will give the people of Michigan and the nation an opportunity to demonstrate their appreciation to the Lutherans on the Detroit Tiger baseball team for the many hours of entertainment they provide through the summer.

The 1956 Tiger team has seven Lutherans on the roster: Harvey Kuenn, shortstop; Bill Hoelt, pitcher; Duke Maas, pitcher; Bob "Red" Wilson, catcher; Jack Phillips, first base; Jim Bredewes, second base; Al Aber, pitcher. To round out the picture, Lutheran Mel Ott, a former baseball star, is now broadcasting the games from Briggs Stadium.

The Lutherans, together with the other members of the Tiger team, will be honored at home plate before playing the Chicago White Sox. Gifts will be presented to the Lutheran members of the team and to Mel Ott.

The Lutheran churches in the Detroit area reserved 10,000 box seats and they have all been sold, 1,000 having been sold the first five days of the sale. An extra 25 cents was added to the price of the tickets to buy token gifts for the players and to set aside funds for a scholarship at Wayne University.

DONALD DUCK By Walt Disney

Author Says Time To Give Blood Is Now

By Sloan Wilson
Author of "The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit"

Anyone who saw much fighting during the war learned the importance of blood plasma and blood transfusions. After the war, most people forgot it—the importance of blood is not, after all, a cheerful thing to remember.

Yet the need for blood for the sick and wounded continues in peacetime almost as much as in time of war. Automobile accidents alone require much blood from the Red Cross Blood Program every summer as would a great battle. There are also many other kinds of accidents and many illnesses which make a proper supply of blood at the right time a matter of life and death.

One can't really appreciate this until a relative or intimate friend is stricken, and the question, "Is there enough blood?" becomes tinged with panic.

It has often been necessary to resort to desperate, last-minute appeals on the radio to get the blood which is necessary to save a life hanging in the balance. Such appeals are dramatic, and they usually bring an eager response, but intelligent people shouldn't act in time of emergency only. The time to give blood is now.

A person who gives blood, quite literally gives of himself. There are many people who waste time saying they wish they could do something for others. Well, here is something specific. Give of yourself — a pint will do. Don't wait.

You will never be thanked elaborately, nor should you be. Your blood will flow into the veins of someone who needs it, and that will be a nice thing for you to think about.

The Tidewater Regional Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit Princess Anne County at the Community House, 18th and Arctic, Virginia Beach on Monday, August 20th from noon to six o'clock. Transportation is available for anyone desiring it and Bloodmobiles are at the Community House all during the visit. The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Virginia Beach and Junior Citizens of Virginia Beach are co-sponsoring this visit and are working together to recruit donors. The Jaycees will see "Prescription for Life," a color film that dramatically describes "what happens to the pint of blood you give," at their regular meeting. The Junior Citizens are making up an information sheet which they will distribute throughout the churches.

National Little League News

After a two week lay over in which concentrated effort was directed toward the All Star team the National Little League got back into the swing of things on Monday, July 30th. It was a fine cool evening which stimulated the play in the evening's double header.

The first game was between the Thunderbirds and the Little Giants which resulted in a splendid victory for the Thunderbirds who are the top contenders to overthrow the league leading Giants. Michaels led off the batting for the Little Giants by acquiring a base on balls. He was the only player to cross home plate in play of a single and a triple by Butler and Sanderlin respectively. Sanderlin pitching for the Giants began by getting in trouble when he loaded up the bases. Being experienced and stable he knuckled down to pull himself out of the pit by striking out the next three batters. Thomas, pitching for the Thunderbirds, began poorly in the second by walking two men; then he struck out the third man, but again walked the fourth man. Surprising enough no runs were made, for the fine spirit of the Thunderbirds spurred them on as they picked the runners off the bases. Sanderlin again started his inning on the mound by getting in the hole. He walked four men and gave up two hits which resulted in 4 runs for the Thunderbirds before the sides were retired. After the bottom of the second the score was 4-Thunderbirds and 1-Little Giants. The Giants scored 2 runs in the first half of the third on a walk and two singles by Butler and Martin. Sanderlin held the Thunderbirds down in the bottom of the third when he struck out three of the four batters. Thomas retaliated in his half of the fourth on the rubber by putting Williamson, Tillert and P. Michael out as they came up to bat. Three up and three down. Sanderlin failed to get the needed support of his team in the fourth when they were credited with two errors. Each of these errors resulted in runs as did a single pounded out by White. Sanderlin finally retired the sides by striking three men out. In the top of the fifth the Little Giants scored two points as Butler got on with a double and Sanderlin cleaned house with a home run, bringing the score to 5-7, favor Thunderbirds. The Thunderbirds came to bat for the last time in the fifth when they scored 5 runs. Sanderlin gave up five unearned bases and 1 hit which netted five runs for the Thunderbirds. Thomas in the top of the sixth loaded the bases with two away, but was helped out when Moss flew out to Rosenbaum who was playing first base. Both teams showed spasmodic playing; each seemingly taking a turn at being hot - while the other was cold. The final score was Thunderbirds 12 and the Little Giants 5.

ABRHE SO

Thunderbirds	23	12	4	1	2
Little Giants	21	5	6	5	14

The second game of Monday night's double header pitted the J. C. Hawks against the Methodist Pipers. Since the Little Giants and Thunderbird game took nearly two full hours the second game had to be cut short after four and a half innings of play. Bonney was the starting pitcher for the Pipers while Daley opened for the J. C. Hawks. Bonney began by allowing two walks, but was helped out nicely as his supporters in the infield helped him to retire the sides.

The first inning was the biggest for the Pipers. Daley began nicely by striking out Tarkenton, but could not continue to put them over. After walking three batters, Rainey took over on the mound. Doody and Atwood succeeded in getting on by error, thus pushing men across home plate. Cross and Michaels followed with singles while Bonney was given a base on balls. Horton continued the rally by slamming a double pushing in Bonny and Michaels. Tarkenton and Horton did not score when Terrell hit a pop fly to the first baseman to make the third out. For his second inning on the mound Bonny turned in a splendid performance by striking out the first three batters. Coppedge led off with a single in the bottom of the second and was the only man to score as the J. C. Hawks team blended together in assisting Rainey in two of the three outs. After putting one man away Bonney ran into difficulty. He walked four men before Horton relieved him on the mound. Horton walked the fifth to push in 2 runs. Although Horton was behind he struck out the 7th batter and caught a pop up hit by Bentley, thus retiring the sides only after the J. C. Hawks scored two runs. Taking the field after two and a half innings of play Whitehurst showed his ability to play centerfield as he made two beautiful catches to aid his team in retiring the sides. It wasn't until 2 runs were scored that Cross made the final out as Rainey slipped the third strike in there. For the J. C. Hawks it was three up and three down in the fourth. With time running out due to a 9:30 limitation the Pipers tried their best to score in their last turn at bat but each of the three players made pop ups to the infield

Notes From Your County Agent

SUMMER PASTURES CAN BE "STRETCHED"

Summer pastures can be "stretched" by careful dairy herd management. Dairywomen in drought-stricken areas of Virginia can do several things to meet the local feed shortage and still keep up milk production.

We suggest:

Reconsider your pasture management plans. Can you use rotational and/or restricted grazing? Be sure that each cow gets all the roughage she needs every day by providing hay free choice.

Don't underestimate the importance of adequate, clean, cool drinking water that is available. Look over your herd records and cull the unprofitable animals. The feed they eat is a loss.

Buy all the good hay you can get now before prices get any higher. Not only will it stretch your pasture, but it will strengthen your feeding program this winter.

Rotational grazing is the practice of dividing pasture acreage into equal sized pastures and moving the herd from one to another as soon as one is grazed down. Rotational grazing may increase pasture yield by as much as 30 percent. The day before you are ready to move the cows, clip the pasture they are using before the last grazing to help control weeds.

Restricted grazing is the practice of regulating the amount of time the dairy herd on the pasture. Where labor is not too scarce, it is wise to turn the herd into a pasture right after morning milking. As soon as 10 percent of the cows are lying down, take the whole herd off the pasture. This prevents excess trampling and soiling of the pasture and insures greater yield. With restricted grazing, a shady place with water available must be provided to hold the cows when they are not on pasture. Here is an ideal place to keep a hay rack.

BLACKSHANK WIDESPREAD IN BLUE-CURED BELT

The disease Blackshank is widespread in most of blue-cured tobacco counties, although there has been no great spread to new areas this season.

Weather conditions have been favorable for blackshank, and tobacco farmers should be on the lookout for the disease. If plants continue dying in the fields and the trouble has not been diagnosed, we suggest sending specimens in to the county agents' office.

Granville wilt has been reported several times in Halifax, Dinwiddie, and Franklin counties.

Peanut wilt has been present in burley tobacco in southwest Virginia for several years, but has been found on only a few farms in the blue-cured belt.

Several specimens of tobacco showing lightning injury have been received. Injury caused by lightning looks somewhat like that caused by blackshank and Granville wilt. However, lightning also is found on other kinds of near by plants and weeds, while most diseases are specific. On tobacco, lightning causes a definite crinkling to the leaves and killing of the stem.

There have been some reports of failure of tobacco to grow in the field. In some cases, the tobacco apparently was set in the field in direct contact with fertilizer. This could result in severe root injury, especially during dry weather.

PEACH VARIETY PICTURE CHANGES

The peach variety picture is changing rapidly.

The Elberta variety still is important in many localities, but is gradually losing ground to superior varieties.

With fewer Elbertas being planted, Dreiling says, the trend is toward such varieties as Dixigen, Redhaven, Early-Red-Rite, Sullivan's Early Elberta and other early varieties.

The type of marketing the grower plans has a definite bearing on the number of varieties which should be planted.

LESS DAMAGE . . . Just the thing to remove milk can be done without the damage usually done by an ordinary hammer in the altered whinger roller. Cut away all but a few inches of the roller near the end of the rollers. Steel cores of the rollers serve as handles and provide weight.

If the grower ships peaches exclusively, two or three varieties, or four at the most, should be enough. But if eaches are to be shipped and sold locally as well, four to five varieties would be best.

If peaches are intended entirely for the local market, five to eight varieties should be grown. We have some comments on some of the peach varieties he feels are among the better ones.

The Early-Red-Pre is the earliest variety of any quality which is recommended for planting. The fruit is highly colored, attractive and of good quality. However, the flesh is white and may be a little soft. It ripens 40 days before Elberta.

The Redhaven is one of the most promising varieties being planted at present. The fruit is attractive, and the flesh is orange-yellow with a pleasing flavor. The peach has a smooth texture, and is one of the best for freezing. However, it requires heavy thinning to obtain satisfactory fruit size. It ripens about 30 days before Elberta.

Golden Jubilee is one of the older established varieties, and is still holding its own. The quality is average, but it is usually of good size. It is easy to peel and is a freestone. It ripens about 36 days before Elberta.

Triogem is another variety which attains good size, is bright yellow and usually freestone.

Sunlight has about the best flavor of any variety tested at VPI. However, it is a shy bearer in some areas and is susceptible to bacterial rot. But it will command premium prices, and ripens about 17 days before Elberta.

Halehaven is a variety which develops good size and has a solid red color. It is freestone and above average in quality. It ripens about 14 days before Elberta.

Sullivan's Early Elberta is somewhat brighter than the regular Elberta, and the quality is regarded as slightly superior. It ripens about a week before the regular Elberta.

Of the Elberta, it will continue to be important to many Virginia orchards for years to come. It is not only popular with the grower, he says, but with the consumer and market.

DAIRY HERD MANAGEMENT

For best results with restricted grazing, keep the herd off of the pasture until after the evening milking. Just before dark, bring the herd into a lot near the barn where there is plenty of hay and water. If restricted grazing is followed, the yield acre will be near the yield you would get if you chopped the forage in the pasture and hauled it to the cow.

Dairymen who are working with little capital and who are short of help can do only a few things to stretch pastures. A dairy cow does most of her grazing during the cool part of the day. So put the herd on the best pasture at night, and on the poorer one during the heat of the day. If you can't move the cows in a restricted grazing system, see that hay is provided daily on the pasture.

PASTURE SEEDING TIME IS NEAR

It's almost pasture seeding time in Virginia, and farmers should be taking soil samples and applying lime now, says Dick Cockrell, County Agent for Princess Anne County.

Soil boxes and record sheets for taking soil samples are available from county agents. The amount of lime needed, based on the soil test, should be applied at least 30 days before seeding and plowed or laked into the soil.

In eastern Virginia, pasture seeding time is after the first good rain in September up until October 15.

Details on fertilizing and seeding recommendations are included in Leaflet 40, "Here's How To Seed That Pasture." Free copies can be had from County Agents, says Cockrell.

Farmers interested in various agronomy and other farm problems have neither the time nor the reference materials to find a few everyday facts easily and quickly, says the Agronomy Department at VPI in their recently revised edition of "A Handbook of Agronomy". There is a mass of information available in this handbook, observes Dick Cockrell, Princess Anne County Agent, who has a limited number of these bulletins.

In addition to the Agronomy Department, several other departments have prepared condensed information available in this handbook, observes Dick Cockrell, Princess Anne County Agent, who has a limited number of these bulletins. In addition to the Agronomy Department, several other departments have prepared condensed information available in this handbook, observes Dick Cockrell, Princess Anne County Agent, who has a limited number of these bulletins.

"No where have I seen a better bulletin for farmers than this 'Handbook of Agronomy'. It is one that no farmer should be without," says Cockrell. Copies of this bulletin can be had from the office of County Agent Dick Cockrell, or the County Agent in your county.

A small rise is expected in second quarter car output.

Important Vet Legislation Is Signed Into Law

Called the most important piece of legislation affecting active service personnel and dependents of deceased servicemen before Congress this year, the Survivor Benefits Act was signed by the President last week. The new law, not effective until January 1, 1957, is designed to:

1. Change death compensation to widows generally upward; slightly increase payments for orphans; and provide a scale of benefits to dependent parents subject to their annual income.
2. Bring all men in uniform under Social Security - 2% deducted from service pay with the government contributing another 2%.
3. Revise the 6 months death gratuity to range from a minimum of $300 to a maximum of $3000.
4. Eliminate free coverage of $10,000 under the Servicemen's Indemnity Act, but not to change the right of service disabled to National Service Life Insurance.

Well before January 1, 1957 the VA will send out election forms to persons eligible for death compensation under existing laws, explaining the new benefits, so that the new rates of compensation may be elected if to advantage. "It should be clearly understood that the new law does not change death pension benefits to widows and children of veterans who did not die in service, or die from a service-connected disability.

Nothing takes to the road like a Chevy!

Once in a blue moon a car like this comes along—a design so advanced in performance, so beautifully balanced and so road-worthy that it stands out above every other car on the highway.

It has a solid, sure-footed way of going that makes driving safer and more pleasant on any road. And you feel a very special sense of security in its rapid-fire responsiveness to your touch on the wheel, brakes and accelerator.

You can see that the '56 Chevy is a stand-out for style. But until you have driven one you're missing the best part of the news—the fact that Chevrolet is the smoothest, solidest, most wedded-to-the-road automobile you ever bossed. Try it and see.

You get more car when you buy it . . . more dollars when you sell it! Chevy has the highest resale value of the leading low-priced models.

Va. Press Association To Award Scholarship

At a recent meeting of the Virginia Press Association, they voted to provide an annual scholarship for a printing student at the Danville Technical Institute, Danville, Virginia.

This scholarship is available for the 1956-57 school year. Any young man who is a resident of Virginia and is a high school graduate may qualify for this scholarship if they prove the need for financial aid. Four printing courses are offered by the Danville Technical Institute. The courses provide for linotype operation, press operation, offset printing, or general printing. Information about the printing courses and the scholarship can be secured by writing to the Danville Technical Institute, Kemper Road, Danville, Virginia. The printing classes are not filled for the 1956-57 school year.

CHRISTIAN LOVE
The capacity possess for reacting to our fellowman involves the spirit of hate as well as love. Christian love is not just emotional sentiment, but calls for expression of interest in our fellowman. It is not purely sympathy for it goes into the area of concern.

To be able to express Christian love where hate might predominate demands of us an understanding of the cause of the reaction. To be able to place ourselves in someone else's circumstance opens the way for an understanding of cause and effect.

The Apostle Paul has a strong statement for people with whom he was in disagreement but for whom he was concerned. "And I will most gladly spend and be spent for your soul." This is Christian love in action.

Colonial Quarterly Dividends Declared

Regular quarterly cash dividends of 50 cents and 60 cents on preferred 4 percent and 6 percent stock respectively and 27 1/2 cents dividend on common stock was announced at Colonial Stores Incorporated's headquarters here following a meeting of the Board of Directors in Columbus, Ohio. The dividends are payable September 17, 1956.

1 to shareholders of record August 17, 1956.

The directors met in order to visit and tour the recently opened large, modern warehouse which provides 350,000 square feet of space. A visit to several typical supermarkets operated by the Alberts Division of Colonial Stores was also made after the meeting.

Gains are reported in prosperity of small business.

The inexperienced boatman who is caught out in dangerous waves in a boat 16 feet or under should head exactly into the wave, not from an angle.

ACHING MUSCLES

Relieve pain of tired, torn, aching muscles with STANBACK, tablets or powder. STANBACK acts fast to bring comforting relief... because the STANBACK formula combines several prescription type ingredients for fast relief of pain.

Don't cry, little man, don't cry...

This unhappy little fellow is learning an important lesson—tears do not solve problems.

Life brings many difficulties to the average person, often heavy burdens of responsibility, grief, and pain that must be met without compromise.

But there is a wise solution for all of us if we fortify ourselves with qualities that will give courage, faith, and hope in the face of all trouble.

In hours of stress and anxiety, the Christian religion is a rock of refuge. In the Church you will find spiritual strength, guidance, and enduring comfort. Go to God's House and put your trust in Him.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four solid reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

NEWS FOR VETERANS

Veterans training under the Korean GI Bill may not draw GI unemployment and GI training pay at the same time, since simultaneous use of the two GI benefits is illegal, Veterans Administration said.

Even though a veteran is not working while taking Korean GI Bill training, he still would not be eligible for the unemployment allowances.

Unemployment payments are limited to Korea veterans actively looking for work, who are not receiving GI training benefits, according to VA.

A veteran who, for any reason, does draw both payments at once would be required to return his unemployment allowances to the State from which he received it. Also, under the law, he may be liable for a fine of up to $1,000, or imprisonment of up to one year, or both.

Unemployment pay - administered by the U. S. Department of Labor through the States may range up to $26 a week for a maximum of 26 weeks.

GI training allowances - handled by VA range from $110 to $160 a month, for veterans in school fulltime. Lower monthly rates are paid to part-time trainees, and to veterans training on-the-job or on-the-farm.

Q - If a Korea veteran suffered a mental illness within two years of discharge from service, would he be admitted to a VA hospital on the same basis as a service-disabled or a non-service-disabled veteran?

Increase In College Age Population

America by 1975 will be a land in which there will be a tremendous increase in college-age population.

The National Association of Manufacturers cites a report by the Wall Street Journal concerning this.

The report said, in part, that "experts on the matter report that college-age population will jump 33 per cent in the next ten years and 73 per cent by 1970."

"The person who told us your food was the best on the Beach knew exactly what they were talking about," so said Esther Jolly, of Salem, Virginia, after a recent meal at the Colony Restaurant on Atlantic Ave. in the Jefferson Hotel building.

This patron's remark is typical of many who have discovered the enjoyment and fine food to be had at the Colony. (ADP.)

Near Top of List of Insect Bugaboos

Japanese Beetles Are Troublesome In State

Japanese beetles are near the top of the list of insect bugaboos for Virginia farmers this week.

Throughout the state, the beetles are feeding on silks of corn, ornamentals, grapes and other plants. They also are troublesome on truck crops and fruit trees in eastern Virginia.

To control the beetle on corn not to go into ensilage, spray the borders of fields with hand sprayers or power sprayers using two quart per acre of 25 percent DDT emulsion concentrate in water. To control the beetle on soybeans, if victim of earworms, southern corn necessary and practical, use three quarts per acre of 25 percent methoxychlor in 20 gallons of water. The recommended waiting period from application to harvest or feeding is seven days.

Details on Japanese beetle control are available from county agents.

Also currently troublesome is the green June beetle, reported as "swarming by the hundreds" over ladino clover pastures in some counties.

Corn in many counties is the victim of earworms, southern corn stalk borers, corn sap beetles, and European corn borers.

Green peach aphides are causing damage to tobacco, and farmers are advised to be on the lookout for them.

Both truck and home gardeners are being bothered with the usual seasonal bevy of bugs. As with pests, county agents can give recommendations on control.

President Eisenhower said the North Atlantic Treaty alliance was "as strong as ever" on its seventh anniversary.

BUSINESS REVIEW AND FINANCIAL PAGE

Eastern Finance Company In New Office Here On 17th Street

Eastern Finance Corporation opened its Virginia Beach office on Monday, August 6th at 306 17th Street. This is the 12th office opened by the growing organization since the first unit began business in Newport News. The company presently operates in the following cities: Norfolk, Portsmouth, Newport News, Hampton, Petersburg, Williamsburg and Roanoke.

From 1918, when Virginia adopted the Small Loan Act, to this year loans were limited to $300.00. The recommendation of the Virginia Advisory Legislative Council to increase the maximum to $600.00 was approved and put in force in February, 1956. This law enables the borrower to obtain the interest approved of 2 1/2% on loans up to $300.00 on the unpaid balance would remain, on amounts over $300.00 the rate would be 1 1/2%. This enables the borrower to save in interest charges by having one loan of $600.00 bearing an interest instead of two $300.00 loans with two different companies.

Supervised by the Bureau of Banking, the company is a member of the Virginia State Assn. of Small Loan Companies, National Consumer Finance Assn. and the local merchants organizations. The local office is under the supervision of Arthur T. Smith, whose headquarters is in Newport News. The small loan subsidiaries lend money primarily to wage earners and people earning moderate salaries engaged in widely diverse occupations. Among the important causes creating the borrower's need for cash are unusually large and unforeseen expenditures and temporary loss of income from employment due to illness or other circumstances which result in the accumulation of unpaid bills. Loans made by the subsidiaries are frequently used by the borrower to discharge a number of small debts. In this way, the borrower substitutes one obligation requiring a single monthly payment within his income ability in the place of a number of debts requiring periodic payments, the sum of which in the aggregate exceeds his ability to pay from income.

A recent meeting of the board of directors of the company authorized issuance of $500,000 in 10% convertible debenture bonds. Seaboard Citizens National Bank of Norfolk was named trustee. This offering was sold and subscribed to within 90 days after being presented to the public. The Bank of Virginia Beach is the local depository for Eastern Finance Corporation.

The executive officers and directors of Eastern Finance Corporation are: F. W. Bowler, president, A. T. Schlutz, vice-president, E. R. Bowler Sr., vice-president, L. O. Morris, secretary-treasurer, all of 116 34th Street, Newport News, Virginia and Thomas H. Wylie, National Bank Building, Charlottesville.

Establishing the Virginia Beach office a spokesman for the company stated that the results of a recent survey — with the cooperation to City Manager Hatchett, Commissioner of Revenues Smith, Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, the Virginia Beach SUN-NEWS and others — revealed that there was the need for such a loan institution to serve the people of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County. Before issuing a charter for such an operation, the Bureau of Banking of the State of Virginia always makes such a survey independently to establish the need and determine the company's reliability and responsibility in both operation and financial resources. The surveys have further strengthened the fact that this area's recent development and growth in population, business and construction in the past decade will continue.

The leasing of the company's office was handled through the firm of Kellam & Eaton Inc. Inquiries concerning financial problems and loans are invited. The company takes pride in courteous attention and prompt service. Its loan portfolio at present reflects that the Corporation has extended to several hundred individuals and businesses hundreds of thousands of dollars in helping them meet emergencies in addition to its civilian clientele. L. M. "Bud" Rothwell, a resident of Virginia Beach with more than twelve years experience in the Small Loan and Consumer Finance, is Manager. The office is located at 306 17th Street, telephone Virginia Beach 4373.

The MIXING BOWL..

IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food fads and foibles... for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucile Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

Spring and Summer, Fall and Winter. On food that suits all menus, regardless of season, is the popular fish stick. Especially adapted to summer meal, planning because of its ease of preparation and quick cooking. Sticks are favorites of the entire family, which brings us to this summer luncheon menu for mother and children, suggested by the National Fisheries Institute.

Cheesy Fish Sticks
Scalloped Potatoes Fresh Vegetable Salad Apple Sauce Brownies Milk Iced Coffee

Scalloped Potatoes: Slice pared potatoes very thin. Cover with cold water; then dry between absorbent towels. Butter a shallow baking dish. Sprinkle the bottom with dry bread crumbs. Cover with half the potato slices. Dot generously with butter or margarine. Sprinkle with salt and paprika. Cover with a layer of the rest of the potatoes. Dot with butter and onion again. Sprinkle with butter, salt and paprika. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) for about one hour or until the potatoes are tender. Serve garnished with parsley.

Cheesy Fish Sticks: Ten minutes before the potatoes are done, arrange fish sticks on a baking sheet; sprinkle with freshly grated American cheese and heat through. The curious creature we know "crab" as sisters, cousins and aunts galore—uncles, too. Quite a family for one shellfish. In marketable size, crabs range from the little blue crab to the giant king crab from Alaska. Even the little blue has two forms, soft shell and hard shell. It's the same animal, which must be kept fresh, frozen crab to be kept in a freezer until used, or canned crab, which keeps indefinitely on a pantry shelf, ready at a moment's notice for delectable dining. Although crab meat is expensive, there is no waste, and it is extremely versatile—salads, creamed oysters, croquettes, canapés, newburgs, to name a few of the delicacies. And tops among southern favorites known throughout the United States is the Maryland crab cake, made like this, according to a National Fisheries Institute recipe.

MARYLAND CRAB CAKE
2 cans crabmeat
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1/2 cup soft butter or margarine
1 small onion, minced

Summer brings dreams of the big ones that don't get away. But if you dream in vain, your fish market has beauties for you. The kind you find depends on where you live. Lake trout, red snapper, salmon, catfish, striped bass, rockfish, lingcod, and many others—each is available somewhere, according to the National Fisheries Institute. If seeing your favorite fish makes you dream some more, this time of a handsome stuffed specimen—one platter, of course, not on the wall, here's the recipe just for you. It's for lake trout, but can be used with any 3 to 4 pound fish, dressed for stuffing and baking.

1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
2 cups coarsely broken cracker crumbs

Drain crabmeat, pick over and remove any bits of membrane. Mix with remaining ingredients. Shape into cakes (1/2 cup for each cake). Fry in small amount of fat until brown on both sides. Makes 8 cakes. To make only 3 cakes, halve all ingredients.

Tho' this recipe maybe a Maryland recipe but you can grab right down here in our "own backyard" you know where I mean. Lynnhaven, Rudee, Long Creek Narrows, or so many places—and catch a bushel of crabs in a very little while, watch the tides for I've been told they bite better on the incoming tide. Steam the crabs pick the meat out, and prepare it by the Maryland Crab Cake recipe or your favorite recipe. Here's a recipe for Deviled Crab.

2 cups crab meat
1/2 stick butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour - (rounding)
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk
1/2 cup bread crumbs - (fine)

Melt 1/2 stick of butter or margarine over low heat, blend in flour, then seasonings, lemon juice and milk; stir and blend thoroughly. Cook, stirring, all the while until thickened, very thick do not let scorch, if you do, just throw it away for it will ruin your Deviled Crab. Mix with crab meat after sauce cooks, add dash of Worcestershire sauce to your liking. Fill 2 well cleaned crab shells or individual casserole, top with bread crumbs that have been mixed with the 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine. Bake 10 minutes or until hot thru, in moderately hot oven. This will make filling for 6 crab shells or 4 individual casserole (small).

Summer brings dreams of the big ones that don't get away. But if you dream in vain, your fish market has beauties for you. The kind you find depends on where you live. Lake trout, red snapper, salmon, catfish, striped bass, rockfish, lingcod, and many others—each is available somewhere, according to the National Fisheries Institute. If seeing your favorite fish makes you dream some more, this time of a handsome stuffed specimen—one platter, of course, not on the wall, here's the recipe just for you. It's for lake trout, but can be used with any 3 to 4 pound fish, dressed for stuffing and baking.

BAKED STUFFED TROUT

Select a fish weighing 3 to 5 pounds. Have fish dressed. Clean, rub salt inside and out and stuff with bread stuffing (recipe below). Fasten together with skewers, or sew with string to hold in place. Brush with melted fat, and place in a baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 40 or 50 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork.

BREAD STUFFING
2 cups bread cubes
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon thyme or marjoram
1/2 medium onion, minced
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Mix bread cubes, seasonings and onion. Add butter slowly, tossing lightly with a fork until blended.

Most everyone has pushed over the fact that a particular fish has more than one name. Take, for example, ocean perch which is also called "rosefish" and "redfish." Then there's striped bass, known as "rockfish" around Chesapeake Bay. Here's another to mix up. The National Fisheries Institute says that pollock is sometimes called "bluefish" or "Boston bluefish," although they really is a bluefish often designated as "genuine bluefish." While writing on the subject of pollock, which by the way, is plentiful right now, here are a few more interesting facts about this plump, shapely fish. Although pollock is a member of the cod family, it swims at all depths, often at the surface like mackerel, breaking water like a porpoise. Pollock are fierce and aggressive and feed on young cod and herring. Regardless of its tough attitude toward other fish, however, it is tender-meat and firm-fleshed, making it ideal for filleting, packaging and freezing to be shipped to all parts of the country, for appetizing summer meals like this one of pollock fillets broiled with a nut sauce.

POLLOCK WITH NUT SAUCE
One pound fillets will make three servings. If fillets are frozen, let them thaw on refrigerator shelf or at room temperature. Wipe fillets with damp paper towel. Pre-heat broiler and broiling pan. Place fish on pan. Brush with melted butter or margarine. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Broil 10 to 15 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serve with a mixture of melted butter, nuts and a little lemon juice.

"The Bad Seed" On Stage At Theatre-Go-Round This Week

One of the most exciting plays this season to be presented at Lesley Savage's "THEATRE-GO-ROUND", Virginia Beach, is "The Bad Seed", which opens on Tuesday, August 7th and plays thru Sunday, Aug. 12th.

"The Bad Seed" is a wonderful dramatization of William March's best selling novel, and was adapted for the stage by Pulitzer Prize playwright, Maxwell Anderson. The play concerns Rhoda Penmark, a little girl of 10, who is sweet, charming, lovable. However, when Rhoda gets involved in the "accidental" deaths of three different people, her mother becomes concerned. She wonders whether her seemingly perfect, adorable child has in any way been responsible for these "accidental" deaths.

To tell more of the story might give the plot away. However, it can be stated that this is certainly one of the finest-written taut plays, full of suspense — yet with enough humor and comedy relief — to hold an audience on the edge of their seats. It has just finished a long run on Broadway where it played to packed houses for more than a year, and Miss Savage is happy to be able to present her production at Virginia Beach so soon after the Broadway run.

Featured in the cast will be RICA MARTENS, who plays the mother of the child, Rhoda. Miss Martens has been with Theatre-Go-Round for four seasons. She has come much radio & tv work and appeared on Broadway in "The Shrike" with Van Heflin.

The part of Rhoda, the child, will be played by little Diane O'Connor of 1607 Maple Ave., Portsmouth. Diane won the prize part over 30 other contestants who read for Romeo Muller, the director. Other members of the cast are: Paulette San Marchi, Tony B-

Virginia Has Out Of State Travel Increase

VIRGINIA has had a monthly increase in out-of-state passenger car travel for 19 consecutive months, compared with the same month of the previous year. Between 1949, the first year of the Virginia Travel Council's operation, and 1955, the last fiscal year for which we have State Highway Commission figures, the increase ran as high as one year as 16 percent over the preceding year.

HUT, the last big year of increase was fiscal 1953, when "foreign" travel jumped 6.10 per cent. At this time virtually every state in the Union avails to the fact that travel in big business.

KENTUCKY appropriated $400,000 for the year and began to approach central western business down U.S. 25. FLORIDA raised its appropriation to $1,000,000. NORTH CAROLINA began to concentrate approximately $250,000 a year in publicity and advertising, with the Great Smokies, Asheville and Blue Ridge Parkway as principal travel destination targets. (The result of this has been felt in Southwest Virginia, particularly along U.S. 11).

TENNESSEE began also to treat travel as a major source of income with $250,000 a year appropriated for advertising. MISSISSIPPI, which had cut out its advertising for a year, and had a disastrous season as a result, got back into the picture with a large advertising fund. NEW ENGLAND FORD DEALERS discovered they had to do something and consequently put $250,000 a year in the pot to advertise the New England, and the NEW ENGLAND COUNCIL, re-evaluated its program, raised a large advertising fund went to work to get travel grade. NEW YORK also appropriated $500,000 to bolster its slipping travel business, and New York City accommodation financed its Convention Bureau in an all-out effort to bring tourists to New York City. (New York City has started to cut deeply into its school graduation four business).

WHAT HAS BEEN THE RESULT?

Our passenger cars from other states visiting Virginia continue report for fiscal 1954, our increase was cut to 2.10 per cent, and in fiscal 1955, our increase over 1954 was only 0.11 per cent (less than a third of one per cent).

For the year ending June 30, 1956, the Virginia Travel Council believes that the State Highway Commission's figures will show that our overall out-of-state travel will show a slight decrease, for the first time in eight years.

It is to be hoped that the Jamestown Festival Year, the results of which will be split in the fiscal years of 1957-58, will bring travel back in the column of a growing industry.

While Virginia has $75,000 more for the current year to spend on advertising, we point to increases almost everywhere among the other states in paid advertising appropriations. MISSOURI raised its travel advertising this year from $800,000 to $1,000,000. FLORIDA has announced it will request $2,000,000 for all future years.

It is in the face of these figures that the Board of the Virginia Travel Council recently adopted resolutions to begin a campaign at once to get Virginia's next legislative session to raise the state advertising fund to $500,000 a year.

FORT STORY NEWS

The new commanding officer of the 10th Transportation Battalion here was once commanding officer of Korea's northernmost post.

Lieutenant Colonel E. A. P. McCarthy commanded Fort Story, north of the 38th parallel, for nearly a year after the truce that ended the Korean conflict. He called his task of directing the reconstruction of the almost demolished post his "most interesting Army job." For his work at Sokchuri, the post commander received a letter of appreciation from the governor of Yang-Yang District, which included the post.

Colonel McCarthy assumed command of the 10th Battalion Fort Story July 10. He replaced Major Herman Nadler, who remained with the organization as executive officer.

The new commanding officer's assignment before coming here was as chief of staff of the Rail and Highway Division, Transportation Traffic Regulating Group in Yokohama. He also served in the Office of the Chief of Transportation in Washington for a year as chief of the Training Section, Terminal Services Division.

McCarthy was born in White Oak, Ga. He graduated from Brunswick High School in Brunswick, Ga., and later from Clemson College. He is a graduate of the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga., the Command and General Staff College and the Transportation School's Associate Advanced Officers' Course.

The Colonel, his wife and four children (two boys, two girls) live in London Bridge, about five miles southwest of Fort Story.

Some 487 Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets from colleges and universities all over the nation completed three and one-half days of intensive training in amphibious vehicle operations here July 27.

Fort Story conducts almost all the U.S. Army's wheeled amphibious vehicle training.

The instruction here climaxed six weeks of ROTC training conducted by the Transportation Training Command at Fort Eustis and Fort Story. The cadets returned to Fort Eustis the afternoon of the 27th.

The officer trainees arrived here July 23 in time to be oriented on Fort Story and their training the following period they received a 36-hour course of instruction in amphibious operations.

In amphibious training, the instruction here emphasized six weeks of ROTC training conducted by the Transportation Training Command at Fort Eustis and Fort Story. The cadets returned to Fort Eustis the afternoon of the 27th.

The officer trainees arrived here July 23 in time to be oriented on Fort Story and their training the following period they received a 36-hour course of instruction in amphibious operations.

The cadets also attended lectures and participated in practical exercises dealing with amphibious safety, beach control, night and day sand surf DUKW driving, mooring and cargo handling.

The cadets wound up with an actual eight-hour amphibious cargo transfer operation.

ROTC training here was supervised by Major General Rush B. Lincoln Jr., Transportation Training Command commanding general and ROTC camp commander. Deputy commander is Lieutenant Colonel George Barry, professor of military science and tactics at John Carroll University, Cleveland.

Some of the instruction was observed by Major General Rush B. Lincoln Jr., Transportation Training Command commanding general and ROTC camp commander. Deputy commander is Lieutenant Colonel George Barry, professor of military science and tactics at John Carroll University, Cleveland.

Representatives from eight of 12 colleges and universities represented by the cadets also observed portions of the training here.

An Army helicopter pilot from Fort Eustis was praised by spectators who saw him make an uneventful forced landing on East Ocean View Beach near Fort Story July 27th.

His H-26, with five military and civilian educators aboard, was forced down about 2:05 p.m. because of engine trouble. No property damage or personal injuries resulted and, according to impressed witnesses, nobody was even endangered.

Lieutenant Malcolm S. Shryer, the pilot, and his passengers all of whom had been at Fort Story observing training of the ROTC cadets, were picked up shortly afterwards by another helicopter from Fort Eustis.

Shryer was formed down by failing manifold pressure. A witness said no swimmers or sun bathers were damaged. "The pilot seemed to have done a good job of picking his landing spot," he told local newspapers.

With 487 ROTC cadets for summer training professors and officials from a number of colleges have been visiting to observe the training.

Specialist Third Class Edward E. Sexton of Fort Story's 839th Transportation Company was selected as the post soldier of the month of August. Sexton is assigned as his company's training NCO.

Invitations for bids for the construction of 150 Capehart Houses at Fort Story and for 124 houses at nearby Nike sites were asked by the Army July 25.

Bids are scheduled to be opened August 16 in the Norfolk District Engineer's office. The two contracts are expected to cost about $3 million.

Army Chief of Staff General Maxwell D. Taylor and Mrs. Taylor spent last week-end quietly at this small Army Transportation Corps installation. An Army spokesman said the visit was "strictly unofficial."

Farmers Urged To Ready Calves For Fall Market

Livestock men who want top profits when they sell their calves this fall have a few chores ahead of them.

Whether you plan to market through Virginia's series of organized feeder calf sales this fall, or sell privately, it is time to be getting calves ready for public appraisal.

Some areas in the state are again drought-stricken. Farmers who are short of pasture, are advised to cull calves which will not grade at least medium and sell them for local use. The cow market has held up, and Litton says it would be a good idea to also sell some of the old cows.

Feed owner who are in need of additional pasture or feed are also advised to consider crop feeding. Two months crop feeding will help bolster both weight and grade of calves. In last year's sales, there was an average difference of around $10 a head between good and choice, and between medium and good grade calves.

All the organized sales plan this fall will require proper castration and dehorning. Litton says any time an open wound from either dehorning or castrating is made in the summer, it is necessary to use a good fly repellent, preferably one which contains tar and bone oil so it will stick.

There are certain health requirements in all the fall feeder calf sales, so check with your county agent to be sure your calves will qualify. If you sell privately, it is still a good idea to be sure your herd is tested and free from disease.

VPI Holstein Herd Has High Production

Announcement has been received from the Holstein-Friesian Association of America of the completion of a top lactation average by the registered Holstein herd belonging to VPI.

The program provides individual lactation and lifetime production records on every registered Holstein cow in the herds enrolled. Such records are valuable tools in the constant selection of individuals which must accompany a successful dairy cattle breeding program. The 65 cows in the VPI herd averaged 13,503 pounds of milk and 496 pounds of butterfat on a two milking a day - 305 day - mature equivalent basis.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., 81, has retired as chairman of the General Motors Corporation.

Cattle Price Outlook Bright

Virginia livestock men, along with those throughout the nation, can expect some summer and early fall strength in the fed cattle market.

Forecast on the fact that feeders in the main feeding states had 10 percent fewer cattle on feed the first of July than they did a year ago. The figures represented a drop of 22 percent from the number on feed on April 1 of this year.

Reason for the drop in number on feed during the April-June quarters stemmed from 8 percent heavier slaughter. In the face of this, only 5 percent more feeder cattle were placed on feed over last year.

Most of the decrease was in heavy cattle on feed - compared with April 1. Cattle which had been on feed three months or more were down 18 percent from last year; those on feed less than three months were up 4 percent. The increase in short feeding apparently was concentrated mainly in the West.

Supplies of finished cattle in the last half of 1956 will be less than a year ago by a significant amount although total cattle slaughter will be about equal to last year.

Spreads between grades have narrowed since winter, but this trend is about to reverse. Supplies of lower grade cattle will pick up. And supplies of upper grades will decrease relatively.

If the trend toward stepped-up short feeding spreads, it could bring some tapering off in the choice cattle prices toward the end of the year.

Home Orchardist Can Use General Purpose Pesticide

General purpose pesticides now available greatly improve the home orchardist's outlook for clean fruit, free of insect injuries and disease.

The pesticides are sold under various trade names, but should contain about equal parts of malathion, methoxychlor, and captan. According to law, the composition of all mixtures must be stated on the label. The different ingredients may also be bought and mixed at home.

Three major factors determine effective control of fruit insects and disease, whether on a commercial scale or in the home planter. These are the use of effective pesticides, the proper timing of applications, and thorough coverage with the spray or dust.

A spray schedule for the home orchard is available free from county agents, or from the VPI Agricultural Extension Service, Blacksburg. Ask for Circular 638.

Folk Festival In Stadium For Three Night Performance

When Bascom Lamar Lunsford and his hundred or so Smoky Mountain Dancers, singers, and players open the 3 night Folk Festival at Virginia Beach, the program is going to be as packed with talent and entertainment as his memory is with ballads—and a special attraction is going to be CBS radio star "Sunshine Sue." By chartered bus and car these highly skilled mountain performers have been coming into Virginia Beach from the Smokies and The Blue Ridge—dance teams, fiddlers, clog dancers, guitarists, string bands and ballad singers—most of them participated in the 29th Asheville Folk Festival which was founded and directed by Lunsford.

Arriving from Washington just in time for the opening night show will be the guest star for Thursday night—"Sunshine Sue." A well known personality of radio and TV, she has a daily radio show on CBS network. She "fem-cies" WRVA (Richmond's "Old Dominion Barn Dance") and is doing a summer replacement stint for WTOP-TV (Washington) on "Pick Temple Clant Ranch Show."

North Carolina's 1955 champion ballad singer and guitarist, Miss Freda English from Laurel River, N. C., will fascinate the audience with her famous old folk songs. Recording artists, Mr. and Mrs. Harry West of New York are also featured ballad singers.

"And dance teams—you'll see the prize winning Bailey Team from the plateau between The Blue Ridge Mountains. This spectacular team won the annual trophy in the recent Asheville Festival. Other highly popular teams are The Valdesian Folk Dancers from South Mountain, The Snow Hill Dance Team, The Asheville Team sponsored by The Asheville Jaycees and a local group assembled by Mrs. H. A. Weaver and Mrs. Ruby Hall of Lynnhaven.

There will be instrumentalists galore with names as fascinating as the music they make—Walter Parham, a harmonica player from Grassy Cove, Red Ross and his Dixie Mountain Boys, The Norman Ball String Band from Snow Hill, The Bruce Byrum String Band from Chowan, N. C. and Laman Benton's Gates County Ramblers.

As Bascom Lamar Lunsford says, "It's going to be great—the people coming are fine, really fine." And here is a man who is the expert—after all he has performed before the King and Queen of England—has a repertoire of 7,000 folk tunes with 316 recordings in The Library of Congress. Apply the Saturday Evening Post title him in a six page color spread—"Minstrel Man of the Appalachians"—and fortunate we are to be able to enjoy his mountain festival at the seashore.

Champion Banjoist

George Fegam, above, who is the North Carolina Champion Banjoist will be among the featured stars in the First Annual Folk Festival here this week. The Folk Festival will be staged Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the Virginia Beach Memorial Stadium and is another Golden Jubilee event.

Pr. Anne Club To Present Fashion Show Sept. Fourth

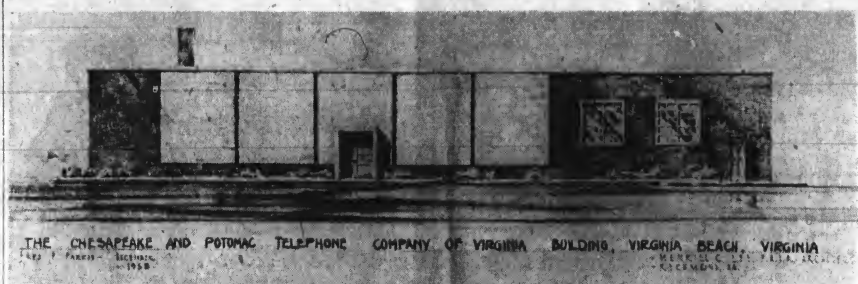

The Woman's Club of Princess Anne County will present "Autumn and Midday Fair" on Tuesday, September 4th, 3:30 p.m., at the Cavalier Beach Club Fashions, which will be furnished by the W. O. Swartz Company under the direction of Mrs. Mary Howell, will be modeled by Pat Posner, Dot Rellly, Barbara Araluce, Mari-ann Edell, Peggy Emanuel, Nellie Ackles, Archie Jackson, Annie Billups, Mary Leesbitter Gladys Davenport, Catharine Legum, Ada Wilson, Martha Ferrell, Jerry Colomda, Ella Williamson and Beanie Howard.

Music will be furnished by the Lou Saks Orchestra and there will be entertainment by Eva Lee Savage and variety dancing by a dance team.

Door prizes will be given by the W. O. Swartz Company. Tickets may be obtained from members of the Woman's Club or from the Swartz Company.

"Sunshine Sue" (do you drip on the s's) who is known coast to coast for her folk music program on the CBS radio network is a real air commuter these days flying between Washington where she is a summer replacement for Pick Temple on WTOP-TV's "Pick Temple Clant Ranch Show" and Richmond where she's built state wide fame on WRVA's "Old Dominion Barn Dance."

In the course of the telephone conversation accepting a guest star spot on Bascom Lamar Lunsford's mountain Folk Festival opening night, she stated she had performed in the Charlottesville festival Lunsford had staged there. The announcement of her participation created quite a stir as the "longhair" had her tagged as a hillbilly singer—it seems the pro and con editorials built up a healthy publicity campaign and a whole of an audience.

This is the artist's conception of the new Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company building being erected at the corner of 32nd Street and Arctic Avenue. ### Blood Program, Rescue Squad Work Together

For the past few years the Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach Rescue Squad and the Red Cross Blood Program have worked together when possible—each realizing the vital importance of the other. The Rescue Squad has their annual drive every year in August and the Tidewater Regional Red Cross Bloodmobile visits Princess Anne County on Monday, August 20th. With Labor Day week-end just a few weeks away it is expedient that the quota is met at the Bloodmobile visit as there are many calls for blood during the weekend due to accidents of all kinds.

The Bloodmobile will be at the Community House, 18th and Arctic, Virginia Beach on Monday, August 20th from noon to six o'clock. Transportation is provided by Red Cross Motor Corps and the Rescue Squad. Anyone desiring transportation or any other information may call the Red Cross office, Virginia Beach 938.

Baby sitters will be at the Community House during the visit. Dr. James P. Charlton of Virginia Beach and Dr. Ira Habcock of Creeds will be the attending physicians. The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Virginia Beach and the Junior Civitan Club of Virginia Beach are co-sponsoring this visit.

A special plea for O negative and O positive and B negative and B positive blood types has been issued by Dr. C. Lydon Harrell of the Norfolk Blood Center.

Beach Junior Chamber Wins Five Awards

The Virginia Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce received five awards at the first quarterly work conference held recently in Staunton.

The five awards topped all other Junior groups of comparable size within the State. The Local Jaycees got first place awards for the Mr. Universe Contest and the Key Man Award. They received a second place for profit making and third place for the beauty pageant. In addition, the local Jaycees chapter received a national award for orientation.

Those attending the conference from Virginia Beach included Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Qualls, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hunter, Miss Audrey Starke, Rhie W. Adams and William Dodson, Jr.

The Submarine Service is young; hardly older than the airplane. Yet since 1900 submarines have sent to the bottom more shipping than all other agents of destruction combined.

Stevenson Has Support Among Virginians-Kellam

Sidney S. Kellam, of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County, secretary to the Virginia Delegation to the National Democratic Convention now being held in Chicago, reported Wednesday from the Windy City that there was strong support for Adlai Stevenson for the presidential nomination among the State's delegates.

Kellam also reported that he thought a Civil Rights plank would be included in the party's platform that would be acceptable to the South and that it would probably be milder than the one included in the 1952 platform.

The local Democratic leader stated that he thought the convention would remain harmonious and that general agreement in all areas would be reached.

When asked if he thought New York's Governor Averell Harriman would ever be acceptable to the South, Kellam said he did not think an answer to that was necessary at this time since he felt certain that the New Yorker would not be nominated. He did say, however, that he did not think Harriman would ever be acceptable to the South.

Kellam indicated that the Virginia delegation would probably give its 33 votes to former Governor John S. Battle on the first ballot.

Kellam has been serving on a liaison committee while in Chicago which is made up of delegates from seven Southern states.

Jamestown Food Service Program Designed for Improvement

A program designed to improve the food services in the Jamestown-Williamsburg area is being carried out by the State Health Department in preparation for the 1957 celebration of the 350th Anniversary of the Landing at Jamestown.

Dr. Mack I. Shanholts, State Health Commissioner, points out "the tremendous responsibility imposed on the State and local health agencies in maintaining safe food service for not only Virginia's citizens but for the millions of visitors expected during 1957."

Commenting on the crowds of people who will visit Jamestown, Dr. Shanholts said, "these visitors will need food and lodging and will often take existing facilities." He also noted that about one-half the food establishments in Virginia (5,000) are located within a 75-mile radius of Jamestown.

For this reason, the State Department of Health, through the Bureau of Tourist Establishment Sanitation, and in cooperation with city and county health departments and owners and managers of licensed food establishments, is engaged in a program to improve the food services in that area, particularly during the Jamestown Celebration.

The program includes food managers seminars and food service personnel classes which have been held in practically every community in the area. There is an accelerated inspectional service to assist managers to determine refrigeration and storage need, to appraise the adequacy and efficiency of their food establishments.

Va. Beach Wins Safety Award

The City of Virginia Beach has been placed on the National Safety Council Honor Roll for 1955. It is revealed in a letter from the Governor's Highway Safety Committee.

The award will be presented to the city on Thursday, August 16, by a field representative of the Governor's Committee. The presentation will be made to Police Chief Reeves E. Johnson in his office.

It was pointed out that the award is "a well deserved recognition of a job well done."

Safety records during the 1955 year were used as a basis for the award. Virginia Beach's record was outstanding.

Building Here To Bring Dial Phone In 1958

Telephone users in Virginia Beach will be able to dial Norfolk and Portsmouth telephone numbers upon completion of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co.'s new $2 million service office, ground for which was broken last Friday.

W. H. Hiett, commercial manager of the company's eastern division, told a gathering of Virginia Beach civic and municipal officials that the company's plans call for installation of a system that later would make it possible to dial numbers anywhere in the United States and parts of Canada.

Describing the present telephone business in the Virginia Beach area as having "boom proportions," Hiett traced the history of telephone service at the beach from the first telephone booth installed in 1901 to the present.

As for the close of business yesterday, there were 11,056 telephones in the area, of which 1,000 were in the Virginia Beach office.

After the introduction of guests by L. F. Patrick, manager of the Virginia Beach area office, and the address by Hiett, Virginia Beach Mayor Frank A. Dusch and Harold B. Kellam, president of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, each spoke briefly.

Mayor Dusch turned the first spadeful of earth on the lot at 32nd St. and Arctic Ave. where the building will be constructed.

Plans call for completion of the building in about nine months, after which some $1,153,000 worth of dial service machinery will be installed.

Voice Of America To Broadcast Folk Festival Program Here

In a telephone conversation with the publicity chairman of The Golden Jubilee, Duncan McCloud, special Events Officer of The Voice of America stated that The Folk Festival would be personally covered by representatives of two branches of their agency along with necessary recording engineers.

The French Language Service of VOA will be covered by Mr. Kenneth Watson while Mr. Harold Boxer, head of the Music Service will cover the festival for the music library. This library makes tapes available to all of the 43 language services which VOA broadcasts around the world.

WBOF, Virginia Beach Radio Station will also record interviews in the English broadcast all around the world by Voice of America.

The Voice of America is really The International Broadcasting Service of the U. S. Information Agency which is directly responsible to the President of the United States. Although a separate agency, it takes foreign policy guidance from the State Department. The VOA's purpose is to give the true facts and news of American and International Development and an honest picture of America by these features. It devotes a lot of time to religious, community, culture, education and American activities. It interprets not only American life but its foreign policies.

Listeners the world over—a major purpose of this world agency is to expose and counteract communist propaganda which misrepresents the facts about the US and the truth about life in communicative countries.

Broadcasting predominantly news, which is what people want to hear inasmuch as 75 per cent of the programs are beamed to countries behind the iron and bamboo curtain.

Supplementing this basic news are political commentaries, press reviews, features on all aspects of American life, particularly cultural activities as the agency considers this one of the best ambassadors any country has. Folk music is a universal language in that it originated in the old countries. It is an important aspect inasmuch as it refutes communist allegations that we are only a materialistic society devoid of culture.

Programs are beamed to every country in the world by a network of 78 transmitters. These have a transmitting strength of 9,000,000 watts which is more than all the radio stations in America combined. VOA has 14 studios in Washington where most of the programs for overseas listeners originate in the 43 languages.

Stage, Like Folk Festival, To Be Natural

The stage set-up for the Folk Festival will be in keeping with the festival, according to Sarah Wood Williams who is handling the stage and its decoration for the co-sponsoring Kiwanis and Newcomers Club.

Over three hundred trees from the Greenbrier farms will be used to form a back drop that will suggest a mountain scene—the whole effect is to be rustic and untheatrical, said Mrs. Williams, who has a local dance school and is highly experienced in the staging of all types of productions.

The stage will be approximately thirty feet from the bleachers in the Virginia Beach Stadium and the lighting and sound system will be so installed as to give all seats perfect viewing.

Don't Be A Traffic Misfit Is Advice Of Police Chief Johnson

That warning was given to motorists today by Chief of Police Johnson as he discussed the State Road program of the Virginia Beach Police and the Governor's Highway Safety Committee. This program is being conducted in cooperation with the Slow Down and Live Program of the National Conference of State Safety Coordinators.

"Safety on the highway depends to a great extent on the slow down and live program," Chief Johnson said. "Whenever you interrupt this flow, you're in trouble—and so are the drivers around you. Here are a few examples of stunts that will foul up traffic in a hurry."

"Stopping suddenly can cause an aggravating pile-up of the cars behind you. Making a turn from the wrong line is sure to jam things up in the line you barge into. Hugging the bumper of the car ahead makes you a sitting duck for a serious accident if the fellow in front stops suddenly."

Speed is another thing that must be adjusted to the traffic flow, Chief Johnson said.

"If you go barreling down the road faster than the drivers around you, you're likely to tangle with them," Chief Johnson said. "But it's not safe to drive too slow, either. You can throw a monkey wrench into the traffic pattern if you force every other car on the road to take chances getting around you."

"He advised motorists to drive at a rate of speed that fits in smoothly with the speed of the cars around them. He said this is especially important when driving on superhighways, where higher speed gives the driver less time to think in an emergency situation, and increases the severity of any accident he may have."

"Remember, you're not alone on the highway," Chief Johnson said. "Share the road if you want to stay safe."

Don't Sail Coast Willy - Nilly, Official Advises

Don't sail along a coast willy-nilly. You may be lost as soon as you lose visibility. This trip for the safety of pleasure-craft owners and their guests came today from C. F. Toler, District Manager for Esso Standard Oil Company for this area, from his Norfolk headquarters, as the company announced the free distribution of an "Esso Log". Mr. Toler urged the keeping of an accurate record of the compass course between ports, buoys and other markers—as well as the distance between markers, estimated and actual times it takes to make the runs, and other typical log data.

"If you are re-sailing an old run, for example and foggy weather sets in, an accurate log may be worth its weight in gold," Toler pointed out. "If you know you are on a definite course between two buoys, and you know the time you should pick up the buoy ahead, it will seem as though you are on an old familiar road."

These are the only "sign-posts" on the water. "The 'Esso Log' has been distributed to all of the company's local marine service stations and will be available to owners of pleasure craft on request."

Mr. Toler said it was designed to of the relationship between the compass course between markers, and to "help take the mystery out of the relationship between the various courses—the true course, the magnetic course and the compass course."

Full directions explain how to use the variation from true course, and deviation from magnetic course, in establishing the compass course. Speed or r.p.m., wind effect and information on currents, weather and set conditions are other items that can be included in the spaces provided in the log.

Esso has several other cruising aids which also can be obtained from the company's marine dealers.

It doesn't cost a cent to Take a Ford Test Drive . . . and you may save hundreds!

August to Saving Season at your Ford Dealer's. Buy a deal while he clears his decks for the '57 models.

Would you trade 20 minutes of your time for a saving of hundreds?

Why put off the fun of a Ford Test Drive for a single day? As you know, it puts you under absolutely no obligation. And it may save you literally hundreds of dollars—we'll get to that a little further on.

By a Test Drive we mean more than a once-around-the-block "spin."

We want you to test the power that rocketed Ford to a 500-mile stock car record at Indianapolis... the GO that won the grand prize at NASCAR's Daytona Championships. We want you to feel how this Ford scat pays off in your kind of driving; in traffic, passing on the highway, getting going at traffic lights. We'll put either a Ford Six or a mighty V-8 with up to 225 h.p. at your disposal.

We want you to drive and listen—drive and feel.

That fine-quiet results from sound insulation under the hood, under the roof, in door and body panels—the most insulation in any car at anywhere near Ford's low price.

Some other things that contribute to that smooth, silent, luxury-car ride are things which Ford's leading competitor certainly can't boast: Ball-joint suspension with wide base control arms for better steering, more stabilized wheel alignment... shock absorbers that are mounted to the frame rather than the body.

"Sure," you'll say as you drive along the road. "Feels pretty good—but after all, this car is new." Well sir, when you come in from your drive we'll show you why Ford will stay like new for a long, long time.

We'll show you how Ford has five cross-members (including a "K" member) in its frame. Ford's leading competitor only has two. We'll show you the deep-block Y-like engine design which enables Ford engines to take it.

Now—what you've been waiting for. How can you save hundreds of dollars by taking a Ford Test Drive?

Simply by proving to yourself that there really is a fine car in the low-price field.

You see, the reason a Ford does not cost hundreds of dollars more than it does, is Ford's huge production and the huge volume which we Ford Dealers sell.

There are many cases where "medium-priced" cars claim to be priced within a few hundred dollars of Ford. Remember, however, these prices are usually arrived at by comparing their lowest-priced, models—stripped—with Ford's most expensive models that include all of the comforts of driving.

But enough of this talk. Come in. And you do the driving and the talking. Bring the family, too.

American Little League

By BUDDY LYONS

After a complete washout of Friday night's American Little League games the league feeding cubs continued their winning ways by trouncing the Tigers 11 to 7. The Rotarians topped the Sports in the other half of the twin bill by the same score.

The Tigers had the makings of an upset going against the Cubs when they took a 3 to 0 lead in the second inning as a result of three base on balls, one Cub error and a two base knock off the bat of shortstop Walker.

The lead was short lived as the Cubs came back in the top of the third frame for six runs by virtue of four base on balls issued to Crosby, Lucas, B. Jones and Ingram who were played on hit shy Braithwaite, D. Jones, Leary and Standing. Leary's two bagger was the big hit of the inning.

The Tigers came back in the bottom of the third to knot the score at six all on a walk to Dennis, followed by a home run by Crawford. The stalemating tally came across in the inning when Meredith got on via an error by the second baseman which was followed by Jones' hit and two base on balls to Walker and Towle. Three runs by the Cubs in the top of the fifth and two additional markers in the sixth put the game on ice. The fifth inning tallies resulted from four base on balls, a hit by D. Jones and two Tiger errors. The two markers in the sixth came as a result of D. Jones home run after Lucas got a free ticket to first base. The Tigers in the sixth came as a result of hits by Malherbe and Dennis and walks to Berry and Adams.

The Rotarian-Sport game was limited to three and a half innings being called on account of the 9:30 curfew. The Rotarians wasted no time in taking a corresponding lead in the bottom of the first inning on five hits, two base on balls and two infield misplays on the part of the Sports. Hits for the inning were contributed by Reid, D. Bill, Hubbard, Potter and White. Two more runs were added by the winners in the next inning to make it 9 to 0 when Tabet led off with a walk, followed by a hit by Malherbe and another pair of walks issued to Norman and Potter and a sacrifice fly out by Hubbard. The Sports made a contest of it by closing the gap to 9 to 7 when they scored all their game's runs in the top of the 3rd getting but one base hit. They were aided by the wildness of the two Rotarian pitchers. Potter and base on balls in the inning. The only hit came off the bat of Clark, Sport third baseman.

The Rotary added two more markers in their half of the third on a two base hit by D. Bill, a single by Hubbard, walks to Norman and Lacourse, and an infield bobbie by the sport first baseman.

The curfew shortened game ended about the top of the fourth inning struck out the side.

First "Souped-Up" Fuel Oil In Tidewater

George Gilliam, Jr.

The man who is credited with making available to the Tidewater area, a fuel oil with tremendous savings in household use, and avoidance of untimely breakdowns in heating equipment is George Gilliam, Jr., owner-operator of Atlantic Fuel Oil Co. of Virginia Beach.

Gilliam, a native of Franklinton, N. C. entered the oil distributing business at the beginning of 1955. Prior to this, he was in charge of Southeastern export sales for a major cigarette company. Since founding the Atlantic Fuel Oil Co., Gilliam has consistently made improvements in modernizing the operation of supplying household customers with fuel oil and burner service.

Gilliam's company is the "exclusive user" of "ROCKET 303" in the Tidewater area.

Home Heating Plan Features Free Insurance

So certain of the advantages to the householder in the use of High Quality TEXACO Fuel Oil treated with "Rocket 303" is George Gilliam, operator of Atlantic Fuel Oil Company, that today he offered a list of novel advantages to old and new customers alike. Gilliam said the new fuel will mean an average saving of 20 percent in the cost of home heating.

"Dehydration and 'Rocket 303' will mean so much in fuel oil efficiency that we are providing a form of Free Life Insurance; offering a reduced cost burner service contract, and at the same time making no additional charge for premium quality household fuel oil."

Insurance protection for regular credit customers of good standing continues throughout the 10 month heating season. Coverage continues as long as previous monthly payments are met as scheduled.

"Although no medical examination is necessary, conditions having their origin prior to 15 days after the start of the plan are not covered in this protection."

The policy covers the unpaid balance in the event of death of the family head.

Free Tank Protection

Hotels, Motels, Homes And School Receive De-hydrated Oil

Virginia Beach, Va., July 27—Fifteen Virginia Beach hotels, motels and schools, and more than 400 residents in the same area this week started to receive Tidewater's first commercial deliveries of High Quality fuel oil treated with "Rocket 303", a revolutionary new additive developed by one of the country's leading research organizations and manufactured by a well known chemical company. ## Virginia Beach First With New Fuel Saves 20%

One of Virginia Beach's major suppliers of fuel oil for household use, Atlantic Fuel Oil Co., has today put into effect a whole new system of operation, including an improved product and guarantees of economy substantiated in the average cost of servicing.

George Gilliam, Jr., operator of Atlantic Fuel Oil Co., announced that starting at once, all fuel oil deliveries by his company will be mechanically de-hydrated through the use of a machine installed on each truck. The de-hydrator was developed in conjunction with the Navy and Air Force during World War II, when it became necessary for use with aircraft fuels, and now is used extensively by major airlines.

The de-hydrators are being used by Atlantic Fuel Oil Co. in conjunction with "Rocket 303," a fuel oil development created to provide less expensive and trouble free fuel oil. High quality fuel oil treated with "Rocket 303" affords an average saving of 20 per cent in household heating costs, according to Gilliam.

"Rocket 303" is added by precise means to every gallon of fuel oil delivered by Atlantic Fuel Oil Co. trucks.

"The additive makes possible economy in fuel oil consumption in that it causes fuel oil to burn more efficiently and at the same time eliminates soot, sludge, water and electrolytic corrosion," according to Gilliam.

Full information on this amazing new development is available by writing or calling Atlantic Fuel Oil Co., Virginia Beach, Phone V. B. 2300. Collect calls accepted from Norfolk and other areas.

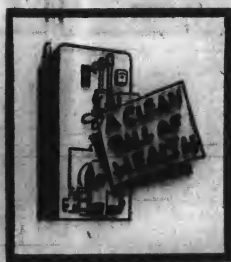

ginia Beach and Princess Anne County fuel oil distributor is the exclusive user of "Rocket 303."

The new treated fuel is claimed to provide a saving in heating costs averaging 20% over conventional fuel oil and at the same time eliminates soot, smoke and condensate.

George Gilliam, Jr., owner of Atlantic Fuel Oil Company said prolonged and continued testing of "Rocket 303" by some of the nation's leading petroleum experts has satisfied the researchers as to the very substantial saving in heating costs. New Eric De-Hydrators, the first in use in Tidewater, have been installed on all Atlantic Fuel Oil Co. rolling stock, to provide a scientifically controlled filter system similar to that used by airlines to remove impurities and condensate from aviation fuels.

CUBMOBILE DERBY

Nearly 100 Cub Scouts from all over the Norfolk area came to Fort Story last Sunday to compete in a "Cubmobile Derby" that brought many of the thrills of the Indianapolis Speedway to this Cape Henry Army post.

The team will be known as the "Cannoners." First Lieutenant Harry Watts of the 3rd AAA Group heads the Cannoners coaching staff. He will be assisted by Second Lieutenant Gordon Polofsky of Fort Story's Special Services Section.

Polofsky said 45 men were trying out for the team. He added that he expected the number of candidates to increase in the next few days.

Watts said a field for the team's home games had not been selected. He announced a 30-game schedule which will be climaxed by a game November 15 with the Norfolk Tars in Portsmouth.

National Little League News

On Monday, August 6, the Little Giants struck out 9 while Sanderlin, having difficulty, struck out 7. The evening game was somewhat of a batter's contest, since neither pitcher struck out a great number of batters. At the end of two innings the score was 4 to 3, favor Little Giants. In the third they increased their score on four walks and a nicely timed double by Moss. On the other hand the Giants did well in their fielding in the third when they set the Pipers aside 1, 2, 3. Beginning with the fourth the Pipers began their climb which eventually resulted in victory for them. On five hits the Pipers made five runs. These scores were sparked by clean hit doubles by Terrell and Bonny. The Pipers at last seemed to have found the range in batting. Going into the sixth the score was Little Giants 7, Pipers 8. The final inning clinched the game for the Pipers as they went on to score 6 runs in five hits. Atwood the first man of the Pipers batting order led off with a double. Terrell got by error only to be followed by three more doubles by Horton, Doody, and Copepode. With one away Michael put over his brothers hand in right field to enable him to go all the way around the bases to score as the Little Giants made an overthrow attempting to stop him at third. The next two batters were retired. Sanderlin was ready to play to the finish, determined to close the gap. With two balls called he let go with a beautiful hit home run which probably cleared the fence by 25 or 30 feet. The Little Giants were unable to follow up on this homer. The final score ended with the Pipers leading 14-8.

In the second game Monday the Thunderbirds took the Pipers by a 21 to 17 score in a game that was obviously not a pitcher duel, but a display of batting power. Doody (Piper) pitched against Jones and Hurst who stood the rubber for the Thunderbirds. Both teams jumped off in the first inning to get two runs apiece. The Pipers moved ahead in the second by one point as Doody took the Thunderbirds to a lead 1, 2, 3. The Thunderbirds answered by moving forward to get three runs on doubles by Russell and Williams. The score 5 to 3 the Pipers rallied behind their pitcher to tally 7 runs in the bottom of the third. Atwood and Bonny led off with doubles. The Pipers were followed by singles credited to Terrell, Horton, Doody, Copepode, and Copepode. The Pipers rallied in a vain effort. Although they acquired a 10 to 5 lead the hammering Thunderbirds bounced back with 5 runs of their own as Doody relaxed a little too much on the mound. While continuing to hold the Pipers down the Thunderbirds jumped ahead with five more runs in the fifth; capped off in the sixth when they tallied for six. The five run fifth inning was especially devastating to the Pipers when Thomas, in his usual batting of the Thunderbirds led them to their 21-17 victory over the Methodist Pipers.

On Wednesday, August 8, two make up games had to be played due to the horse show which took precedence Thursday. Therefore, a total of six games will have been played in the National League at the completion of the week, weather permitting. The first of the make up games was for the Thunderbirds and was relieved by Hurst, whereas Whitehurst went nearly all the way for the J. C. Hawks, but was replaced near the end by Garceau. It was a close fought game all the way, with only small margins between scores. The Thunderbirds stepped off to a two point lead on a double by Thomas and a single by Williams. The second, third and fourth innings were very closely contested. A total of three hits made during that period by both teams, giving proof of the fine ball that was being played. Both pitchers were having difficulty, therefore recognition must be given to the fielding play of each team. In the top of the fifth the Thunderbirds increased their two run lead to 6 runs. Jones got on by error and was aptly punished around the bases by Thomas when he connected for his second two bagger of the game. Williams got a walk which was followed up by a single by Hurst. Rosenbaum was walked out to little advantage for the next three men were retired. In the second half of the fifth the J. C. Hawks narrowed the gap by three runs when White led off with a double, Manos walked and Alphin got on by error. These three runners were given the decisive boost when McGarvey pounced out a double. Thus the J. C. Hawks made three runs to increase their three point lead. Thomas scored once again for the Thunderbirds before the game ended with a very respectable score. Thunderbirds 7 - J. C. Hawks 3.

Babe Ruth League News

The last games of the first regular season of Babe Ruth League Baseball were to be played this week. The League has operated on a split season basis and there will be a play off between the first half winners. The Coca-Cola Cokes, and the second half winners. The best of three series for the League championship is scheduled for next week.

As we go to press, the Everett-Jordan Yanks and the Princess Anne Lumber Dodgers are in a tie for first place as a result of a win for the Yanks over the Dodgers Monday night. Harry Skipp, who was the MVP of the season, has now had 6-3 record but has pitched eight complete games. Skipp was replaced by Charlie Krummel in the fourth inning of Monday night's game.

The second game of Monday night's doubleheader found Manager Sherman Seelinger making a successful debut as the new manager of the Coca-Cola Cokes. Seelinger signed the season when the Cokes' Manager Ricky Culp was transferred by the Navy to the West Coast Manager Seelinger is an old hand at the game of baseball as he formerly coached at Oceana High School when such stars as Skeets Jay, Duck Brantley and John Ray Henley were covering them.

The Cokes responded for their new manager by making up a 13-4 victory over the Tanker Station Spots. Talley, Stanton and Johnny Spunk were the big guns for the Cokes with triples coming with men on base. Mel Fromanberger was the winning pitcher while Eddie Kinker, a left-hander, was the loser.

BABE RUTH LEAGUE PERSONALITIES

Steve Sells—Leftfielder
Tanker Station Spots

Steve is about the largest boy in the league and in spite of his size roams the outfield in fine style for the Tanker Spots.

Sells has been a regular for the Spots since the season opened. He owns a good arm for the throw to home plate and is accurate on his throws to the other bases. John Steve has shown a kind of getting the hit when most needed.

Steve is the son of Mrs. Grace Sells of 51st Street. John Sells—Utility Princess Anne Lumber Dodgers

John is listed at Utility because you never know just where he will be in the Dodge lineup. Stead has played second base, right field, as catcher and on occasions has done a creditable job on the mound for his teammates.

John is one of the smallest players in the Babe Ruth League but holds his own both in the field and at bat. His favorite position is behind the plate, he is a slow and deliberate worker there and never lets his pitcher get in a jam. With a little more power on the throw to score John should be one of the top catchers in the league next season.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Sneed of 416 16th Street.

Williamson when he solidly hit a well placed single between the first and second bases. So ended the scoring for the game. Jones (Thunderbirds) threatened in the fourth after leading off with a double. However, Jones bit hook line and sinker, when Wilson, catching for the Little Giants, faked a dropped pitch to throw Jones out at third. Sanderlin, playing second base, must also be given credit for a beautiful catch made behind first base on a difficult, twisting, high pop-up to put out White in the top of the sixth. Those who saw the game will doubtless agree it was one of the finest displays of defensive play ever put on by either team. Regardless of the outcome each team may feel proud of the game they played.

Bobby Gormy—Shortstop

Everett-Jordan Yanks.

Bobby has been a standout for the Yanks since spring training began. He is a natural at his shortstop position with a good arm and a good motion in fielding and getting the ball away on the long throw from the deep spot. Gormy is tied for the lead in Home Runs and is considered a dangerous man with runners on base.

Bobby was a member of the VBHS Junior Varsity Baseball team last year and should be a welcome candidate for Coach Fred Isaacs varsity this year. Bobby plans to concentrate on a guard position on the football team this year.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Gormy of 2608 Atlantic Ave.

Tuck Flaherty—First Baseman

Coca-Cola Cokes

Tuck has been one of the sturdiest players in the Babe Ruth League this summer. He can really stretch for the low throw and is a very dependable all around player. At bat, he gets his share of hits and for a while was in the first ten. He shows lots of life both on the field and when he is boosting his teammates from the dugout.

Last fall Tuck was one of the members of the VBHS football squad and gained praise from the coaching staff for a job well done.

Tuck is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Finley, Jr. of Ave. "E".

Navy Allocates Over Half of 75 Million for Oceana

The Navy has allocated little over half of the 75 million dollars originally planned for the Oceana Naval Air Station and there are indications that the final value of the master jet base will go "well above" that initial figure.

The growing emphasis on naval air power and the constant addition of new bigger and faster jet aircraft to the fleet indicate that original plans already are becoming outdated.

Oceana originally was designed for operational training facilities for three carrier air groups. During the past year a fourth was added, making a total of 16 carrier-based squadrons operating about 250 aircraft. There are unofficial hints that new squadrons will be added.

Eventually, the three air and anti-submarine squadrons operating out of the Norfolk Naval Air Station will be shifted to Oceana. This is in line with a long-range program designed to reduce the congestion at NAS and will place the station in an "industrial flying" category.

To date, the Navy—with Congressional approval—has spent or allocated almost 44 million dollars in construction at Oceana. This includes the fiscal 1957 appropriation of $5.9 million. The proposed fiscal 1958 budget will request a record-breaking $19.6 million.

This figure, if approved in the Pentagon and Congress, will bring the master jet base to about 85 per cent of completion.

And Hold Your Head Up High...

Violent windstorms each year cause untold damage and loss of life which often can be avoided if a few precautions are taken. Here is how to protect yourself, your family, your property.

Tornadoes
Tornadoes, most destructive of all storms, may appear with little warning. Fast action is necessary to escape their fury.
Safe place to be during a tornado is underground in a storm cellar. Next best is within a reinforced concrete or steel-framed building, near an inside wall away from all windows.

At home, if no storm cellar is near, a corner of the basement nearest the approaching tornado is safest, particularly in wood frame houses. If in a basementless house, seek shelter elsewhere—even an open ditch offers some protection.

Avoid auditoriums, gymnasiums, other buildings having large area roofs relatively lightly anchored. They may collapse.

In open country move at right angles to the tornado's path. Most tornadoes travel at 25 to 40 miles an hour. A person in an automobile can usually outrun one. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest ditch, ravine, or other depression. Don't stay in an automobile which may be rolled over and crushed.

Hurricanes
Hurricanes affect much larger areas than tornadoes, but their winds are not as strong. Adequate warning of their approach is usually available so that precautions can be taken to prevent injuries and damage. Measures which minimize hurricane damage are equally valuable in other windstorms of lesser, but none-the-less destructive, magnitude. The National Board of Fire Underwriters suggests the following precautions:

Before a storm, tune to radio and television broadcasts of latest weather Bureau information. In case of power failure, a battery-powered radio will come in handy.
Go inland. Get away from beaches and the low waterfront which may be swept by storm waves. Hurricanes bring abnormally high tides, high waves.

If your passage to safety is over a road likely to be under water, leave early. Otherwise you may be trapped by high winds and rising waters preceding the arrival of the storm center by several hours. Travel at the height of the storm center by several hours. Travel at the height of the storm is exceedingly dangerous.

If your house is out of danger of waves and is substantially built—anchored to strong foundations and with its roof securely fastened—it's possibly the best place for you to stay.

Don't touch hanging or loose power lines or electric wires. In a storm the live power lines may become entangled with metal fences, telephone and other wires. Contact, in some cases, would be fatal.
Even after water service is restored, it may be wise to boil or sterilize drinking water until otherwise advised by your local health department.

Be careful of fire at all times. Damaged communications may result in a delayed fire alarm, debris-obstructed streets can slow response of fire apparatus, and low water pressure can make fire fighting difficult.

Some Pointers On Boat Handling
What sort of experience will you have if you are caught out in your boat in bad waves?
An article in the August issue of "Sports Illustrated" magazine reports there's only one answer to that: experience operating the same boat and motor in all kinds of waves. Practice in small waves when your boat is new, and you'll be ready for rough water and dangerous waves if they come.

Every boatman has heard the phrase "Head into the waves." But should you do this exactly, directly, or at a slight angle? Experts seem to disagree, but lately most of them appear to favor angling into the waves, perhaps even more than slightly. The inexperienced boatman caught in bad waves in a boat 16 feet or under should head directly into the waves. An angling course may cause the boat to swing around parallel to the waves, about the worst thing that could happen to a small boat in rough water.

A guided missile camera has been developed for the Navy which, it is said, will be able to take as many as 200 pictures a second.

ter. The water supply may fail. A tub filled with water may be useful, too.

One or more windows can be kept open on the lee side—the side opposite that from which the wind is coming—to provide some ventilation and, under certain conditions, to prevent wind damage. If win or flying objects make an opening on the windward side of the building, wind pressure will build up within the building. Having an opening on the lee side will allow this pressure to escape, minimizing the interior forces tending to lift the roof or push out the walls.

Only small openings are advisable as long as the windward side remains intact. But as soon as windows are broken additional openings should be provided on the lee side to help equalize the pressure.

Have a flashlight in good working condition readily available. Be careful of fire. If oil lamps or candles must be used for emergency lighting, use them carefully. In an emergency a bucket of sand can be used to absorb spilled fuel or to smother a small oil fire. Better still would be a fire extinguisher of a type approved for use on flammable liquids. Be sure it is in good condition and you know how to use it.

Have extra food on hand, food that can be eaten with little or no cooking. Remember, electric power failure may leave you without refrigeration.

Emergency cooking facilities should be in safe working condition. Be particularly careful with appliances in questionable condition because of long disuse. They may cause a fire.

After A Storm
After a storm, don't hinder first aid and rescue work. Unless qualified to render valuable emergency assistance, stay away from disaster areas.

If you must drive immediately after a storm, drive carefully. Watch for fallen wires and tree branches. In coastal areas or near swollen streams, beware of washouts and undermined pavement.

Don't touch hanging or loose power lines or electric wires. In a storm the live power lines may become entangled with metal fences, telephone and other wires. Contact, in some cases, would be fatal.

Even after water service is restored, it may be wise to boil or sterilize drinking water until otherwise advised by your local health department.

Emergency Do's Til A Doc Arrives

There are many emergencies that may rise in the field other than those caused by injuries. These "medical emergencies" are just as serious and dangerous as even the worst accident. They can be classified under four general groups: unconsciousness, heart disease, acute abdominal disease and stroke.

Unconsciousness is always a terrifying and frustrating emergency to cope with. There are dozens of causes, but don't rack your brain for them. Your main concern as a first-aid volunteer is to do nothing that will injure the patient. Let him rest flat on his back; with a minimum of handling, inspect for hemorrhage. Under no circumstances should you force any fluid down his throat. If he is cold and clammy, apply heat. If he is hot, apply cold compresses to the head.

Acute heart disease includes coronary artery, heart failure and others. The stricken patient usually collapses, face an ashen gray color, gasp for air. Place on his back in a half-sitting position. Do not let him move. He must not be moved until seen by a doctor. If he vomits, help him so he doesn't choke himself.

Acute abdominal disease includes appendicitis, perforated ulcer, the sudden attack, and many others. The patient in a semi-reclining position with the knees bent and legs supported by a pillow under them. Put an ice pack over the most tender area of the abdomen. Don't permit patient to move about. Don't give anything by mouth, not even water.

A stroke is an interruption of the blood supply to the brain. Symptoms appear on one side of the body. About half the cases of stroke have no warning. The face is flushed, eyes roll out and pupils are unequal in size. Speech may be impaired or impossible and shallow. Facial paralysis may be present. About the only thing to do for cases of stroke is to have general supportive measures. Loosen all clothing and cover the patient's face and head. Place your patient in a semi-reclining position. Don't let him move. If he vomits, help him so he doesn't choke himself. If he has a seizure, turn him on his side and keep his head tilted back. Do not let him move. If he has a seizure, turn him on his side and keep his head tilted back.

To carry out the increased amount of inspections necessary, the sanitation personnel of local health departments will be supplemented by personnel of the State Health Department's Bureau of Tourist Establishment Sanitation, according to Dr. Shanholts. Close surveillance will be maintained to prevent roadside sale of sandwiches, pastries and other food prepared and handled under unlawful and unsupervised conditions. Brunswick slow stations and other food services by organizations not holding a valid permit to operate a food service will be prohibited.

Agency of equipment used in the handling of eating and drinking utensils, and to appraise the standards of personal hygiene among food service personnel.

Dr. Shanholts noted that only food establishments holding valid State Health Department permits will be allowed to operate. He also cautioned individuals or organizations desiring to operate a food service during the anniversary celebration to make application for permits to their local health departments at an early date. This is to allow enough time for the purchase and installation of equipment required of all licensed food establishments for the safeguarding of water supplies, for the installation of approved refuse disposal facilities, for the redesigning or construction of suitable buildings and for establishment of other safeguards," he said.

The Navy is credited with saving more than 200 lives by means of helicopter rescue during Northern California's flood disaster, while Naval Reservists contributed their part by keeping communications open around the clock.

Stressing the importance of providing safe and adequate food services during the Jamestown Celebration, Dr. Shanholts said that "the occurrence of food poisoning outbreaks could not only overtax hospital facilities and cause needless suffering, but also could bring unfavorable publicity to Virginia which might affect visitors to the State in years to come."

'Bare Minimum' Plan from Small Homes Guide

This tiny structure, featured—and enthusiastically so—by SMALL HOMES GUIDE magazine, might be considered the bare minimum in a 100-room house. Designed by Architects Grainger Thomas and Baar, the modern-looking honeymoon cottage is just the thing for the beginning family. In spite of the small size of the house, the rooms are good-sized, and closet space is well planned. Open planning gives a more spacious feeling. Total area is 726 sq. ft. Information on blueprints and their cost can be obtained by writing to SMALL HOMES GUIDE, Dept. 1674, 621 N. Dearborn Street, Chicago 10, Ill.

Waterfowl Food Study Is Now Underway

The 1956 General Assembly, by act of chapter 666 of the Acts of Assembly, among other things directed the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries to expend certain sums of money from its budget in the study of food supplies for waterfowl along the James River between the city of Lynchburg and the town of Columbia. According to C. P. Phelps, chief of the game division, Charles P. Gilchrist, waterfowl specialist of the Commission, is now making a study of the James River with the view of determining whether the present food supply for waterfowl, especially ducks, is adequate or whether there is need for supplementing the food supply in this area of the river.

Gilchrist's report, according to Phelps, will probably be made sometime during the month of September or early October.

Col. Luther Evans Named Chief Of Chaplain Section

The appointment of Colonel Luther W. Evans as chief of the chaplain's section of the Continental Army Command in Hampton has been announced by the Army.

A veteran of 31 years of army service, he graduated in June from the Army War College in Carlisle, Pennsylvania.

The native of Annville, Pa., and alumnus of Gettysburg College and Seminary served in Texas, in the European theatre in World War II, and in Korea. He was commandant of the Chaplain's School, Fort Slocum, N. Y., before going to the war college.

Ordained as a minister of the United Lutheran Church, the chaplain was Lutheran student pastor at West Chester (Pa.) State Teacher College from 1928 to 1934. He has two sons in the army. Both are first lieutenants of artillery specializing in missiles.

Chesapeake Beach Woman's Club Have Successful Festival

The Summer Festival, a Chesapeake Beach event, annually sponsored by the Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach, was held Saturday, August 4, at the Community Center. For the folks at Chesapeake Beach it was a great day of fun and fellowship, for the kids. It was "the most" and for the Woman's Club it was hard work, and the great satisfaction of success. The Club realized a net result of approximately $1200, according to Mrs. Elwood A. Hudson, General Chairman.

It was with many doubts and misgivings that the ladies looked at the skies Saturday morning. The clouds were there all right, but as one good sputter it: "The Lord has been kind to us with sunshiny days for five years, so let's have faith that he will send it for one more." The rain didn't come until Sunday.

To the people of the Beach, the success or failure of this Festival depend on the weather, for it is strictly an outdoor affair. The husbands and neighbors of the Club members put up the booths a day or two before the affair is to take place. The ladies stock the booths with items to be sold on the morning of the Festival, which opens officially at 3 P.M. The coronation of the Festival Queen is promptly at 9 P.M., so it is understandable that Club members can the skies anxiously all that day.

The Bayside Junior Club, which is sponsored by the Chesapeake Beach Club, were a great help in that they helped to staff the booths. The Children's Games were the most popular spot this year. Great fun was had at the Dart Board where balloons were heard popping all afternoon.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Turned Out To Be a Good Break

We had a water main break last Thursday. Happened early in the morning—about two a.m.—and the first thing most of us knew about it was when we tried to turn on the faucets and nothing came out but a hissing noise.

Nobody was inconvenienced much though. Repair crew went right to work—and things were fixed up in 10 minutes.

Incidentally, the water company got a flood of payments on overdue bills that day. Lots of "forgetful" folks must have figured they were being warned!

From where I sit, sometimes obligations slip our minds. Like the responsibility we all have to our communities... to see that our neighbors enjoy the right to decide for themselves how to work, how to vote, whether or not to enjoy a bottle of beer. Any time we "forget" we owe this right to others, we take a chance on stopping the flow of tolerance that makes this country such a grand place for us to live in.

FROM DARKNESS TO DAWN

In the story of creation it is said that there was evening and there was morning, one day. This is a strange way of putting it. We would have made the day begin with the sunrise and ends with the sunset, the light first and then the darkness. To use it is the morning and the evening, making the day.

The Jewish day always begins with the evening in commemoration of the creative order. There is much to be said for it. We begin with the flush of sunlight morning and end in the shadows of the evening. God begins with the radiance of the morning light. With us day ends in night. With God night ends in day.

That God's way of working—out of chaos into cosmos, out of darkness is to dawn. The Bible illustrates this divine procedure. It begins the story of humanity with the dark tragedy of sin and shame and ends in the brightness of the morning star and the promise of the reign of righteousness and love.

SECURITY

Security is everyone's byword in this era of tension, anxiety, and bustling competition. It's the goal of government, industry, business, family, and nations.

Security generally means being sure of something, or even someone. But, no one gets security without giving. It is not self-accomplished. Other people and factors contribute in providing our security.

Above all, God alone is the source of security and serenity. Society cancels out our security with finality when we run afoul of its standards, whereas God endows us with the privilege of obtaining forgiveness and mending our ways.

How secure are we against the disasters and perils of life and against our own imperfections? To find the answer, turn to God's Church where we will find the fountain of security.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and family. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

HOW TO SELECT A MEMORIAL

Many people neglect one of their most important obligations—the erection of a cemetery memorial—simply because they know so little about memorials and feel unqualified to make a suitable selection.

May we suggest that you call for our free booklet "How to Select a Memorial." It pictures over 24 different memorial designs and outlines the seven things which should be taken into consideration in the selection of a memorial.

We also have dozens of memorial designs on display in our office and yards and will be happy to show you these and explain the merits of each. There is no obligation and we'll do our best to help you solve your memorial problems.

The Lost Colony Celebrates 800th Milestone

A deeply appreciative audience, the largest group to see a single performance of The Lost Colony since 1953, were present at Waterside Theatre here Wednesday night when Andy and Barbara Griffith and the entire Company of the show celebrated its 800th milestone.
The colorful celebration came at intermission time during the fullscale performance that was seen by 1,704 paying customers and several special radio and newspaper representatives.
Introduced by General Manager Dick Jordan, the special attraction opened with the entire Company on the stage singing "Auld Lang Syne."
"This 800th milestone gives The Lost Colony the distinction of being the oldest, the longest-lived of all outdoor dramas in the entire world," said Jordan. "We are most grateful to you, our patrons, and to some 800,000 others just like you who made this 800th performance possible."
He congratulated members of the entire Company for the way they have worked to make the show a success. Then he introduced Mrs. Barbara Griffith for a brief interview.
"I have been with The Lost Colony for six years until my now famous husband Andy, became one of the outstanding personalities of America's current entertainment world."
Andy Griffith's introduction brought a roaring applause from the audience and as master of ceremonies he seemed to please the people well, judging from their cheers of laughter and applause. As an encore finale, Griffith said:
"I want to urge you folks who have auto out there on the parking lot to drive slow. Just remember, if speed was all that counted, rabbits would rule the world."

A New Farce by Romeo Muller "The Pink Poltergeist" At Theatre-Go-Round This Week

Romeo Muller, a member of Theatre-Go-Round, has written a new play especially for the group titled "The Pink Poltergeist." It is about reincarnation and psychic phenomena, and a very funny play. He has even written in a part especially for Jumbo, the theatre's mascot, who plays a clairvoyant dog.
The play concerns Harlow Good-year, a young handsome actor from The Actor's Studio (Jay Warren), who falls in love with Mildred Morgan (Martha Howell), while playing summer stock in her home town on Long Island. Their romance has hardly started when it becomes marked by certain violent psychic disturbances every time they come in contact.
Back in New York, Harlow confides in his brother George (Robert Whiting) who is skeptical, but becomes convinced once he witnesses one of these ghostly demonstrations. George works in a public shanty house and he calls it Irene Woodworth (Lesley Savage), a slightly wacky, but wealthy divorcee who has just written a long, unpublizable book on reincarnation and psychic phenomena.
She arrives accompanied by Ensay (Jumbo), her clairvoyant dog, and French poodle. She informs Harlow that the disturbance is being caused by a phenomenon known as a poltergeist. She insists that this poltergeist is a spirit of someone who loved Harlow in another life.
Irene in turn brings Ghent Pontiff (Will Departo), a Long Island railroad conductor who dabbles in hypnotism. He hypnotizes both Harlow and Mildred back to other lives (as in Mary Bernstein in Bridget Murphy). In a dual "hypnotic age-regression" scene which takes place before Mildred's alarmed parents (Paulette San Marchi & Tony Brande), they land in several previous incarnations, before finally finding out where they both existed concurrently. Harlow at one time had been an actor in Shakespeare's theatre. A bar maid at the Mermaid Tavern by the name of Beth, had been his mistress. Mildred had been a pretty little orange vendor who caught the eye of Harlow. Harlow had deserted Beth for Mildred and Beth, a wild passionate Elizabeth hussy, vowed revenge.
Now, after three centuries, she finally has the opportunity to pay off. Irene falls into a trance and the spirit of Beth takes over her body. In a wild, slapstick scene the two displaced Elizabethan hussies slug it out. Beth vows never to let Harlow and Mildred get together.

But by this time Mildred has fallen for George and Harlow has developed more than a passing interest in Irene. The lovers bid a fond goodby and go off merrily to their prospective affairs, much to the dismay of the poltergeist, who finally is persuaded to forget its jealousy and be born again into a life of its own.
The play is full of laughs from beginning and Lesley Savage has given it a fine production. It will play thru Sunday night, August 19th and reservations may be made by phoning Virginia Beach 2730.

Preparations Being Made For State Fair

There's a hum of activity on the sprawling showgrounds at the northeast city limits as preparations are being made for the 1956 State Fair of Virginia, Sept. 21-27.
Ten buildings, of permanent construction, are being completed for eating concessions. Six have been completely rebuilt and three new. They represent an investment of over $20,000. This doubles the permanent buildings for serving of food on the grounds.
To the left of the main entrance gate a transportation center is being laid out. There will be a large hard surfaced area for use of buses and cabs with shelter and benches for patrons. This enlarged area will prevent congestion from those who come by public transportation.
The trailer park has been moved to a new area near the racetrack. Permanent electric, water and sewage connections are provided for 40 house trailers on a hard surfaced lot. Numbered spaces will be assigned to showmen that make use of the facilities during the fair.
The area to the left of the service gate, formerly occupied by the trailers has been converted to picnic grounds for use by fair patrons and organized groups. It has been landscaped and seeded. The parking areas to the rear of the State and commerce buildings have been gravel-treated and marked for orderly parking of exhibitors. The main telephone cable leading into the grounds has been placed underground from Laborum Avenue to a point half way down the main entrance mall.

Notes From Your County Agent

POULTRY FED FISH PROTEIN RESPOND TO ANTIBIOTICS

Poultry will grow faster if given a high level antibiotic along with a diet containing fish solubles, it is indicated in a VPI Agricultural Experiment Station test.

Low levels of the antibiotic made little difference in the rate of growth, and neither high nor low levels stimulated growth of chicks fed a vegetable-protein type diet. The speed-up in the rate of growth was noted up to the time the chicks were four weeks old.

The VPI test in general confirms findings in other states. The growth response does not seem to be peculiar to any one antibiotic or fish product. Aureomycin, penicillin and fish meal were used in the earlier tests. At VPI, terramycin and fish solubles were used.

Hereafter, the use of high levels of antibiotics has been accepted, chiefly, as therapeutic and preventive agents to combat chronic respiratory disease in broilers, and certain other diseases in poultry.

Responses from antibiotics often cannot be predicted. Much has yet to be learned, the researchers say, about the influence of diet and environment on antibiotic responses.

In the VPI tests, location of the chicks in old or new quarters, or the presence or absence of drop-pins in the pens in old quarters, made little difference in the effects of the antibiotics.

The two-year VPI test was conducted by R. W. Engel and E. L. Wisman of the department of biochemistry and nutrition, and C. E. Holmes, of the department of poultry husbandry, and reported in full in the March, 1956 issue of "Poultry Science."

WATCH FOR ARMYWORMS, FARMERS ARE ADVISED

Be on the guard against outbreaks of the armyworm.

That's the advice to farmers from Arthur P. Morris, associate entomologist at VPI. He says there are no definite signs that army worms are in Virginia this year, but outbreaks have been reported in states to the north. The armyworm may kip Virginia this year, but farmers should still be vigilant, Morris says.

Another pest of alfalfa, the spotted aphid, seems to be on the way to plague Virginia farmers. Infestations have just recently been found east of the Mississippi. Be on the lookout for the aphid, too, so trouble can be spotted as soon as possible.

Horse flies and stable flies are increasing and causing trouble for livestock. Farmers can protect their herds by applying insecticides. County agents can give instructions.

The Japanese beetle populations, which have caused injury to many crops this year, are at a peak or have already started decreasing, in most areas of the state. Most of them will be gone by mid-September.

Also on the way out for this year is spider mite damage to soybeans. Rains have provided plants with the moisture they needed to grow out of the damage, and have probably reduced populations some as well.

Green June beetle adult flights are now occurring in most areas of the state, and reports indicate they are unusually heavy.

Tobacco flea beetles are becoming a problem in some areas, and control materials may be needed in some cases. Hornworm populations apparently are increasing, but it is too early to predict a heavy general outbreak on tobacco.

Canada enjoyed the best economic year in its history last year. The 1956 Yearbook of The American Peoples Encyclopedia reports that the country turned a gross national production of $26.4 billion.

FEYER HOGS OUTLOOK FOR FALL, SPRING

A drop of eight percent in the nation's spring pig crop, and an indicated reduction of seven percent in the number of sows to farrow this fall, promises some relief for swine prices, says R. M. Godsey, associate animal husbandman at VPI.

Commercial slaughter of hogs during the first four months of 1956 averaged about 16 percent above the same of last year, but after mid-summer the slaughter rate is expected to drop to last year's level and then later below it.

Virginia figures follow closely the national trend, Godsey says. As a result of the announced decreases in spring pig numbers and the indicated drop in fall farrowings and fewer hogs going to market, Godsey says prices should average at least as high this fall as last, and should not drop to the low level of prices paid producers late in 1955.

Despite the indicated reduction in hog numbers, the specialist points out that total production of meat for 1956 is expected to be three percent above 1955, and meat consumption per person will average about 162½ pounds compared with 161 pounds last year.

Prices paid for hogs will respond to the reduction in supply, Godsey believes. If the seven percent reduction in the fall pig crop occurs and general economic activities continue at the present rate, the price in the spring of 1957 should average above last spring's prices by more than even percent.

Low prices at the present time should not prompt the efficient hog producer to curtail production. Sell hogs when their weight reaches the 200 to 220-pound level, Godsey advises. Guard against procuring over-fat hogs.

WORM FARM WILL PROVIDE FISH BAIT WHEN WANTED

Ever plan a fishing trip only to have it spoiled because there was no bait? That's typical fisherman's luck. All right, but the "no bait" part of this story has a simple remedy.

An ordinary wash tub filled with the proper soil and buried in the ground should yield plenty of fishworms, say wildlife management specialists at VPI. The tub or other bed should rise three or four inches above ground level. Fifty to 100 worms are enough to start a tub-sized worm bed. English red-worms or "red wigglers" are preferred by most pole-and-cork experts.

A fine clay loam containing lots of humus or well decomposed organic matter is ideal. Locate the bed in the shade and moisten with water every week or two, or more often during the summer if needed.

To provide needed drainage cut a two-inch hole in the bottom of the container and cover it with a patch of fine copper screen wire. Don't distribute the worms too often. Two such tubs will allow the use of worms from one while the other is left undisturbed.

As for food, worms feed on the soil from which they digest organic matter, both animal and vegetable. The leaves of celery, cabbage, lettuce, turnips, and other vegetables are readily taken by the worms when small amounts are worked into the topsoil. A mixture of one part kitchen fat and two or three part of corn meal also makes an excellent ration.

Very wide selection of mouldings to frame your treasured photographs, paintings and certificates.

SLIME MOLD APPEARS IN VIRGINIA LAWNS

A fungus growth on lawns is causing widespread concern to Virginia home owners these days, reports S. B. Fenne, plant pathologist at VPI.

Frequent showers have aggravated the condition, which shows up first as white spots on the lawn. The spots are sometimes only 4 to 8 inches in diameter, scattered on a part of the lawn, giving an outward appearance of white paint that has been splattered around. Later, this spot turns dark brown and when disturbed, ask, smelly appearing spores shoot out in the air.

The fungus causing slime mold grows on a decaying vegetable matter in the soil. During periods of high humidity the fungus will grow up through the soil along the stems and may at times completely cover the stems and leave in lawns and other wet locations. The fungus is not parasitic and does not damage other than sometimes smothering the leaves. If there is an exceptionally heavy covering of slime mold on the grass it may give the leaves a brown appearance.

Control measures for slime mold are not advised, since the disease will disappear during normal weather.

Modern Dairymen Cannot Do As King Augeas Did

Look back at the days of King Augeas if you're toying with the idea of skidding the job of cleaning out the dairy barn occasionally, suggest dairy specialists at VPI.

King Augeas had 3,000 oxen, but he didn't clean out the stables for 30 years. He had a tremendous problem in cleaning up that barn, according to Greek mythology, turned the job over to Hercules. Hercules cleaned up the mess in one day by diverting the river Alpheus through the stables.

Modern dairymen can't do that, but they should remember that a clean barn is necessary for health of cattle and production of clean milk, the dairy specialists say.

Research Reported at Va. Truck Experiment Station

Combinations Help Crops

Vegetable growers in eastern Virginia who have had trouble getting satisfactory stands in spring plantings of certain crops will be interested in some research reported at the Virginia Truck Experiment Station at Norfolk.

Dr. R. N. Hofmaster, associate entomologist, and T. J. Nugent, associate plant pathologist, report success is the use of insecticide-fungicide seed treatments for control of seedcorn maggot and seed decay organisms. Stand failure, particularly of snap beans, lima beans, and sweet corn, is often caused by seed decay caused by the various seed rot organisms, destruction or injury of the seed by the seed-corn maggot and other soil insects, and influence of weather and improper cultural practices.

The researchers have conducted extensive tests to determine the best insecticide-fungicide combination for use in the eastern Virginia area. Much of the earlier work in seed treatments consisted of separate applications of insecticides or fungicides. These treatments were not always satisfactory. However, when the insecticides and fungicides were combined, the results improved markedly.

Mason of Lynchburg; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Frestone of Troutville, Va.; and Lt. Col. and Mrs. George B. Church of Tampa, Fla.

The Major of Emporia The Honorable W. H. Ligon and his family are vacationing at the Beach, this week and are the guests of THE ESSEX-HOUSE.

Findings of the study:

Short storage periods of three or four months in commercial seed storage had no detrimental effects on treated seeds either in regard to seed injury or subsequent control of seed-corn maggots or seed decay organisms, provided storage temperatures were not extremely high.

The poor response to insecticide treatments when used alone was not due to failure to control insects, but to increased seed rot. The addition of a fungicide corrects this tendency to decay.

Soil and weather conditions at the time of planting has a definite effect on the results obtained. This emphasized the fact that any treatment should be widely tested before being recommended for a given crop in a given area. For instance, it seems that there are certain conditions in eastern Virginia under which lindane treated seed is subject to injury or fails to give the proper response. The poor response from lindane was associated with dry, and soils low in organic matter and was more pronounced when soil temperatures were high.

Storage periods of as long as a year showed that most of the insecticides under study lost their effectiveness for maggot control. Dieldrin was an exception. High temperatures, especially when associated with high moisture content of the seed, tend to reduce the vigor of most seed.

Specific recommendations and directions for seed treatment of lima beans, snap beans and sweet corn are available from the Virginia Truck Station, Norfolk.

Ideas for the Modern Homemaker

By Mrs. Elizabeth D. Deal
County Home Agent

The walls of any room are an important part of your decorative scheme. Mrs. Ruth Jamieson, home economist at VPI, says the color, pattern and design of the wall should depend on the room, its use and other furnishings.

The wall may be papered, covered with plywood in a wood veneer, paneled in knotty pine, or painted. Some homemakers like a combination of wallpaper and paint, or natural finishes and paint.

Most people prefer paint. Now available are paints that dry quickly, spread easily, and are more attractive in color than ever before. Select the fabrics or wallpaper you will use and key the paint for walls and woodwork to it.

Miss Jamieson has some specific suggestions for the home owner who is planning to redecorate.

Make any structural changes you want done before redecorating.

Decorate the walls to enhance your furnishings. Match the wall color to the source of inspiration for developing your color scheme. Carry out the same general color throughout the house.

Light or medium-color walls are easier to live with than extremely dark walls, unless you use light furniture and rugs and have lot of light.

Ceiling should be off white or a tint of side wall color to reflect light.

Matching woodwork and walls make the room appear large. Contrasting woodwork and walls make the room appear smaller.

A combination of paper and paint (if the paper is carefully selected) will be more decorative. Try paper in the dining room and hall, paint in the living room and bedrooms.

GOVERNOR NOT GUILTY

MOOSE LODGE STEWARD FINED $50 IN PRINCESS ANNE COURT

The steward of the Virginia Beach Moose Lodge was fined $50 and costs Monday on a charge of possessing gambling equipment.

Similar charges against Joseph F. Zegan, lodge governor, were dismissed by Princess Anne County Trial Justice J. Davis Reed Jr.

The judge imposed the fine against Luther A. Billingsley, of Rt. 1, Virginia Beach, saying: "He was the manager of the establishment. He was responsible for seeing that things were in order."

Princess Anne police visited the club Sunday, Aug. 5, and arrested the two men after finding two slot machines and a quantity of whisky and beer on the premises.

In court patrolmen D. M. Prosser and Norman C. Fisher testified that no one was operating the slot machines and that they saw no one drinking whisky.

Zegan, of the 600 block, 24th Street, Virginia Beach, was charged with possessing gambling equipment and having whisky in an establishment where food is dispensed.

Billingsley and Zegan testified that an official lodge function was in progress at the time police arrived and that food was being provided for guests by the host lodge tree of charge.

J. Peter Holland III, assistant Commonwealth's Attorney, said of Zegan: "I've known him for a long time and he has a very good reputation. I'm just sorry he was present at this time."

Zegan testified that he opposed the presence of the slot machines in the lodge, but admitted that he had been at the lodge for some time before police arrived.

Defense Attorney Robert Lee Simpson asked that charges against both men be dismissed. "There is no evidence that the defendants had anything to do with the gambling equipment or the whisky being on the premises."

The judge is located on 17th street, just outside the limits.

Chairman

Robert Lee Simpson, Virginia Beach attorney, has been elected chairman of the First District Committee of the Virginia State Bar. The election took place at a recent meeting of the group held in Newport News.

School Opens September 7th For Virginia Beach Children

Friday, September 7, is the magic date for school children of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County as that is the date set for the opening of the public schools in both the city and county, according to an announcement by Frank W. Cox, superintendent for city-county schools.

The expanding county-city school system continues to grow and Cox reported that it is estimated that some 2000 more pupils will be enrolled this year over last. If estimates are accurate it would bring the overall school enrollment to approximately 15,000 pupils.

Staffing the school system this year will be some 500 teachers and principals. This figure represents an increase of 60 persons over last year's figure.

New Carrier Launching Set For Sept. 29th

The Navy's third Forrestal class aircraft carrier, the Ranger, will be launched on September 29 at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, the Navy announced today.

Two carriers of this class, the USS Forrestal and Saratoga are already in service. Three other sister ships have been authorized.

The 1,046 foot long Ranger is equal in length to the Saratoga which joined the fleet April 14, and seven feet longer than the Forrestal which has been in service for more than 10 months.

Upon completion the Ranger will be the world's most modern aircraft carrier. Her facilities include all of the improvements built into her sister ship, the Saratoga, with major advances in her weapons handling equipment.

An all-welded aluminum elevator has been installed on the port side replacing conventional steel types used on other Forrestal class carriers. The elevator, 63 feet by 52 feet and weighing 105 tons, is the largest and heaviest all-welded aluminum structure ever built. It represents a substantial weight reduction over steel elevators.

The keel for the attack carrier was laid on August 2, 1954 and her launching, 26 months later, marks a new launching time record on Forrestal class carriers.

An unusual event in the construction of the Ranger was the use of two dry docks at Newport News. To expedite her building, work was started in a smaller dock. About four months later, when the Forrestal was launched, the partially completed hull of the Ranger was floated into the larger facility vacated by the Forrestal.

The Ranger bears the illustrious name of the first ship ever completely designed and built as an aircraft carrier. The previous carrier, USS Yorktown, was built at Newport News in 1938 during a peaceful period when it was possible to devote all the time and talent necessary for her most efficient design and construction. She was the forerunner of today's modern carrier but, two of her size could be placed on the 252-foot wide flight deck of the present Ranger.

The former Ranger had many firsts during her career. She was the first American carrier to cross the Arctic Circle and the first to reach German shipping in Norway; the first to have a jet plane land aboard. She trained more Naval aviators than any other ship with a total of 100,000 landings on her flight deck. Time finally caught up to her and she was sold for scrap in 1946.

The sponsor for the September 29th christening of the Ranger will be announced at a later date.

TIDEWATER BLOODMOBILE
Port Story personnel this week were lining up blood donors to meet a 150-unit quota of the Tidewater Red Cross Bloodmobile set for its regular visit August 24 under the sponsorship of the Princess Anne County Red Cross Chapter.

Besides the two new schools opening on September 7 a new addition at the Princess Anne Courthouse School will also be opened for the first time. The new facilities add approximately 50 classrooms to the system.

Superintendent Cox noted that children must have reached their sixth birthdays on or before October 1, 1956, and must be immunized against smallpox to be eligible for enrollment.

Local Leaders Pleased With Demo Ticket

Local Democratic leaders who attended the recent Democratic National Convention returned home last week highly enthusiastic over the National ticket. Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver, the party's nominees for president and vice-president, respectively.

Those attending the convention from Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County were Sidney S. Kellam, who served as secretary to the Virginia Delegation; Paul W. Ackiss, who was a delegate; Mayor Frank A. Dusch, an alternate delegate; and Fred A. Haycox.

Kellam had reported from Chicago during the course of the convention that he thought the Virginia Delegation would nominate Governor John S. Battle for president and cast the State's 32 votes for Battle on the first ballot. This is what did occur in the convention, itself.

Haycox, upon his return, was high in his praise of former Governor John S. Battle, whom he described as probably the greatest statesman Virginia has produced in modern times. Haycox also pointed out that the Virginia delegation, in his opinion, was well pleased with the national ticket as chosen.

Haycox expressed his personal belief that with Stevenson and Kefauver the Democratic ticket would sweep to victory in the November election, and Virginia would be in the Democratic column.

At a meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee of the City of Virginia Beach, Virginia, held on August 21, 1956, a majority of the Committee being present, the following resolution was unanimously passed:

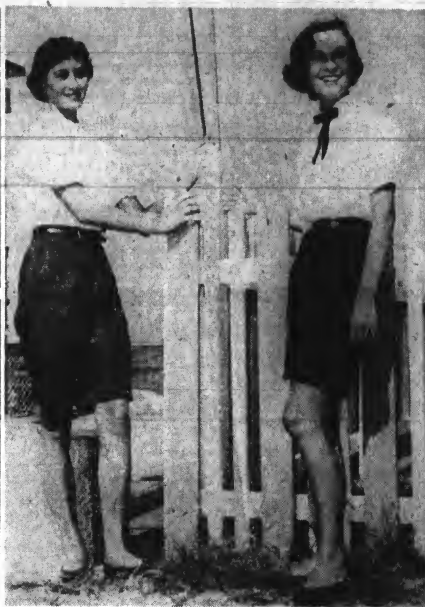

RESOLVED that this Committee does hereby heartily support, endorse and recommend to the people of our City, State and Nation, the Democratic nominees of our Party, Adlai E. Stevenson for President, and Estes Kefauver for Vice-President, and E. J. Robinson for the House of Representatives. That it is the opinion of this Committee that these nominees will efficiently and ably champion and defend the rights of all the people.

Jamaican Burros To Be Given Away As Jubilee Door Prize

Remember all the hullabaloo over Ashley Haycox bringing the mother and baby Jamaican burros back from the Virginia Cruise, remember "Golden" and "Jubilee" leading the Easter Parade in their flower decked bonnets, and the sensation they were generally as Golden Jubilee mascots since, to knowledge, they were the only Jamaican burros in the county. Meantime, they've gotten fat and sassy—the baby burro is as big as his mama and a bit of a hollion, but both of them have been devoted by many of the young and old who have visited them at the Cavalier-Beach. Now, the Golden Jubilee drive to a close and "Golden" and "Jubilee" are going to be given away at the Golden Jubilee Ball as door prizes. You might be the lucky owner of an honest-to-goodness Jamaican burro—what will you do with him—can think of lots of things but that's up to you. We'll wager one thing, you'll never win anything more unique.

Council Moves To Control Fund Drives By Community Groups

Move Afoot To Change Corner Move

A move to change the name of Chinese Corner to Codd's corner, in recognition of Elias Codd, the owner of extensive property at the intersection, is gaining some strength in Princess Anne County.

Brace Challen, area director of U.S. Savings Bonds sales is credited with conceiving the idea which is now being supported by numerous friends of Codd. Codd sold $3.5 million worth of war bonds over the counter of his delicatessen store during World War II.

Codd acquired some seven acres of land at the northwestern intersection of the Virginia Beach boulevard and Route 647 in the early 1920's, and has held it intact in the intervening years.

Just how the corner got its name is not on record, but the story is prior to World War I when little traffic used the crossroads in that area.

North of the boulevard, Route 647 is known as Witch Duck Road.

The Oceana Lions Club, in an effort to beat the recent heat wave, had its members attend in walking shorts.

Nearly every member did, and those who did not were assessed the traditional 10-cent fine.

Among those who did wear shorts, Bob Braithwaite was judged the most bowlegged, Frank Malbon, the best dressed; Marshall Bowen, the wearer of the loudest shorts, and Andy Branch, the possessor of the most hairy legs. Each received a prize.

On the more serious side of the meeting, William H. Newsome of Chesapeake Beach, spoke on fishing and wildlife.

The meeting was held at Ciola's Restaurant.

Governing Body To Get Economic Data

The Virginia Beach City Council at its regular meeting last Monday passed an ordinance that will require the acquisition of a permit for solicitation of funds for charitable purposes by religious, fraternal, civic and other organizations.

The ordinance is welcome news to beleaguered merchants and business houses in Virginia Beach since the list of solicitations by various groups has been growing from year to year. Council did not place a fee on the permit but violation will bring a $50 fine or 30 days in jail.

Council also approved a move to bring economic survey data up to date in the face of an annexation effort being made by residents of North Virginia Beach.

In other action Council approved the city's share of funds for improvement of Pacific Avenue as a main artery and approved rezoning of portions of 30th Street for business.

On the survey for information about the city's fiscal affairs, in view of the efforts of North Virginia Beach residents to be taken into the city, Council made it clear that that body "appears to be in favor" of the annexation move.

CASE PENDING

The North Virginia Beach residents, sparked by the local civic league last year, petitioned the court to be taken into the city proper. A three-judge tribunal threw the petition out at court on the ground that it came up before the statutory time requirement had elapsed but on appeal the State Supreme Court sent the case back to be heard on its merits. Time for the hearing has not yet been decided.

The Council passed an ordinance which will require a permit for solicitation of funds for charitable purposes by religious, fraternal, civic or other organizations. A permit will be required for any across-the-board solicitations, but with no fee required for the permit. Violations will bring a $50 fine or 30 days in jail.

PACIFIC AVENUE

The Council went on record as approving 25 per cent of construction and right of way costs and 50 per cent of costs for planning and engineering for the improvement of Pacific Ave. from 17th St. to 44th St. The resolution will be sent to the Virginia Highway Department which will facilitate obtaining federal and state funds for the project. City Manager W. Russell Hatchett said the project should be started in the "very near future."

The Council approved rezoning of four lots on the north side of 30th St. over some opposition.

Frank Atkinson, resort real estate dealer, pointed out that Virginia Beach now has 900 lots zoned for business, a third of which are undeveloped, and that there are 22 vacant stores at present available for business. Atkinson concluded that the beach actually does not need new business properties. Council, however, voted to approve the zoning as recommended by the planning commission.

SHORT OF QUOTA

Sponsors of a Bloodmobile visit here Monday fell just two points short of a 100-point quota set for the visit. Red Cross officials disclosed today that 98 points of blood were donated from noon to 6 p.m. Monday.

A Camera Goes to Camp

It's the time parent that makes sure Junior is equipped with a simple camera along with all the gear required by the camp management when he takes off for a stint of outdoor living. Going to camp is a big event in his life, and both you and the camper will be glad to have snapshots for remembrance. In most camps the youngsters are happy to take turns behind the camera and counselors are most cooperative. Suggest to your camper that he make a deal with another one so that they will shoot picture stories of each other's camp activities. It won't take much time, and he can proudly show his pictures to his friends when he

Just don't make the youngster afraid of using the camera for fear he'll do something he shouldn't. Considering the magic they produce, cameras are pretty rugged and take an amazing amount of punishment. But, the dry, cool, and clean treatment is important.

Personal Mention

Miss Ruth Mullins, of Wise, Va., recently crowned Queen of the Wise County pageant, during the commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the county, and Miss Iona Wharton, also of Wise, who was second choice, have arrived at the Martha Washington Hotel, where they will spend a week. They are under the royal protection of the Lord Chamberlain J. Wesley Gardner, the General Manager.

This is the young ladies' first glimpse of the Atlantic Ocean. During their stay they intend to visit several of the historic spots such as Cape Henry light house, Williamsburg, Yorktown and of course, Jamestown. "Although I never viewed the ocean before, I must try a hand at deep sea fishing, and stand behind the wheel of a speed boat. I must not go back home without a nautical thrill—and a fresh-water one at that."

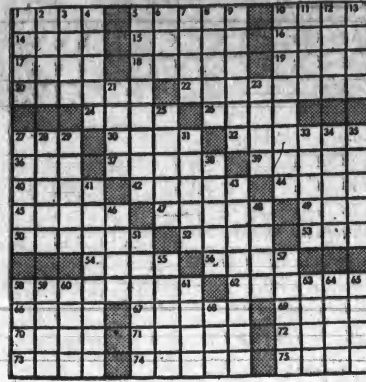

Miss Mullins is a senior in the J. J. Kelly high school, Wise, and Miss Wharton is attending the Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg. At the coronation ceremony Queen Ruth was crowned by State Senator M. M. Long, of St. Pauls. The trip is being financed by the Norton Area Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Nellie Lininger of Tarkio, Miss, arrived by plane Tuesday to visit her daughter Mrs. C. E. Gardner, 2303 Pacific Ave.

Miss Alma Virginia White of Lynnhaven, and Virginia Beach, Va. and Miss Martha Carol Cartwright of Camden, N. C. are spending two weeks with Miss White's Sister and brother-in-law Staff Sgt. and Mrs. Thomas C. Warren and their small son Chuck in Little Rock, Ark.

The Navy is conducting experiments on "flying submarines." The experimental model is just 7 feet in diameter and the controls are said to be handled under water almost exactly like those of an airplane in flight.

School Days Are Here Again

School days are here again and local school authorities are expecting an increase of some 2000 pupils over the number that attended Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach City school last year. That figure would bring the total enrollment to a whopping 15,000. And the end is not in sight.

With the ever increasing number of youngsters seeking their educational foundation it is a constant race to keep school construction as close in line with population growth as is humanly possible. Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County school systems have done a remarkable job in this regard.

But, beyond the race of construction versus pupil increase is the need for additional teachers. This is probably the toughest problem of them all. However, the local school system has increased its staff by some 60 persons since last year and for the present, at least, the situation seems well in hand.

Problems such as school construction, teacher procurement, and the like belong to school authorities and parents. The immediate problem facing county and city youngsters is the one that spells a curtailment in their playtime and getting down to the serious task of securing a first rate education.

Still the youngsters have a few days left of the summer vacation since school does not open until Friday, September 7. Meanwhile, there is much activity about the school buildings preparing for the September influx of eager youngsters getting back into the educational grind.

Adlai And Estes

The Democratic Party at its convention in Chicago came out of its minor family differences with a strong national ticket to challenge the Republicans in November. And, in nominating Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver for president and vice-president, respectively, the Democrats concluded their meeting on a strong note of unity which should hold them in good stead in November.

It would appear that the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket is the strongest possible team that the Democrats could have selected. The convention delegates were confronted with choosing a national ticket from among several strong combinations of leading members of their party. We believe the final selection of Stevenson and Kefauver was the best choice, not only for the Democratic Party, but for the Nation as well.

The Democrats were blessed with a number of leaders who would have made fine candidates for either the first or second spot on the ticket. However, party members throughout the country now have the strongest Democratic ticket in recent years and two candidates who deserve and who should receive the full support of Democrats everywhere.

Holidays on Mondays

The movement to shift our non-religious holidays around so they will fall on Monday is gathering considerable headway. This scheme of the National Association of Travel Organizations would give us five long week-ends every year.

Since Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays are variously observed, these would be merged and called "President's Day," which would fall on the third Monday in February. The last Monday in May would always be Memorial Day. The Fourth of July would not be the fourth very often, since it would inflexibly be the first Monday in that month. Thanksgiving (shades of the Pilgrim Fathers!) would also be on Monday, the fourth one in November. Labor Day, of course, would require no juggling.

Swallowing our respect for tradition, this sounds pretty exciting. Practically everyone who has to meet a payroll is all for it. But still, could the human animal stand it — on top of the five-day week?

Do You Remember?

By The Old Timer

(From the Virginia Beach Weekly of August 7, 1925)

WHITE WAY PLANS MAKE PROGRESS

Progress is being made on the plans of Virginia Beach's White way, and J. H. Cofer who is handling the plans announces that he expects next week to see the arrangements definitely put through to successful completion.

Headed that his own proposal was in favor of formation of a Virginia Beach Improvement League, which should be in corporation form, and which should handle such improvements questions as the present white way plan, the boardwalk, the much needed concrete bulkhead and other investments which would benefit the beach.

The Norfolk Southern Railway Co. has agreed to be responsible for upkeep of the lines, poles and globes for a period of three years.

The original cost of installation is to be met by a proposed assessment of $1.50 a front foot from all property fronting on the lighted area.

APARTMENT GOING UP RAPIDLY

Work on the apartment being built at 8th Street and Atlantic Boulevard is progressing rapidly, and the entire lower floor has been erected. J. Wesley Gardner, who is owner of the combined hotel and apartment has about fifty men working daily.

Mr. Gardner plans other apartments and hotels on a similar scale at various points along the beach.

Indications are that end of the boulevard towards Rudee Inlet will soon be built up and it is steadily advancing in value.

RYAN'S DEATH ATTRIBUTABLE TO SCOPES TRIAL

The Scopes case has had at least been concluded and while we regret the death of the Honorable William Jennings Bryan, we believe his death is directly attributable to the Scopes trial. Physicians will tell you that he malady from which Mr. Bryan died was very probably the result of overeating and not having proper regard for the diet upon which he lived.

LONDON BRIDGE PERSONALS

The re-construction work being done on the London Bridge Baptist Church is indeed a great improvement. The entire appearance of the church is changed; giving it an aspect of a much more expensive edifice and yet retaining the picturesque features of days long past.

FORMAL OPENING OF CAPE HENRY ROAD

Formal exercises on the opening of the road connecting Cape Henry and Virginia Beach will be held August 15 under the auspices of the Tidewater Automobile Association. Governor Trinkle is expected to speak and many other noted men will take part in the ceremonies attended on dedicating the link through the government reservation.

LAST FLING

For The Love Of Houseboats

A houseboat is built for one purpose—to be lived in. It can be a home, it can be your fishing lodge, or your hunting cabin. You can move around any time without setting your feet against roller or away under you. You have everything of the shore cabin except the crackling log fire. But to compensate for this—right outside you have fishing.

Anyone thinking about a houseboat should consider most carefully certain aspects of the waterway it will be used on. Slip up and you may have to trade it for a smaller one, or haul it to another river or lake. That can be more expensive than you think.

Make sure that the whole length of the waterway is navigable for your houseboat. And remember, river channels have ways of changing. Nonnavigable waters might have a bridge that's too low. Don't think that this isn't important since you plan to just live aboard and not move. When you find how economically and smoothly your houseboat moves and what comfort it brings along, you'll want to take water trips, insists Willard Crandall, boating editor of "Sport Afloat."

Be sure good mooring places are available. These should be sheltered, have free access to a nearby landing, and be not too far from a couple of places where the houseboat could be hauled out. If the water is navigable you may have to get permits to moor.

For all except the largest houseboats, an outboard is ideal power. It can be mounted on the craft; or the houseboat can be moved by simply putting the motor on any small boat and towing. Most houseboat owners want to keep a small outboard boat tied on, anyway.

It's a good idea to have two outboard motors, one for the houseboat and one for the small utility.

Some of the larger river houseboats take an inboard better. There's more room for it, the weight of it becomes less significant, and it adds little to the draft.

In line with the modern Navy's streamlining program, the Officer of Naval Research is experimenting with a "Flying Platform." Capable of being operated by one man, it operates by means of 2 propellers rotating in opposite directions which suck air through holes in the platform, thus supplying a downward thrust which supplies the vertical lift.

Equipped with a canted deck, the USS ANTIETAM was affectionately dubbed the "antistah" after a rumor swept the ship that a well-known reformer was investigating them. He had, so the rumor went, heard reports that "a bunch of sailors were running around the Caribbean with a crooked deck."

Miss Strawhand Marries John

The marriage of Miss Sally May Strawhand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Strawhand of Norfolk, to John Charles Straton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Charles Straton of Warwick, N. Y., took place Saturday at 4 P.M., at the First Baptist Church, Virginia Beach.

Dr. W. H. Bond performed the ceremony. The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of white peau de soie, finished with picture neckline formed by Alencon lace embroidered in antique, long sleeves and a bouffant skirt with pinnies trimmed in pearl embroidered lace medallions ending in a chapel train. Her finger ring was arranged from a lace clock and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses centered with a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Miss Bruce Ritchie of Richmond was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Martha Bragg, of Norfolk, Mrs. T. L. Strawhand III, of Cheshertown, Md., and Miss Carol C. Straton, sister of the bridegroom, of Warwick, N. Y. They wore ballerina length gowns of amber taffeta, with star neckline, elbow length sleeves and bouffant skirts. Their headresses were clocks of amber taffeta. They carried bouquets of Maye chrysanthemums and amber yellow daisy chrysanthemums.

F. Sanford Straton, of Warwick was best man for his brother. Dr. Troy H. Hutchinson of Charlottesville, George O. Jackson of Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Donald J. Kenney of McDonald, Pa., and Capt. T. L. Strawhand III, brother of the bride, of Cheshertown, were groomsmen.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Cavalier. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Straton left for a Southern wedding trip, and upon their return they will reside in Ridgewood, N.J.

Varmints Always In Season

Over most of the land the tag end of summer is a time when outdoors activity slows to a crawl. Nevertheless, there are creatures of the wild who must fill their stomachs regardless of the time of year. Among them are land vermin—woodchuck, coyotes, gophers, bobcats, foxes, wolves, and mountain lions, to mention but a few.

These varmints afford shooting for the hunter at a time when there would be no shooting without them. And some hunters become so engrossed in them that they don't bother with regular game for their hunting.

A special 24-page section in the August issue of "Sports Afield" magazine deals exclusively with these animals and the pre-season hunting opportunities for them. Among the features in the heavily illustrated section is a state by state guide to varmint hunting; a simple, easy-to-read chart showing at a glance the laws and regulations of each state; a special article on the types of guns suitable for varmint hunting; an article on varmint gins and traps; and five pages of hunting tips on how to make the most of hunting these varmints.

The USS BENNINGTON has installed a new system of carrier aircraft landings using a reflector light, which is highly visible and can be seen much farther than the Landing Signal Officer by day or by night.

On Setting Up Your Tent...

Setting up your tent, can be a time-consuming and awkward job as well as a puzzle unless you have the know-how. Col. Townsend Whelen, an associate editor of Sports Afield, probably has as much knowledge on this subject as any man in the country. Here are a few suggestions from him:

Select a site that is smooth, level and in an attractive position. Not under any dead limbs that might fall. If you are going to sleep on the ground, not in coils, a slight slope toward the door is not objectionable, but avoid other slopes. Clear the ground so it is smooth, free from rocks and sticks.

Most articles on tents say that they should be pitched to keep the floor inside dry. But ditching is seldom necessary in the woods and wilderness where the ground is quite porous. In a heavy rain, a little mound of pine needles, leaves, or dirt scraped up against the bottom of the tent outside, with perhaps a small ditch where a shallow gully might cause water to run inside, will usually be all that is necessary.

If you erect a tent hastily a several-inch tent floor will automatically be smooth. But such a floor is not always desirable, except perhaps in a public camp-ground where the ground is liable to be smooth and not too clean.

National Little League News

Monday, August 13, saw the opening of the final week of Little League play in Virginia Beach. The starter saw the Little Giants successfully take on the Methodist Pipers in a well fought 2 o 1 game. Both teams realized that a win would help them in the final league standing whereas a loss would seriously endanger them, enabling each to drop down to make an undesirable tie at the next lower level. Regardless of the outcome both teams must be commended for their splendid batting and fielding. The first two innings were scoreless. In the third the Little Giants scored with Tillet stealing home. Turn about being fair play Terrell (Piper) took a two and two count then smashed it over the fence for his first homer of the season. No men were on base; thus the score became 1 all. In the top of the sixth Moss got on first making the first hit given up by Bonny, who was pitching for the Pipers. Sanderlin came to bat after Moss had moved around. Thus with a single Moss was driven home. The Pipers came to bat, behind by one run. With the tying run on second Coppedge, who had struck out for the first time this season in the earlier part of the game, came to bat. Reasonably enough the Allen boys instructed Butler, the fine winning pitcher, to "pitch out" to Coppedge. Tarkenton batted last for the Pipers to conclude the game, as he valiantly tried to out run his hit to the short stop. Butler was the winning pitcher for the Little Giants. Bonny was the losing pitcher although he maintained a better record, having a 2 o 1 hit game going into the sixth when he gave up only two. The Little Giants out-played the Pipers merely by having their heads up. On three occasions the Pipers had potential scorers on base, but were caught napping as they were picked off the bases by the alert Giants.

The second game on Monday was certainly equally as exciting as the first. The league leading Thunderbirds, ahead by only one game, knew they had to win or possibly face being overthrown. The J. C. Hawks had their own goal. At present being on the bottom of the league a win for them could easily mean a tie for third place or even the possibility of holding third alone. Each team had much to gain by winning and much to lose in defeat. It was a nip and tuck game right to the end when the Thunderbirds put in Thomas to prevent trying runners from getting on base. After the Thunderbirds got one run in the first resulting from an error on the part of the Hawks the J. C. Hawks retaliated in the second by grabbing three runs. This was shown lived for the Thunderbirds made three also in the bottom of the third, to bring the score to 4-3, favor Thunderbirds. The Thunderbirds again moved ahead on two runs in the fourth on an opportune home run by the Thunderbird backbone, Mike Thomas. They also scored one in each of the two succeeding innings. The J. C. Hawks were able to capitalize in the fifth on a home run by Barney, singles by Alphin and Mr. Garvey and two walks given up by Bentley. They netted 4 runs to bring the score to the tie mark at 7 all. Going into the top of the sixth the Thunderbirds realized that in order to win they would have to prohibit any scores by the J. C. Hawks and would have to score once themselves in the bottom half. Thomas was brought in to bring the Thunderbirds over this hurdle. This he did in fine style as he retired the J. C. Hawks, 1, 2, 3. Jones led off in the bottom of the final inning and managed to score as Bentley walked three batters. Thus the game ended with a score of 8-7, favor Thunderbirds.

In the third and final National League game of last week the Thunderbirds played host to the Methodist Pipers. The scheduled fourth game (final game of the year), between the Little Giants and the J. C. Hawks, was postponed to make way for the Folk Festival. The Pipers came to bat first to face Hurst, who was replaced later by Thomas. On three singles they were able only to obtain a one point lead. Doody and Horton pitched for the Pipers in the fifth inning, both having difficulty finding the plate. The Thunderbirds volted to a splendid gain in this inning; acquiring 7 runs. The Pipers narrowed the Thunderbird lead considerably in the second when they got five points Terrell was credited for his second home run of the season bringing in Atwood also. The Thunderbirds scored once in the second, but did their best offensively in the fourth and fifth innings. In the fourth they made 5 runs on 3 walks and 3 hits to further their lead substantially. In the fifth they made three more on four walks and two singles. The Pipers made comparatively minor gains of 2 runs in the fourth and sixth innings, taking advantage of two Thunderbird errors to make these gains. Thomas was the winning pitcher, Horton the loser. The Thunderbirds certainly proved their ability to "play ball" and must be saluted as the undisputed National League champions of Virginia Beach.

Postoffice Department Announces Changes

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced today that the Post Office Department plans to make an important change in postal regulations to provide new convenience for patrons mailing packages.

Patrons would no longer be required to mark on the parcels the words: "may be opened for postal inspection."

The change would apply to sealed fourth class or parcel post packages, and sealed third class parcels (those containing merchandise and weighing less than 8 ounces).

This "may be opened" endorsement never has been necessary for parcels sent by the higher first-class postage rate, and hence this planned endorsement change does not affect such parcels in any way.

The Post Office Department expects to put the change on the third and fourth class parcels in effect later this year, probably in early fall, in time to give patrons the extra convenience in time for Christmas mailing this year.

However, it will not become final until postal patrons have had a chance to express their views on it. Patrons wishing to submit views to the Post Office Department on this matter may do so by addressing them to Assistant Postmaster General Norman R. Abrams, Bureau of Post Office Operations, Post Office Department, Washington 25, D. C. until September 15.

The proposed change will be "one of the most significant eliminations of red tape" in mailing practices involving parcels in several decades, Mr. Summerfield predicted.

Since 1921 postal patrons have been required by postal regulations when sending a parcel post or third class mail package sealed (most such packages have been sealed in recent years) to place the "may be opened" inscription on the package.

Until 1953, when the requirement was modified by the present postal administration, this notation or endorsement had to be printed. The 1953 revision, one of a number of simplifications provided for the mailing public, made it possible to put this notation on in handwriting, handstamping, or by any other legible method.

Even with this change, however, it has been felt there was still room for improvement. Mr. Summerfield explained. Accordingly, the Post Office Department Solicitor, after study of the matter, said he felt the requirement could be eliminated entirely.

The Solicitor has indicated, Mr. Summerfield said, that by mailing a sealed parcel at the third or fourth class rate of postage the sender has given his implicit authorization that the parcel may be opened for inspection, if necessary, in accordance with law.

If he does not wish the parcel to be subject to such inspection, he may mail it first class and mark it as such. First class parcels, subject to the higher first class postage rate, are not subject to inspection except under certain rigorous prescribed legal procedures.

In addition to providing extra convenience and ease for those who mail packages, the change will be important for patrons receiving parcels, Mr. Summerfield noted.

For example, the regulation will prevent postage-due collections from addressees on third and fourth class parcels which have been sent sealed by the sender and which do not bear the may-be-opened endorsement.

In such instances, under present regulations, the collection of additional postage must be made from the recipient of the package.

Such postage-due collections have increased in recent years because there are many instances in which it is not clear whether the package is sealed.

For example, some mailers may attach a small bit of cellophane tape at the ends of the wrapper, merely to hold it together, and without any intention to "seal" it, although in the post office in which delivery is made it is considered "sealed."

Use of this type of tape and other adhesive packaging materi-

Virginia Travel Council Eyes More Business

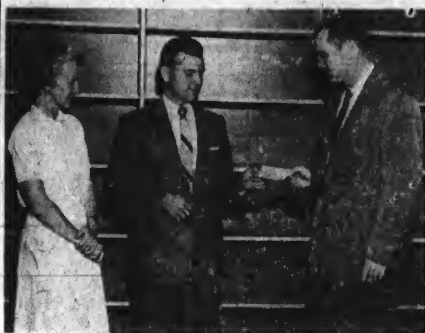

With the recent revival of Historyland Highways Association, Virginia's Northern Neck is a stepping stone to capture a substantial slice of the Old Dominion's flourishing six hundred million dollar travel industry. Through the Association, headed by acting president L. E. Westmoreland of Montross, now committees are being formed in counties which have no existing agency to cooperate with established Chambers of Commerce in the area to attract travel business, according to the Virginia Travel Council.

Tidewater Virginia also plans to share in this travel meadow, with both areas looking forward to 1957 when the bridge over the Rappahannock River is slated for completion, thus linking two historic portions of Virginia. Hundreds of Colonists from Tidewater crossed over the Rappahannock in the early sixteenth century, and moved up a narrow, green peninsula called the Northern Neck. These founding families contributed leaders in government to both Virginia and the nation.

Reports reaching the Council from this combined area indicate an increased awareness of citizens of the necessity to provide complete travel facilities for the visitor. A wide choice of accommodations to suit every need is planned, many on purely a local co-operative basis, as the localities become conscious of this need in order to attract an ever increasing stream of travel dollars.

Mrs. Julian Gilkeson, Executive Assistant to the Managing Director of the Virginia Travel Council, has been on loan to the Historyland Highways Association this week, assisting Mr. Westmoreland on this project.

The Navy is conducting experiments on "flying submarines." The experimental model is just 7 feet in diameter and the controls are said to be handled under water almost exactly like those of an airplane in flight.

Library Gets Funds

Pictured above in front of the empty library shelves at the Linkhorn Park school are, from left to right, Mrs. Richard Berquist, Chairman of the library committee, and Cmdr. Royce Daniels, Treasurer of the P.T.A. handing over a check for $400.00 to Mr. Willard Fendleton, Principal of the school. This represents the proceeds from the spaghetti dinner given in March to be used to purchase books for those empty shelves. The new library will also have a librarian in the fall.

Mrs. Newton Added To Dancing Staff

Mrs. Roy M. Newton has become associated with the Martha Carr School of Dancing. It has been announced by Mrs. Stewart Huddleston (Martha Carr).

Mrs. Huddleston has just returned to Virginia Beach from New York City where she received the gold seal award for the fourth successive year.

Mrs. Huddleston studied with the National Association of Dance and Affiliated Artists.

Along The BEACH FRONT

by Betty Murden

Again this week the conversation around the Beach is mostly about conventions and politics. However, this week the Republicans hold the limelight that the Democrats held last week. The guests at the Beach that are making a lot of the convention are both Democrats and Republicans and come from all parts of the country.

LIFE MAGAZINE, the week of August 20th, carried a very interesting article entitled "The Camera Eye vs. Dr. Cook". It is the story of an attempt to clear the name of Dr. Frederick Cook who claimed he climbed to the summit of Mt. McKinley in 1906. One of the most important persons in the article is Dr. Co.'s daughter Mrs. Helen Cook Vetter. Following the events this summer that led to the story Mrs. Vetter came to the Beach for vacation and rest which she is enjoying at THE MARSHALLS HOTEL. She is accompanied by her husband. Other vacationers at the Marshalls include Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pidgeon, Mr. and Mrs. Steve McLaughlin, Jr. and their daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crump, Jr., all of Memphis; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dudley and their child of Alexandria; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Boyer and family of Elizabeth City; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Ruthenberg of Washington, D. C.

Richmond guests at THE SEA HORSE this week include Mr. and Mrs. John C. Why people who used to buy higher priced cars are changing to Chevrolet

Sales and official registration figures show that the higher priced cars are losing more and more buyers to Chevrolet. And it isn't just because a Chevrolet costs less, either!

If you buy a higher priced car instead of a Chevrolet, what do you get in return for those extra hundreds of dollars?

More room? No, because the difference in room is usually measured in fractions of inches—often in Chevrolet's favor! Better road-ability? Not with Chevy's wedged-to-the-road stability and sure-footed cornering ability. Better performance? Well, Tom McCahill, automotive expert for Mechanix Illustrated, called Chevrolet "the greatest performance buy ever offered at any time in America!" Result: more buyers are deciding they'd rather drive a sweet-handling Chevrolet even if it didn't cost less! Wouldn't you?

Rev. George Bond Minister, First Baptist Church, Virginia Beach, Virginia
WORKING TOGETHER
Four men working together to bring a man to Jesus! Problems were in the way, but they seemed small in comparison to the power of these men to get their friend to their Lord. Paul has a marvelous figure to portray this truth. He calls it "workers together with God." It is the figure of the galley ship moved by teams of men who row in unison. Working together, great power is demonstrated as the ship goes on its way with the sweep of the oars.

Tension exists in our day because men are not working with God or with each other. A Burmese teacher speaks of this problem. There was threat of violence in the city of Rangoon, Burma. She slipped out a handkerchief and held a corner in each hand. "When I insist, I find the other person persists," she said, pulling the handkerchief taut, "and there is tension. Why do I insist, anyway? Because I want my way. Sometimes I get like that. When I don't want my way, but only the right way, where is the tension?" She let the handkerchief fall loosely between her fingers. O. what a simple philosophy an answer to conflict!

Someone has said that "together" is the most inspiring word in the English language. Coming together is beginning, keeping together is progress, thinking together is amity, working together is success. Certainly that is what these four men did.

Two County 4-H Club Members Win Trip To Electric Congress

Two 4-H Club members from Princess Anne, Margaret and Richard Grimstead will attend the annual Virginia 4-H Electric Congress in Richmond August 29-31. Accompanying the delegates will be Barnes Allen, Assistant County Agent in Princess Anne County.

Margaret and Richard are delegates to the meeting as joint winners in the county 4-H electric project competition for 1956. Four other 4-H Club members in the County will be awarded gold medals of honor for outstanding work in the 4-H electric project.

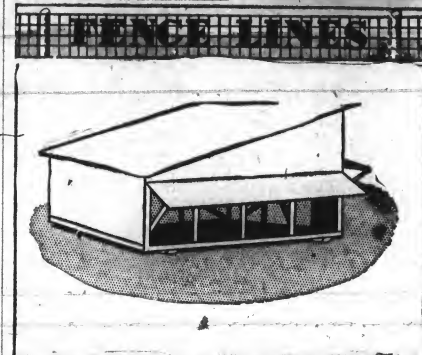

Poy and girl delegates and one Extension agent from approximately 70 counties which qualified are expected to attend the gathering at Jefferson Hotel, Virginia. The delegates will be given an opportunity to send at least one 4-H girl, one 4-H boy, and one Extension worker to the Congress each year.

The delegates will be welcomed to the Congress by L. B. Dietrick, Dean of Agriculture, V.P.I. Following Mr. Dietrick's talk, Virginia will furnish entertainment. Also, on Thursday the delegates will see electrical demonstrations by 4-H members and go on educational tours.

A number of county electrical exhibits will be displayed at the Congress. The purpose of the displays is to provide an exchange of ideas and suggestions in how to conduct successful 4-H electric projects.

Parke C. Brinkley, Virginia Commissioner of Agriculture, will be the luncheon speaker on Friday. Other highlights of the program will be an address by Ernest Edmund Church, Portsmouth, Virginia, and the presentation of awards to state and district winners. The State winner will be awarded an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago and the 12 winners from the six Extension districts will be awarded 19-jewel watches.

Va. Farmers Place 9100 Acres Of Crops Under Acreage Reserve

Virginia farmers will earn about $960.00 for placing over 9100 acres of their 1956 allotment crops under the Acreage Reserve program of the Soil Bank. W. T. Powers, Administrative Officer, for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, stated that this acreage is broken down among the eligible allotments crops.

Over one-third of the amount to be cured by farmers will be in the form of payments for taking tobacco out of production. Subsidized payments will amount to about $232,000.

There was some participation in the Acreage Reserve program was most popular in the tobacco area of Central Virginia and the commercial corn area of southeastern Virginia. A total of 3,103 Agreements were signed in Virginia. July 27 was the final date for signing agreements with ASC for placing of 1956 allotments in the Acreage Reserve.

Powers explained that the primary reason for the Acreage Reserve part of the Soil Bank program is to reduce production of crops now in surplus.

Payments to eligible farmers for participating in the Acreage Reserve. Equipped with a canted deck, the USS ANTIETAM was affectionately dubbed the "anti-etam" after a rumor went the ship that a well-known reformer was investigating them. He had, so the rumor went, heard reports that "a bunch of sailors were running around the Caribbean with a crooked deck."

High Yielding Pasture Is Most Economical Feed

A high yielding pasture with the required mixtures of adapted grasses and legumes, ample fertility and proper grazing management is the most economical livestock feed, says J. F. Shoups, Associate Extension Agronomist of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute Extension Service.

"The seeding of adapted mixtures, using proven cultural practices in the seeding operation is the most rapid method of pasture improvement. Pasture seeded now will be ready for grazing next spring," continues Shoups.

"A mixture of orchardgrass, ladino clover and either alfalfa or red clover is one of the most productive and widely adapted mixtures in Virginia. This mixture is also good silage mixture. The alfalfa or red clover in the mixture will increase the first year yield. Seed at the rate of 5 to 12 pounds of orchardgrass, 1 to 2 pounds of ladino, and 5-8 pounds of alfalfa or 2 to 3 pounds of red clover per acre. Alfalfa should be used only on soils adapted to alfalfa production and having a pH of 6.5 or above. Red clover should be used on soils not suited for alfalfa.

"Tall fescue seeded at the rate of 6 to 12 pounds per acre, ladino clover at 1 to 2 pounds and red clover at 1 to 2 pounds is an excellent mixture for poorly drained soils, or for shallow droughty soils. Tall fescue is well adapted over a variety of soil conditions. Tall fescue is also well suited for late fall grazing.

"In seeding either of the above mixtures there are several practices which increase your chance for a successful and productive mixture. The first of these is lime. Pastures are most productive at a pH of between 6.0 and 6.5. If lime is needed apply it and disc it thoroughly into the soil.

"Adequate fertility is necessary for rapid seedling establishment as well as a productive pasture. The seeding operation provides an excellent time to work fertilizer thoroughly into the seedbed. It is well to apply 800 to 1,000 pounds per acre of a 2-12-12 fertilizer or the equivalent and disc it deeply and evenly into the soil during seedbed preparation.

"Prepare a firm, compact seedbed. Avoid seeding on a loose, poorly prepared seedbed. Many stands are lost because of a poorly prepared seedbed.

"Always inoculate legume seeds just prior to seeding. The legumes will be your most economical source of nitrogen if good nodulation is established.

"Seed at the proper time for your acre of the state. It is best to seed following a good rain when there is adequate moisture in the soil to keep the young seedlings growing.

The MIXING BOWL..

IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK

It's Fun To Cook! It Really Is!

How many pecks of pickled peppers did Peter Piper pick? Not a single one, of course. Some man dreamed that one up. Every woman knows that pickles and pickling have always belonged strictly to Mrs. P. Piper's department.

Pickling used to be a pretty trying August ordeal when it involved long hot hours in the kitchen, turning out jar after jar after jar. But no longer, now that gas and electricity have taken the heat out of cookstoves and the modern Mrs. Piper has learned to take the easy, relaxed way of brewing a few — not more than a dozen or so jars at a time.

Spicing is a simple matter, too, thanks to the blend called mixed pickling spice. This mixture of peppercorns, tiny red peppers, whole allspice, mustard seed, bits of cinnamon bark, whole cloves, cracked ginger, mace and several other whole spices makes for good flavored pickles every time. There are usually about 14 different, fragrant spices in mixed pickling spice. They are carefully selected, proportioned and machine-mixed so that even the novice spice cook is assured of a perfect spice flavor bouquet with a mere dip of the measuring spoon.

From this same spice mixture it is possible to concoct a wide variety of delicious relishes, chutneys, pickled fruits and vegetables. In Fruited Chili Relish, mixed pickling spice makes the unusual ones, tomatoes and red peppers a combination of pears, apples, onion, delightful adventure for the plate. In Green and Red Pepper Relish it adds an exotic difference. It also blends the tangy and tangy ingredients of Apple and Pear Chutney into a wonderful, savory surprise package.

The American Spice Trade Association suggests the following ways to use mixed pickling spice to bring excitement to your table the year around.

FRUITED CHILI RELISH
2 quarts (4 pounds) chopped peeled ripe tomatoes
2 cups chopped unpeeled pears
1½ cups chopped unpeeled apples

APPLE AND PEAR BUTTERY

1 tablespoon whole mixed pickling spice
1 tablespoon celery seed

tes. Remove spice bag. Fill hot, sterilized jars to overflowing. Seal at once.
YIELD: 10 pints.

Here's my favorite watermelon rind pickle recipe. Just because you have a nice thick watermelon rind and very firm. Come winter-time, you'll be very proud to serve these pickles to your family and friends. By the way a jar of these make a perfect remembrance at Christmas time. Here it is — WATERMELON RIND PICKLE

Soak overnight: about 10 lbs. of peeled watermelon rind cut in pieces the size you want in cold water in which you have dissolved 1 pkg. Lilly's Lime Powder (about ½ ounce).

Drain and wash — over salted water and let come to boil and boil ten (10) minutes.

Now wash thoroughly. Cover with cold water, let come to a full rolling boil and boil 10 minutes. Drain thoroughly.

7½ lbs. sugar
½ pkg. Pickling Spice (tied in cheesecloth bag.)

Drop Watermelon rind in syrup. Cook until tender. Pack at once in jars, cover with syrup, seal and store.

Here are some spring suggestions.
SPICY BEEF STEW
Tie a teaspoon of Mixed Pickling Spice in a bag when boiling beef for a stew. When the meat is done, remove the bag. The delicious flavor will remain in the meat.
SPICED JELLIED SOUP
Heat a can of jellied consommé just to the boiling point. Add a cheese cloth bag of Mixed Pickling Spice. Simmer gently for five minutes. Remove spices. Pour into cups and chill until firm. A tempting starter for a hot summer meal!

SPICY TONGUE
When boiling tongue add a tablespoon of Mixed Pickling Spice to the water in which it is boiled — for a delicious flavor. Bye! Now —

Postoffice

als in this manner has been increasing, accentuating the problem.

"With nearly one billion parcels handled annually by the Post Office Department, the bulk of them at the third and fourth class rate, it can be seen that the planned change would make an important difference for mailers," Mr. Summerfield said.

"The effect, any parcel may be mailed sealed now without labels, notations, endorsements and similar red tape referring to the opening of such parcels. If the patron wishes the package not to be subjected to inspection, he merely sends it first class, preferably making it as 'first class mail'."

The Common Glory Is History Lesson

Although the main purpose of "The Common Glory" is to entertain, Paul Grech's symphonic drama of the founding of the American nation has been a summertime history lesson to more than 750,000 people.

Spectacularly successful since its beginning, the outdoor production has been progressively more warmly received each season, until now it is generally considered as a national institution. Now in its 10th season, "The Common Glory" is being presented nightly except Mondays at the Matoaka Lake Amphitheatre in Williamsburg.

At the recommissioning ceremonies for the USS BON HOMME RICHARD, her Commanding Officer had this to say about this mighty ship: "It is hard to believe, but true, that our ship with her air group has a striking power greater than the entire U. S. fleet in 1945."

Multi - Million Dollar Resort Being Planned For Corolla, N. C.

One of the most luxurious and probably most unique estate in eastern North Carolina soon will become the focal point of a thriving multi-million dollar resort city being planned for Corolla, N. C.

It's most distinguishing characteristics is a handsome, four-story home of English design—known today as The Whalehead Club—located in the center of 2,000 acres of beach fronting five miles on the Atlantic Ocean and five miles on Currituck Sound. The builder was the late Edward C. Knight, retired Detroit architect, and retired Pennsylvania Railroad executive, who designed and personally supervised its construction about 30 years ago, after purchasing the vast property because of its solitude.

With a beauty matched only in the past by its inaccessibility, few people have known of the mansion's existence although it is located near the famed Currituck Lighthouse, a coastal landmark since 1875.

Built in the grand manner that typified the high spending era of the middle twenties, the home contains 18 bedrooms and 12 baths, a large dining room and huge living room the entire length of the house with fine mahogany dominating the decorative scheme and all floors covered with marble. In addition, the estate mansion has elevators, two furnaces and two power plants. The entire roof is covered with copper sheeting and plumbing is of copper and bronze.

A water system condenses ocean water into fresh water and the swimming pool accommodates about 75 persons.

Situated on a beautiful lagoon that leads into the ocean is a craft. Also, there is a 12-room caretakers lodge.

The property was purchased in 1938 by Ray T. Adams, prominent Washington (D. C.) businessman and the mansion today is known as The Whalehead Club, a corporation.

Local Boy Plays Leading Role On Stage Here

Anthony LaGiglia, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. LaGiglia of Lake Shore Drive, Virginia Beach, is currently playing one of the leading roles—the part of Bibi—in Lesley Savage's Theatre-Go-Round production of "The Happy Time", a comedy which will play through Sunday, August 26th.

Anthony is no newcomer to the stage, having appeared with Miss Savage's group in several plays before, including "Angel with the Big Big Ears", "Time of the Cuckoo", "King of Hearts", and "Anniversary Waltz". He is a member of the Virginia Beach Little Theatre and last winter appeared in their production of "Father of the Bride".

Anthony was born in Norfolk and arrived in Virginia Beach three weeks later. He has lived here ever since and currently attends the Virginia Beach High School. He has always had an interest in the theatre and hopes some day to become a professional in that field.

"The Happy Time" is a gay comedy about an adolescent boy growing up and his first love. Bibi's young girl friend will be played by the daughter of Jack Russell, singer, and Paulette Goddard, actress.

USAR CAMP FINALS

Ideas for the Modern Homemaker

By Mrs. Elizabeth D. Deal
County Home Agent

One of the Specialists on their Virginia Extension Staff attended the Textile Industry Seminar held at Wilmington, Delaware and has shared the things which she has learned there with us. Trends in Furniture are as follows:

For style American, Italian, and French Provincial designs were seen in furniture for today's living. Scandinavian is also being noticed in bulky, modern furniture in light color is wanted. Wrought-iron has hit its peak and is losing its popularity. In design the emphasis is on simple, beautiful lines, open arm chairs, narrow armed upholstered chairs and sofas as contrasted with a former bulky look. Textured fabric coverings are durable and pleasant to live with, are used as upholstery materials. In woods at this Seminar, cherry was in the lead, birch holding its own with mahogany and walnut not as much in demand as usual. There was some use of wicker furniture for indoors and bamboo, which is most versatile, since it can be used both indoors and outdoors.

For finish on these woods, the majority showed oil old lacquer. The dark varnished stain has simply vanished as mahogany and traditional furniture is used in a natural color with oil finish which gives it a natural rather than a shiny look. The bleached and limed stains are not as popular. Maple is being stained naturally to blend with walnut and cherry. Often a lacquered piece is used to accent a color note. This appears to be still good. Table tops are designed for easy care and some of the materials used are plastic, marble, slate, and serpentine stone.

Another change also noted was in the decoration of our walls. But first of all let me say that oak walls are no longer in vogue. The leading colors shown were oyster white, pearl gray, pinkish gray, beige, natural, and pale gold. The modern trend of hanging pictures in groups has proved hard to keep clean, as well as to keep adjusted so that they hang straight. So now the trend seems to be fewer pictures on one wall and the new East influence is being felt in the use of wall scrolls, plants, tables, and table accessories.

Lamp are used in groupings with the same trends prevailing as that in the furniture which seems an obvious choice. One change noted in that floor lamps are shorter being 49" from bottom of shade to the floor. Table lamps 16" from bottom of shade to top of end table or 15" from the bottom of shade to the top of desk. Here, I think we do not want to lose sight of the distance recommended in our booklet on better light.

There are many accessories, of course, which are used in our modern day living which is for informal living. We no longer use the prissy little dollies and other small dust catchers which we did formerly, but that does not mean that we do not use accessories to help in the decorating scheme.

In choosing these, whether they are wood, metal, ceramics, and plastics whether for lamps, bowls, ash trays waste-paper baskets, etc. A new trend on beauty of shade and texture is being felt. Naturally, this follows the new feeling of texture in upholstered coverings.

These though for the same feeling in accessories.

Trends in Carpeting. Carpets are now made of all fibers, some are more useful because of the fact that they may be dyed better. Some of course, are moth resistant, some shed water and in selecting a fiber I would be careful to find out what would do and what it would not do and then choose the one that coincided with my needs.

Trends in Curtain and Drapery Fabric. In this area, as well as in the other two, the use of texture for interest in seemingly. Florals, especially large designs, are being fast replaced by draperies, rugs and upholstery covering but materials with interesting and unusual textures. Drapery fabrics are like rug fabrics of all of the man made fibers in that they are being made of all the man made fibers. One caution if you are planning to buy marquisette curtains made of dacron and that is to look for the quality tag giving the trend, color, which should be not less than 52 by 34 per square inch. You also might be interested in the care of these man made fibers in using for curtains. First of all the water temperature should be around 100, not too hot. Soft water and soap are suggested rather than the use of detergent. Fold the curtains when putting them in the water rather than just crumpling them. Do not let them get too soiled because these fibers are weak when wet as they must be adjusted for a long period of time to remove the soil. If they have been discolored by soil dye remover may help to restore them to their original whiteness or soaking overnight in a perborate solution. This is a soft type of bleach and if the bottle you are considering buying does not say on it that it is a perborate bleach it probably is a chlorine bleach. This is very destructive for the man made fibers. We are seeing a great deal more names referring to shrinkage control and in types of materials are using methods to control shrinkage. For instance, in table linens are made from materials which have shrinkage control. Some curtains have been changed so that they will resist mildew, shrinkage, and sunlight. A new process is being developed called bulking which will substantially change the texture and feeling of some of these fibers to make them easily to care for.

The only suggestion which I can give when you are trying to decide on purchasing garments or other items made from these new fibers is that you read the label carefully and buy from a reliable store. Be sure to save the label and when you go to laundry the item, go exactly by the instructions. This will prevent loss of money, as well as temper.

SO DOES SNACK BAR

On the same area, PX officials opened a new snack bar. August 15. Free refreshments were served during the first hour and almost 200 men attended the opening. According to Givens, the two new facilities serve an area about a thousand men.

SHIRT FABRICS STUDIES

The way a fabric is made may have much to do with its wearing comfort especially in warm weather was reported. After studying 15 fabrics which were selected at retail as typical of those used for men's shirts or women's blouses. This was part of cooperative research to compare cotton with the newer fibers for shirt fabrics. Used for study were two cotton fabrics, one rayon, two blends of cotton and synthetic, and the rest of various synthetics. The fabrics were all of medium to good quality and looked similar generally. Only close examination showed important differences in weave.

The comfort of a shirt or blouse may depend considerably on whether the fabric is porous enough to permit air to move freely through it, the researchers report. Fabrics made from fibers that don't absorb moisture, such as some of the new synthetics, need to be constructed so that air may circulate through. Otherwise, moisture on the skin will not evaporate and the wearer will be uncomfortable.

For cotton or rayon fabric an open weave is not essential because these fabrics absorb moisture which the movement of air on the outside of the garment can evaporate.

For comfort in warm weather the fabrics which got the nod of the researchers were the all-cotton, the all-rayon and the cotton-synthetic blends because, porous or not, they offered comfort because they absorb moisture. Two most porous of the 15 fabrics studied were an "open type" lengthwise rib weave and a basket weave of dacron. Four other shirt fabrics which were neither porous nor absorbent were rated low from summer comfort.

CHLORDANE AGAINST ANT HILLS

Getting rid of ant hills in the lawn is a problem to many homeowners. One effective way to prevent turf damage and to clear the yard of these unsightly nests is by applying chlordane.

Cover each ant hill and several inches of ground surrounding it with a 5- or 6-percent chlordane dust or with 3-percent chlordane granules. Then, soak with water to drive the insecticide into the ground and down into the nests. Or apply a 0-25-percent chlordane spray to the lawn with a sprinkling can or garden sprayer. Buy a 50 percent chlordane powder at a garden supply store and mix 2 tablespoonsful of the powder with 1 gallon of water. Chlordane emulsifiable concentrates, which vary in percentage of chlordane, may also be purchased for making the 0-25-percent spray.

Never use an oil-base spray in the lawn or garden because these sprays injure grass, plants, shrubs or trees.

Chlordane (in spray or powder form) is a poison. Keep it out of reach of children or pets. Do not permit children and pets on the grass until the insecticide has been washed into the soil by sprinkling and the grass has dried.

Fort Story PX Branch Reopens

A branch of the Fort Story post exchange situated to serve a troop area about a mile and a half from the main store was reopened in new quarters here August 14.

Closed since last October, the branch now has greater storage space, more lighting and generally better facilities according to PX officer Chief Warrant Officer Darwin Givens. He said the new branch will carry twice the stock and variety of the old one.

Colonel George E. Woods, Jr., Fort Story Commander, cut the ribbon in the brief opening ceremony. Private Donald Joe Slover, 18, of Madison, Wis., presently assigned in the 38th Missile Battalion at Fort Story, made the first purchase from Mrs. Mary Jenkins, 22102 Mediterranean Ave., Virginia Beach, sales clerk.

SO DOES SNACK BAR

On the same area, PX officials opened a new snack bar. August 15. Free refreshments were served during the first hour and almost 200 men attended the opening. According to Givens, the two new facilities serve an area about a thousand men.

In line with the modern Navy's streamlining program, the Officer of Naval Research is experimenting with a "Flying Platform." Capable of being operated by one man, it operates by means of 2 propellers rotating in opposite directions which suck air through holes in the platform, thus supplying a downward thrust which supplies them vertical lift.

Virginians Receive High Benefits

Virginia families received $20,556.00 in life insurance death benefits in the first half of 1956, compared with $20,482,000 in the corresponding period of last year. It is reported by the Institute of Life Insurance. This year's payments were 86 percent greater than those in the corresponding period ten years ago, when six-month total was $11,108,000.

The number of policies paid off in this state because of death in the first six months of 1956 was 21,001 which compared with 19,525 in the first half of 1955 and 14,828 in the first half of 1946.

"The rise in death benefit payments in the past ten years directly reflects the greatly increased holdings of life insurance by American families since the end of World War II," Holgar J. Johnson, president of the Institute, said in announcing the figures. "Death benefits paid in the first half of this year throughout the country were 83 percent greater than in the corresponding period of 1946, the first post-war year, even though mortality among policy-holders generally appears to be near the record low rate, materially below the 1946 rate. Aggregate ownership of life insurance in this country has risen 145 percent in the past ten years."

Of the aggregate death benefit payments in this state during the first half of this year, $11,423,000 was under 4,063 ordinary policies; $5,566,000 was under 1,957 group life insurance certificates; and $3,729,000 was under 14,981 industrial policies.

For the nation as a whole, $1,208,936,000 was paid as death benefits under 892,733 policies in the first half of 1956, compared with $1,112,665,000 under 834,255 policies in the corresponding period of last year and $659,000 under 671,561 policies in the first six months of 1946. Of this year's payments $732,692,000 was under $10,000 was under 136,735 group certificates, and $144,728,000 was under 494,157 industrial policies.

SOFTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP TO 347TH

The 347th Amphibious Truck Company scored up the post softball championship last week by winning two straight from the 461st Amphibious Truck Company in a best two-out-of-three-game series.

The first tournament game Monday (August 13) was deadlocked at the end of eight innings when rain halted play.

The 347th romped to an 8 to 1 win when the first game was replayed the following day.

On Wednesday Sergeant First Class Gerald E. Besette, who had pitched Monday and Tuesday, shut out the 461st, 7 to 0. Besette helped his own case in the final game by hitting a two-run homer in the third inning. He drove in two more runs in the fourth with a triple.

The combined 3rd AAA Group—Fort Story 1000s—cannoneers wound up their first week of practice last Friday with coaches practicing a heavy, fast-charging line and a speedy backfield when the Cannoneer season begins September 15.

The schedule includes nine games with outer service installations. Home games will be played in the nearby Virginia Beach High School stadium.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT NEARS END

Dr. (Capt.) John N. Sims and Warrant Officer Freeman H. Buteau were to meet in one round of the post tennis tournament finals last Friday.

Second Lieutenant David A. Pyle and Karl L. Shank were to oppose each other in a parallel round. The winners of each match will play in the Transportation Training Command tournament at Fort Eustis.

Buteau drew a bye in the semifinal round. Pyle defeated Major Thomas S. Williamson, 6-0, 6-1. Sims defeated First Lieutenant Leonard J. Burke, 10-8, 6-4, and Shank defeated First Lieutenant Gary Meredith, 6-4, 6-2.

Volleyball Starts August 27

The post volleyball tournament, originally scheduled to begin August 20, will not begin until August 27. The announcement was made by Sergeant Frank Cecil, non-commissioned officer in charge of athletics.

Cecil said six teams would play in the tournament, and that the winning team would compete in the Transportation Training Command Volleyball Tournament at Fort Eustis, October 8 - 12.

SUPERDUCK TESTS

Amphibious vehicles experts at Fort Story with an airborne field artillery battery from Fort Bragg,

N. C. wound up the first phase of tests of the Army's new Superduck August 18.

The new vehicle has been described as an "improved version" of the versatile DUKW amphibious truck of World War II fame. The Superduck is slightly larger than the DUKW with a considerably larger cargo compartment.

Field Artillery Battery B of the 82nd Airborne Division supported Fort Story amphibious vehicle troops in tests to determine the Superduck's ability to transport 105 millimeter howitzers on land and water.

This test phase, first in a series which the Army plans to conduct, began August 13. A spokesman at Fort Story over a four-month period said the Army's aim is to find out how much the Superduck can carry and how fast it can travel loaded and empty on solid ground and open sea.

Other questions the tests should also answer are how well the new amphibious vehicle can climb over obstacles like sand dunes and how maneuverable it is in and out of the ocean.

The Superduck was developed by the Army Ordnance Corps and has already been tested by that service. Tests at this Army Transportation Corps post—scene of almost of the Army's amphibious truck training—are being directed by the Transportation Board.

SOLDIERS NOW SALKING

Fort Story medical men have inoculated against Polio more than 300 young soldiers and their dependents since Spring of this year, the post surgeon's announced August 17.

Beginning in June soldiers here were able for the first time to receive the Salk vaccine. Only those 19 and under qualify.

Meanwhile the majority of the vaccine was administered to soldiers' children between the ages three months and 19 years and to expectant mothers.

According to non-commissioned-officer-in-charge of the dispensary, Sergeant First Class David M. Rogers, some 10 to 14 shots a day, three times a week, are still being administered. Rogers said the program is expected to continue at this rate as long as the shots are requested and needed.

Cancer Hints Should Be Made Known To Everyone

"What you don't know won't hurt you," says the old adage. But for many Americans it may mean death.

The American Cancer Society says knowledge of cancer is a person's first defense against that disease.

To help give people this protection, the Society conducts an exhaustive cancer education program.

Open film showings and lectures are offered. Literature is distributed. Radio, television, and the press co-operate in disseminating life-saving information about cancer, the importance of meaning of the seven danger signals.

1. Any sore that does not heal.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. Any change in a wart or mole.
5. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
6. Persistent hoarseness or cough.
7. Any change in normal bowel habits.

These signals do not necessarily mean cancer. The appearance of any one of them should always call for a visit to a doctor.

Harry Hult, prominent Chicago artist, decided to go to a doctor after reading an ACS pamphlet on the seven danger signals.

Knowledge Can Save a Life
An early cancer was detected. That was 14 years ago. He has been well and active ever since. He works eight hours a day as an art director for a large advertising firm.

Mrs. Franklin Johnson of Elbow Lake, Minnesota, joined the ACS as a volunteer to help save lives. Attending a training school in 1950, she saw the film, "Breast Self-Examination," which shows how women can examine their breasts for lumps. She heeded the advice, found a lump, and received successful treatment.

Another volunteer, Mrs. Beulah Root, of Panther Creek, Idaho, saw the film at a training school. She told her mother, who tried the method according to instructions. The mother found a lump. Of course, it could have been something else. But to be sure, she went to a doctor. Here was one of the smallest cancers ever removed at the hospital where she was treated.

The death rate for cancer of the cervix declined ten per cent in the last decade. That reduction has been attributed to the fact that more women know about cancer and more are doing something about it than ever before.

What you know about cancer can save your life.

HATS OFF...

to the Man Who Wears this Hat!

This nation remains free by electing to office men and women who manage its affairs — tens of thousands of them, from village constables to the President of the United States. They are our elected representatives.

But before we can have elected representatives, we have to have candidates. We have to have people willing to toss their hats in the ring.

Suppose there should suddenly become a "shortage" of candidates?

Suppose competent men and women should simply decide, as most of us do, to "let George do it"?

It's not easy to run for office, you know. It wears the body, tires the mind, and bruises human feelings. It rips away the privacy most of us enjoy in our lives, and puts a man under a glaring spotlight. It takes time, and it costs money. Defeat frequently leaves a scar. Victory is a triumph, but it's the beginning of a hard grind, too, and one which often gives far less reward than could be earned in private business.

Under The American Way, there is a never-ending need for public officials with intelligence, integrity and devotion to duty. That's what the people seek in a candidate... and why. So long as candidates with integrity come before us, with an honest desire to be of service, those candidates are deserving of the highest respect and support.

This year, when the last vote is counted, may the best man win — hats off to every honest and honorable man who puts his hat in the ring!

Rotarians Win City - County Little League Championship

The Virginia Beach Rotarians, champion of the city's little league, came from behind last Saturday night to down the Princess Anne Motor Company Hoopists of the county league to wrap up the first annual county-city little league championship. The score was 6 to 4.

The Rotarians won the best two out of three games from their county rivals after dropping the first contest of the series. The Rotarians captured the American Little League flag during the regular season and were declared city champions when the National League winners were unable to play.

After losing the initial game of the series by a score of 8 to 2, the ultimate champs came on strong to capture the second contest by a score of 2 to 1.

In the final game last Saturday the score was tied at four-all after the regulation Little League six innings. The champs came on to score two runs in the sixth to capture the county-city title.

The losing Hoopists outbit the champs in the final game but too many bays on balls spelled the difference. Jan White and Charlie scored the final two markers for the winners.

The champion Rotarians were managed this year by William Pincam and Ted Larson. The team had finished last a year ago.

Norfolk Gets Portion Of County Area

The City of Norfolk has been awarded a portion of Princess Anne County in its annexation suit, according to an announcement released late Wednesday by the three-judge tribunal that heard the case more than a month ago.

While no official announcement was made as to the exact lines of the new city-county division it was learned that much of the present fringe area was awarded to the city.

Some of the areas that will become a part of Norfolk City are East Ocean View, Camelia Shores, Roosevelt Gardens, Davis' Corner, Thomas' Corner, Glenock, Hollywood, the city Airport and the city farm.

Remaining in Princess Anne County will be the Little Creek Ferry property at Little Creek, Diamond Springs, Chesapeake Beach, and Robbins Corner, among other areas.

In the educational picture the City of Norfolk will take over the Little Creek School and two elementary schools now under construction in that general area.

The Bayside and Skilton Park schools and the Princess Anne High School at Thalia will remain in Princess Anne County.

The final ruling will be issued on October 19. The three judges who heard the proceedings and issued the ruling were Princess Anne Circuit Court Judge Floyd E. Kellam, Judge Lyttleton Waddill of Charlottesville, and Judge Elliott Marshall, of Front Royal.

Fishing Rodeo Jubilee Event

In the Jubilee's series of events which have exhibited the recreational, cultural and entertainment aspects of Virginia Beach, the fishing rodeo will be highly significant. It will point up the diversified and exceptional fishing waters of this resort.

The Fishing Rodeo is being sponsored by The Tidewater Anglers Club whose team won the Ocean City Cup awards in the recent East Coast contest sponsored by the National Association of Surf Angling Clubs. The rodeo area designated is from Lynnhaven Inlet to the North Carolina-Virginia line and southeast to Off Shore Reef.

In the Fresh Water Division first and second prizes will be given for the largest bass and bream. First and second prizes will be given in the Salt Water Division for the largest spot, croaker, roundhead, sea trout (grey or spotted), flounder and channel bass caught according to the rules and regulations and entered at an official weighing station.

The official weighing stations for the Fresh Water entries are Snell's Boat House (Pungo Ferry Road), Mercer's Place (Highway 165, North Landing Bridge), Lovitt's Boat House (Highway 627, Back Bay, Va.) and Murden's Gunning Club (Highway 659, North Bay, Va.). Official weighing stations for the Salt Water Division are: Williams Steel Pier, Virginia Beach Fishing Pier, Lynnhaven Inlet Fishing Pier, Poole's Fishing Center, and Long Creek Marina. All surf casting entries must have been witnessed.

The Rules and Regulations for The Fishing Rodeo will be posted and procurable at The Sportsman Shop and Northrup's in Norfolk — at Emrie's, Beau Sporting Goods and Meredith's at Virginia Beach. Entry blanks will be available at Official Weighing Stations.

The Rodeo officially opens at 6:00 A.M. on September 3rd and officially closes at noon on September 9th. The prizes will be awarded at 5:30 P.M. September 9th at 25th and Ocean front, Virginia Beach.

The General Chairman of The Fishing Rodeo is Claude Rogers. Charles Foy is co-chairman and the committee men are Luther Crockett, Maurice Davenport and Vernon Stevens.

There are an even one hundred counties in the Commonwealth of Virginia.

Prizes At Tonight's Jubilee Ball

The two Jamaican burros shown above will be given away tonight at the Golden Jubilee Ball at the Beach Surf Club. The gentleman in the center is not one of the prizes. He is E. Ashley Haycock, co-chairman of the Golden Jubilee program, and until this evening the proud owner of "Golden" and "Jubilee", the burros.

Golden Jubilee Ball To Be Held Tonight At The Surf Club

The Golden Jubilee Ball feting the resort's anniversary will be spiced with a variety of attractions ranging from the entertainment of a South Pacific Revue to door prizes of lively Jamaican burros, the mascots of The Golden Jubilee.

The burros kicked up considerable press back in February when they were brought into the country from Kingston, Jamaica by a Golden Jubilee Chairman, Ashley Haycock. Refused admittance at the Norfolk port, they were carried on to New York on Highland American Lines "Maasdam" to clear quarantine specifications there — after which they were brought to Virginia Beach as mascots of the Jubilee.

In these ensuing months the mother burro "Golden" and baby burro "Jubilee" have enjoyed a pampered existence and much fun fare at The Cavalier Stables. They've made many personal appearances at various Jubilee events including The Easter Boardwalk Parade. Thursday night they'll make their last personal appearance for the Jubilee at The Golden Jubilee Ball where they'll acquire new owners (doubtless some apartment dwellers will hold the lucky stubs).

The Golden Jubilee Ball will be open to the public prevailing Surf Club tariff and is being sponsored by all the civic clubs of Virginia Beach. Tickets may be purchased at The City Hall and Chamber of Commerce at Va. Beach or at the door of the Surf Club. The dance starts at 9:00 P.M. August 30th. The burros will be given away at midnight. Winner must be present.

Going from burros to beauties — a quartet of queens will reign at the ball. Three of the local Virginia Beach-Jubilee Queens: Bess Melvin, Audra Stark, and Sandra Briggs will be presented by Mayor Dusch who will introduce the occasion's honorary queen, Patricia Gallagher, Edicott New York's Golden Jubilee Queen or "Golden Girl" as they title her. The Queens will be seated at a table with city, service, and Jubilee dignitaries in front of the orchestra which happens to be Hawaiian.

Playing at The Surf Club will be Johnny Pineapple's Orchestra and his South Pacific Revue. A society band straight from an eighteen month engagement at the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

County Against Moving Village Homes To Area

Houses now being dismantled in Broad Creek Village cannot be erected in this county.

That warning has been issued county property owners by F. Mason Gamage, the county's planning director.

Gamage said Edward Williams, the county's building inspector, has already turned down a number of requests for building permits to erect the houses in the county. Many of these people had already purchased the homes, he said.

The homes are demountable and prefabricated and thus violate the building restrictions of all areas of the county. That was given as a reason for the permit denial.

"The homes have already served their usefulness as dwellings or else the government, would not be dismantling them," Gamage added.

"The Planning Commission does not want to extend sub-standard housing into the county."

Residents To Help Children's Home Soc.

Opportunities for residents of Princess Anne County to be a part of the program of the Children's Home Society of Virginia will be emphasized next month by Mrs. Henry S. Lewis and a host of others in this section interested in this state-wide adoption agency, the largest in Virginia.

Mrs. Lewis has been named chairman of the work in Princess Anne County. Her committee will conduct the drive for funds Sept. 17 - 30.

Mrs. Lewis has named seven district chairmen. Mrs. O. L. Smith, of Hickory, is heading the work in the Blackwater District; Mrs. W. Stuart Rowley, in the Kempville District; Mrs. J. E. Clayton Davis, of Lynnhaven, and Mrs. J. H. Costenbader, Jr., also of Lynnhaven, in the Lynnhaven District; Mrs. Lloyd A. Murden, of Pleasant Ridge, in the Pungo District; Mrs. James W. Buffington, of Princess Anne, in the Seaboard District; and Mrs. A. P. Randolph, of Virginia Beach, in the Virginia Beach Area.

In addition to the above district chairmen, Mrs. W. W. Johnson, of Kempville, is also helping as a member of the Kempville Committee.

Sponsors for the work of the Children's Home Society of Virginia in this area include: Rev. Henry C. Burton, Jr., Mrs. G. Bentley Byrd, Mrs. Richard M. Cooke, Mrs. Charles D. Dean, Mrs. Floyd H. Dormire, Mrs. Ralph Gifford, Mrs. Alfred L. Nicholson, and Mrs. F. S. Royster, Jr.

In emphasizing the work of the Society, Mrs. Lewis said that "it is for the benefit of babies whose own parents, because of various circumstances, have had to give them up permanently, and these babies come to the Society in real need of help."

"I am sure the people of our County," she added, "will give generously to this work since this organization has meant so much to the needy children in the state."

It was pointed out that a contribution of $35 will pay a baby's board for one month; $10 will provide all the clothing a baby in the care of the Society will need until it is placed in a permanent home.

Even $2 will care for a baby for one day, including food, shelter, clothing, medicine, and doctor's expenses.

Since the incorporation in 1900, the Children's Home Society has taken into care thousands of Virginia babies. These children, whose own parents could not provide for them, have found homes and love through the work of the Society.

The Society is supported by voluntary gifts made to chairmen and their workers in the annual campaign for funds. Gifts from the general public will bring satisfaction of knowing that the giver has helped to provide a baby a chance for a happy childhood and a useful life.

Natl Guard Unit Wins Top Honors

The Virginia Beach Unit, Battery C of the 107th Brigade of the 615th AAA (90 mm.) Battalion of the Virginia National Guard which has just returned home from summer camp at Fort Miles, Delaware, won top honors in firing score rating during the two-week encampment.

Battery C, commanded by Capt. Leon A. Crump, received the highest firing score rating of any gun battery in the entire 107th Brigade.

The 615 AAA (90 mm.) Battalion of the Virginia National Guard returned to South Norfolk yesterday. There were 437 enlisted men and 29 officers from this area at the camp.

Lt. Col. Clarence E. Forchard, battalion commander, said, "The men worked hard. It was the best summer encampment I've ever attended."

He said the various units of the battalion won four superior ratings, three excellent ratings, one very satisfactory rating and one satisfactory rating.

The 615th received its outstanding battalion award during Virginia Day exercises Friday morning, at which time units of the 107th Brigade, 224th AAA group and the 129th anti-aircraft battalion marched in review of top National Guard and civilian officials.

Lt. Col. Forchard received the award for his battalion. Brig. Gen. Shepherd Crump, Adjutant General of Virginia, participated in the ceremonies.

Members of the 615th Battalion are from Norfolk, Portsmouth, South Norfolk, Virginia Beach, Cradock and Smithfield. Meetings are held Mondays at 8 p.m. The battalion is presently about 50 men short of its quota.

An on-site battalion, it maintains full-time personnel to man the various sites 24 hours a day, seven days a week to keep them in combat readiness at all times.

Booster Tickets Will Go on Sale

Virginia Beach High School Boosters Club tickets will go on sale September 1st. With prospects for an outstanding team and a fine schedule of seven home games, school officials expect this year's sale of season tickets to set an all time record. Members of last year's Boosters Club will receive two tickets through the mail, a self addressed and stamped envelope will be enclosed for the convenience of members sending in checks and request for other tickets.

All football fans who purchase season tickets will have their names included in the Booster Club Section of the football programs.

The tickets will sell for seven dollars ($7.00) and seats will be reserved between the forty and fifty yard lines for everyone who buys a season ticket. The first home game is with the Deep Creek "Hornets" on September 14th.

The complete schedule of home games on the season ticket are as follows: Sept. 14th, Deep Creek; Oct. 5th, Quantico; Oct. 12th, Suffolk; Oct. 19th, Smithfield; Oct. 26th, Petersburg; Nov. 2nd, York; Nov. 16th, Princess Anne.

The High School Athletic Department is making a special appeal to supporters and outstanding citizens of the community. There are many fine citizens who have supported the "Seahawks" in the past, but have not been a member of the "Booster Club." If anyone, who does not receive tickets through the mail, would like to purchase a season ticket they can call the school (2950) and have their names added to the mailing list.

Cokes Champs Babe Ruth L'gue

The Coca-Cola Cokes are the Babe Ruth League Champions as a result of their 12-4 victory over the Everetts-Kingdom Yanks last Wednesday night.

The Cokes, who were the first half champions and then fought back in the second half to create a three way tie for second half honors, automatically became League Champions when they won two games in a Round Robin playoff to declare a second half winner.

Mel Fronenberg went the route for the Cokes, pitching a neat five hitter and registering his fourth win against one defeat for the season. He got stronger as time went on and struck out Bobby Harler and Harry Wallace in the last inning to end the game.

Wayne Morgan, the Yank's fireballer, pitched perfect ball for the first two stanzas but got in hot water after two were out in the third. The Cokes went on to score four runs in the next two. Tom Supak finished up for the Yanks but didn't have his usual control.

Teddy Newton was the big gun at the plate for the winners with four for four. Buck Stanton had three for five including a triple that he tried to stretch to a homer. A good throw by Johnny Wright in left field put Stanton down at the plate.

Randy Rau led hit hitting for the Yanks with two for three.

Safe Driving Is the Answer

A call for safer driving to combat the mounting national traffic toll was sounded today as the long Labor Day weekend approached.

Sgt. C. R. Bailey, president of the local Fraternal Order of Police, which is backing a highway safety campaign, urged motorists to make the only three-day weekend of the summer a monument to safety instead of a memorial to victims of needless accidents.

"No driver can afford the luxury of being nonchalant about safety," Sgt. Bailey said. "One ignored traffic sign, one careless speeding, a moment's inattention, the effects of fatigue from long periods of non-stop driving, all make any driver a potential highway homicide."

With high horsepower cars at their command, today's motorists must keep alert, he emphasized, as he gave several rules of the road to help holiday travelers reach their destinations alive:

1. Observe speed limits, and when weather and traffic conditions warrant, reduce speed accordingly.
2. Combat fatigue and monotony by stopping regularly every two hours, get out of the car, have a cup of coffee and a light snack.
3. Don't confuse horsepower with horsepower. Be courteous and give the other fellow a chance.
4. Be sure your car is operating properly, check brakes, headlights and tires.
5. When driving at night, dim your headlights for approaching vehicles, and drive at a speed that permits stopping in the distance illuminated by the headlights.

Community Chest Decision Wise

The decision of the Board of Directors of the Virginia Beach-Princess Anne Community Chest this week to admit the Princess Anne Chapter of the American Red Cross into the Chest as a participating agency is a step in the right direction, we think.

Inclusion of the Red Cross in the local Community Chest brings on an added burden in the raising of funds, but we believe it is in the best interest of the public and will work to the advantage of our community.

With the addition of the Red Cross to the Chest along with the increased financial needs of the other agencies the overall goal to be raised this year is $60,000.

The Community Chest drive will be held as usual in late October and with the inclusion of the Red Cross it means that the public will not be called on again in March to give to the Red Cross campaign.

The merger of the Red Cross into the Community Chest here is in keeping with the City of Norfolk and it should prove satisfactory to everyone. The amount to be raised is a challenge to the workers of the Community Chest and it will mean an all-out effort to raise the necessary funds. We feel that it can be done and donors should bear in mind that a contribution to the Community Chest this year will include the Red Cross so that they will not be called upon again during the year as has been the case in the past.

Do You Remember?

By The Old Timer

(From the Virginia Beach Weekly of Aug. 7, 1925)

The "Old Timer" is very happy to have received two such nice letters. From Mrs. L. E. Gray Sr. and Mr. Daniel Anderson. Mrs. L. E. Gray writes maybe it is wrongly named. Should have been "Good Times at Virginia Beach." I think this would be a very good name. Watch next week's Old Timer Column.

Leakin Signs Plaza Hotel Contract

The Ocean Plaza Hotel, the first stepping $3,000,000 building program will be begun Oct. 1 according to New York men interested in the deal. The building will front on 17th St. and will have all modern facilities. A porch will stretch the length of the seaward side, and from roof garden on the top to bath lockers in the basement.

Council Sanctions Improvements

The regular monthly meeting of the council was held Monday night at the Town Hall. The regular business of approving current expenditures was attended to. A statement of the cost of building the new fire station was rendered and approved for payment. The total cost being $2,848,000.

Mr. James Barron appeared before the body in behalf of the Princess Anne Courts Club and property owners in the section with a plan to have water mains run through the links so that the greens might be watered during dry weather, provide water to the homes that are planned to be built adjoining the golf course. Mayor Ashburn was asked to secure estimates.

Mr. Baldwin Myers appeared before the council requesting that the city grant permission for the moving of the Norfolk and Southern railroad tracks from Atlantic Ave. between 11th Street and Rudee inlet to Holly Ave. between the same streets. Mr. Myers pointed out that this change was very important to the development of the south end of the town and that the expense of removing the tracks would be borne by land companies and individuals and no part of the cost would fall on the town.

CONGRATULATION

The people of Virginia have spoken decisively in the result of the primary. Harry Flood Byrd has been selected by such a majority that there can be no doubt that the citizens of Virginia preferred him to Senator G. Walter Mapp.

The Editor's MAIL BOX

Dear Mr. Editor:

I have just finished reading this week's copy of the Sun-News and much to my surprise and delight I find a column that is just to my liking. I refer to the "Old Timer's" but thing perhaps it is wrongly named. It should be "Good Times at Virginia Beach."

Keep up the good work and let us continue to read such refreshing talent at the one who wrote this column must have. I do hope that this person will sign his name so that we might acclaim him in person.

Mrs. L. E. Gray, Sr.
Norfolk, Virginia
Yours Very Truly,

Dear Editor:

On former occasions I would be ashamed to cry, but to contain my tears while reading the "Old Timer's Column" would be in this reader's opinion, a mild form of treason. This pioneer of the past undoubtedly realized that it is within his grasp to install a personal community guide in his readers and he has responded to the task with a sense of personal responsibility. So I say hats off to The Old Timer and let's keep on showing the Community that

Soil Bank Conservation Reserve Program Announced

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson today announced the long-term part of the Soil-Bank—the Conservation Reserve Program.

Designed to divert land regularly used for crop production to conservation uses, the Conservation Reserve provides (1) for cost-sharing assistance to farmers in making such shift and (2) for annual payments on the land put under the program.

The other phase of the Soil Bank is the Acreage Reserve, a short-term, direct attack on surpluses of wheat, corn, rice, tobacco, and peanuts. This program encourages farmers to reduce production of these "basic" crops below their farm acreage allotments through income-protecting payments for the crops that would have been produced on land placed in the Acreage Reserve. Details of this program as it applies to "winter" wheat, seeded this fall for harvest in 1957, were announced by the Department August 13. Its application to the other "basic" crops, all of which will be seeded next spring, is expected to be announced later this year.

The Conservation Reserve program will be available for 1956 to farmers who are in a position to comply with its provisions and who enter contracts with the Department on or before October 15. It also is available up to March 15, 1957, to farmers interested in contracts beginning in 1957.

Farmers interested in qualifying for this year's Conservation Reserve program should get in touch with the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee soon. Secretary Benson explained, "We are doing all we can to get program details, instructions, and contracts forth to the counties, and the committees should be prepared to explain the program and sign contracts later this month. In planning next year's operations, farmers will do well to consider how the program will benefit their farms."

"The Conservation Reserve Program provides an excellent opportunity to effect a permanent adjustment in land use throughout the country. It offers farmers income protection while making these needed adjustments. Much of our land now being used for unneeded crops could be diverted to a reserve for the future under this program. Conservation of soil and water resources now would provide us with the insurance of better productivity for future generations or time of emergency. Many acres of land now producing crops could better be devoted to trees, adding materially to our timber resources.

All farm land regularly used in the production of crops is eligible for the Conservation Reserve program except land designated for the Acreage Reserve.

To participate in the Conservation Reserve, farmers must sign contracts with Committees. Generally, the minimum acreage that will be accepted under the program is 5 acres, but it can be only 2 acres if trees are planted. Special provisions are made for small farms.

Contracts will range from 3 to 10 years, depending upon whether the land placed in the Conservation Reserve is to have cover crops established, and 10 to 15 years in

Th're Go Round Will Present Comedy Next

"Champagne Complex," a sparkling Broadway comedy by Leslie Stevens, will mark the 10th week of Lesley Savage's Theatre-Go-Round, Virginia Beach, Va. It will open on Tuesday, August 28th and play through Sunday, September 2nd, with an extra performance on Labor Day, Monday, September 3rd.

The play is about a lovely young girl who works on a magazine in New York. She is engaged to a serious and quite pompous young business executive. He adores her, in his fashion, but has a raging time smoothing relations between the carefree girl and his stuffy family—especially after that night at a champagne reception when she started to disrobe. Now he must be eternally vigilant to prevent any further embarrassing strips—for that is what she does everytime she drinks champagne. He calls on his uncle, a psychiatrist, for assistance. It seems that deep down inside, the girl does not love her stuffy fiancé; hence her champagne-complex. With Jay Warren in the role of the psychiatrist, it is easy to see why the girl finally settles for his bedside manner.

Featured in the cast will be Martha Howell, lovely young ingenue, who has been with Theatre-Go-Round for three seasons. Edna Muller directed the production and Bryan King is stage manager.

When presented on Broadway, the critics were delighted with the show. The Journal-American called it "A very funny show." The New York News called it "shimmering and delightful," and the New York Times said: "Leslie Stevens, the author, has a fresh and civilized style of his own—the dialogue is bright and funny."

The box office at Theatre-Go-Round, which is located at 16th and Atlantic, Virginia Beach, is open from 11 am to 11 pm daily and reservations may be made by phoning Virginia Beach 2730. Tickets are priced at $1.80, 2.30 and 3.45. Curtain time is 8:40 PM. The theatre is air-conditioned and there is plenty of free parking.

What do you think of... when you see a Church?

Have you looked at a church lately?

To almost everyone, the sight of a slender steeple raised to the sky evokes certain emotions—awe, perhaps, nostalgia, maybe—the sense that by not going to church lately, you've been missing something!

Next time you see a church, take a good look... and let yourself really feel what you see. If that makes you decide not only to look at the outside but also to go inside, that will be all to the good. For no matter how lovely a home you may live in, it can't compare with God's House. If you open the door, you'll find that, no matter how long you've been away, the welcome is warmer and more wonderful than you'll find anywhere else.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The MIXING BOWL..

IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food fads and foibles... for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucile Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

Here we are - with another holiday coming up. Labor Day, week-end. Folks rushing to the mountains and beaches for a last trip before school starts - for very soon after Labor Day, schools bell-ringing, and vacationing is over. September and October are beautiful months - so plan several week-end trips before Old Man Winter arrives. Camping is a wonderful wholesome family activity and one that seems to grow more popular in this country every year.

For Mom it means a special brand of cooking problems, but there's nothing very tough about them. The same basic rules apply on the trail as do at home - meals need variety, nutrition and flavor appeal. From there on it's simply a matter of choosing the types of foods that are relatively compact and light in weight. How compact and light depends on mode of travel, length of trip and size of family. If by car and or just a few days, as many fresh foods should be included as possible. Larger trips, especially where hiking or canoeing is involved, dictate more canned or concentrated items. A good trip, of course, when the trip doesn't stray too far from civilization, is to plan on buying some fresh foods from local farms.

Seasoning deserves special mention because it is often overlooked in plans for camp food. Veteran campers have learned that a wise selection of a few seasonings can do much to increase variety and add enjoyment to camp foods. In recent years, three new seasonings items have developed which are tailor-made for camping. These are the seasoning salts - garlic, onion, and celery. Not only are they compact, but they save considerable time and effort in food preparation. With the addition of some cinnamon (for breakfast), the three seasoning salts form a fine little spice kit or camping expeditions.

If you plan out each meal ahead of time, as many experienced campers do, you may also want to take certain other items from your spice shelf. It's a good idea to plan at least one special "treat" meal around some slightly different dish. The Grilled Barbecued Whole Fish recipe which follows might be an idea here. For such special dishes, you will want to add other spices to our basic camp kit. At any rate, remember the seasoning salts and pepper and cinnamon.

The American Spice Trade Association suggests these camp food ideas.

HAMBURGER - CHEESEWICHES

1 pound ground lean beef
4 slices American cheese
Onion salt to taste
Garlic salt to taste
Ground black pepper to taste
4 hamburger buns
Shape beef into 8 patties 4-inch has in diameter and 1/4-inch thick. Place a slice of cheese over each of 4 patties and covered with remaining meat. Sprinkle both sides generously with onion and garlic salt. Sprinkle lightly with ground black pepper to taste. Brown on both sides in a hot heavy skillet or over the barbecue grill. Serve in split hamburger buns.

YIELD: 4 servings.

GRILLED BARBECUE WHOLE FISH

Any variety small whole fish
*Barbecue

Clean and dress fish. Place over a grill. As fish cooks, brush with warm barbecue sauce, turning to cook both sides. Cook only until fish is flaky. Serve at once with grilled corn on the cob or boiled corn and onions.

*BARBECUE SAUCE

1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
3 tablespoons elder vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/4 teaspoon ground cayenne pepper
1 teaspoon powdered dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon red hot sauce
Combine all ingredients in a saucepan. Heat only to boiling point.
YIELD: Scant 1/4 cup.

GRILLED CORN WITH GARLIC BUTTER

Whole ears of corn
Butter or margarine
Garlic, onion, or celery salt
Ground black pepper
Strip husks down, remove the corn silks and fold husks back over the corn. Dip ears in water. Place on the grill and cook 20 minutes or until corn is tender, turning often to cook uniformly. Serve with melted butter or margarine, and garlic, onion or celery salt, and ground black pepper.

YIELD: Allow 2 ears per person.

BAKED WHOLE UNPEELED ONIONS

Small whole unpeeled onions
Melted butter or margarine
Garlic, or celery salt to taste
Ground black pepper to taste
Salt to taste

Place onions over the grill and cook until tender, about 30 minutes. When done, peel, dip in melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with garlic or celery salt, ground black pepper, and salt to taste.

Here are some suggestions from the American Spice Trade Association - for indoor living, and I'm sure you'll just love them -

FOR FLAVOR ADVENTURES

Pork or lamb chops are delicious when dashed with onion or celery salts. If you're a real flavor adventurer, you might add poultry seasoning as well.

CELERIEN EGGS

Almost any egg dish - scrambled, poached, hard-cooked or fried - takes on a lively flavor addition with a dash of celery salt.

STEPPED-UP DIPS

The flavor of such bland dips as sour cream or avocado is piquantly stepped up by the addition of garlic, onion or celery salt.

SPICED BUTTERS FOR VEGETABLES

Combine 2 tbsp. melted butter or margarine with one of the following spices:

1/4 tsp. onion powder: Serve over spinach, green beans, potatoes, carrots, corn, lima beans, or peas.
1/4 tsp. ground basil: Serve over parsnips, turnips, peas, potatoes, beets, green beans, or corn.
1/4 tsp. curry powder: Serve over carrots, potatoes, corn, celery, onion or lima beans.
1/4 tsp. ground nutmeg: Serve with carrots, snap beans, spinach, parsnips, squash, sweet potatoes, onions, or lima beans.

Area Homes are being Beautified by use of New Rock-faced Sierra Stone

HOW TO SELECT A MEMORIAL

Many people neglect one of their most important obligations—the erection of a cemetery memorial—simply because they know so little about memorials and feel unqualified to make a suitable selection.

May we suggest that you call for our free booklet "How to Select a Memorial." It pictures over 24 different memorial designs and outlines the seven things which should be taken into consideration in the selection of a memorial.

We also have dozens of memorial designs on display in our office and yards and will be happy to show you these and explain the merits of each. There is no obligation and we'll do our best to help you solve your memorial problems.

Many homes in this area will be using rock-faced SIERRA STONE for their exterior and interior, attaining a more beautiful home at a lower cost than in the days of long ago when stone used in home construction was only for wealth. Today's modern construction and methods for making this product enable the home owner to have the benefit of the beauty and permanence that real stone alone can give.

Penn. located at 1609 Monticello Ave., Norfolk, are distributors for the genuine rock-faced SIERRA STONE. This is not a cement mixture, but a product of real stone that can be applied to any surface. It is made by a scientifically compounded formula of time tested materials. Pulverized stone along with building clay, pure mineral colors and other valuable ingredients are used in the making. Complete laboratory tests were made to assure the right color for beauty and definite insulating and waterproofing value. The appearance resembles real when stone, and in many instances old time masons have been amazed at its resemblance to real stone.

Gasoline Mfgd. In Virginia

The first gasoline ever manufactured in the state of Virginia will be produced at American Oil Company's new $35,000,000 refinery here early in November, Donald J. Smith, of New York, company president, said today after a two-hour inspection of construction progress.

"My tour convinces me that we are ahead of schedule on some phases of construction of this $35,000,000 refinery," said Mr. Smith, a 64-year old chief executive who has directed the building of four complete refineries in his more than 40 years of company service. "Rigid tests of the integrated system of vessels, piping and other equipment that make up this first processing unit will get underway in October and we should be able to start producing gasoline in early November."

The unit to which Mr. Smith referred is the huge combination two-stage crude distillation and catalytic cracking unit, with its thermal polymerization and attendant treating facilities, which spreads out over nearly a city block and towers nearly 15 stories in the air. President Smith came to Yorktown on August 18, 1955—just one year and six days ago—and made controls of a power shovel to officially break ground for this first major processing unit.

Mr. Smith was accompanied to Yorktown by three other top Amoco officers, Dr. Harold R. Snow, vice president in charge of manufacturing, Thomas A. Aldridge, vice president in charge of marketing, and Roy J. Diwoy, general manager of manufacturing. The new refinery will be in full operation early in 1957, President Smith said. A second processing unit, a semi-continuous coking unit, will be put in operation in December.

... and so ends our visit with the marvelous guests who have helped make our GOLDEN JUBILEE at VIRGINIA BEACH an overwhelming success.

FORT STORY NEWS

United States Army Reserve summer training ended here August 25 as nearly 300 officers and men from nine units left for homes in Boston, Brooklyn and Jacksonville, Fla., after receiving two weeks of instruction at this Army Transportation Corps post.

The units officially concluded their training August 24 by marching in a ceremonial review. Reviewing officer was Major General Rush B. Lincoln, Jr., commanding general of the Transportation Training Command and Fort Eustis, this post's parent installation.

More than 1000 reservists from 26 units, plus 487 Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets, were trained here in a program which began last June. Training included all phases of military instruction but emphasized amphibious vehicle operations. Fort Story conducts nearly all the Army's amphibious vehicle training.

Landing craft of the 159th Boat Battalion from Fort Eustis invaded this amphibious vehicle haven August 23 to support a training exercise of Eustis' 11th Terminal Service Battalion. The exercise began the 23rd and will last until the end of the month.

During the exercises, about 600 men of the terminal service outfit will practice moving cargo from ship to shore in landing craft. Trucks from the 48th Transportation Truck Group at Fort Eustis will move cargo from the shoreline to inland cargo dumps.

This Army Transportation Corps post's "Soldier of the month" for September has been recognized before for outstanding achievements, not as a soldier, but as an athlete. Private First Class Jimmy E. Murphy, 23, held the indoor and outdoor national ice skating speed championships from 1951 to 1955. He competed in the 1952 Olympic trials.

The post's top soldier is also a bicycle racer. He describes himself as "of not much note" in what field but admits that he has won a few trophies and medals. He also admits that he was sent enough to ride in trials for the Pan-American games in 1951 and 1955.

Murphy, whose soldiering won him a three-day pass, says he doesn't plan to make a career of the Army. In fact he's scheduled for release from active duty in less than a month. Right now he is training to ride his bicycle in the Olympic trials.

The young soldier and his wife Dawn live at Virginia Beach. "I have my bike at the beach, too," said Murphy. "I go out and practice like mad whenever I can. I am a member of the post's Headquarters Company. He works for the Post Engineer Section as an architectural draftsman.

Ready For School

These youngsters are shown in front of The Waltes after getting their new school bags. They are waiting for Friday, September 1, when schools in Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County open for the fall term.

SPORTS

RANDOLPH-MACON

Some 145 freshmen are expected to begin registration here when Randolph-Macon begins its 1956-57 season September 5. Dr. H. Burnett Pennill, dean of men, said today.

Approximately 475 students, the college's largest enrollment since 1949, are expected to begin classes Monday, September 11, Dr. Pennill said. This represents an increase of 50 over last year.

For the first time since 1951 a number of Randolph-Macon students will live off campus. Arrangements have been made by college authorities to house some 35 students in Ashland homes. The college has dormitory facilities for 333 men and 43 apartments for married students. In addition, some 60-70 day students are expected to enroll for the fall semester, Dr. Pennill said.

Only four times in Randolph-Macon's 128-year history has enrollment topped 475. During a five-year period immediately following World War II, returning veterans were responsible for increases which reached a high of 605 students in 1948-49.

Dr. Pennill said well over 100 applications for admission have been turned down in an effort to keep from overtaxing college facilities.

SOIL BANK

the case of land planted to trees. Two kinds of payments are made under the Conservation Reserve program.

THEY ARE:

(a) A cost-sharing payment to assist in the establishment of soil and water Conservation practices on the land designed for the Conservation Reserve. This payment, determined by State and county ASC committees, can range up to 80 percent of such costs. It will be made only in case of contracts covering a period of at least 5 years.

(b) An annual payment on the land put in the Conservation Reserve. This will be a per acre rate multiplied by the number of acres put in the Conservation Reserve. The national average per-acre rate is $10.00, but this will vary among States and counties.

Both payments will be made for the year in which a conservation practice is first established. The annual payment will continue to be made each year the contract is in effect and contract conditions are met. Total annual payments to any producer, for any year, and with respect to all farms in which he has an interest, are limited to $5,000. Under certain conditions, this limitation may be increased by the Secretary of Agriculture. For farms on which land is entered in the Conservation Reserve, County ASC committees will establish a "farm Soil Bank base." Briefly, this "base" is the average devoted to crops, other than hay and forage, for harvest on the farm in the two years immediately prior to the signing of the Conservation Reserve Contract.
